MEXICO RECEIVES NOTE INDICATING FULL RECOGNITION

Washington Reports Message a Preliminary to Resuming Relations.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 27.—Recognition has been accorded to Mexico by the United States. The American note arrived here this afternoon.

Mexican officials admit receiving the note, but will not make it public until it is given out in Washington.

Preliminary, Says Washington.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Virtual but not actual technical recognition was accorded today to the Obregon Government in Mexico, when the State Department sent a communication to that Government through our embassy in Mexico City.

This message, it is said, will leave no doubt in the minds of President Obregon and his advisers that full and formal recognition will soon arise out of the Payne-Warren negotiations with the Mexican Commissioners.

The note dispatched today, it is learned, was one of the preliminary exchanges to the actual granting of recognition and the technical restoration of diplomatic relations.

President Coolidge told callers at the White House last Friday that he could not state the exact date of recognition, but that it would follow certain preliminary exchanges between Washington and Mexico City.

The note this afternoon received in Mexico City is declared to be the first one of these preliminary communications.

There will be a few other preliminary communications, but these will be technical rather than dealing with the essence of the question of recognition, as recognition already has been decided upon by the Coolidge Administration on recommendation of Secretary Hughes, who has approved the report made by John Barton Payne and Charles Beecher Warren, our Commissioners just returned from the Mexico City negotiations, who declared they found a basis for recognition and so recommended to Secretary Hughes.

Mexican Report Premature.

The report from Mexico City that actual recognition has been given is declared by high officials of the State Department to be premature. There is no denial in official quarters that recognition has been determined upon, but it is insisted that the actual act of recognition, which is always definite as well as formal, has not taken place.

This will come when this Government recognizes Señor Don Manuel C. Telles as Chargé d'Affaires of the Mexican Embassy in Washington, and will be accompanied by a formal recognition by the Mexican Government of George T. Summerlin as American Chargé d'Affaires in Mexico City.

There will also be formal delivery and acceptance of a note of recognition and official announcement of the fact.

Recognition comes as a result of the understanding reached informally in the exchange of views between the American and Mexican Commissioners in Mexico City, during which the position of the American Government was clearly explained and assurances respecting the attitude of the American Government were given.

The American representatives became convinced that the Obregon Government intended to measure up to the expectations of this Government in its enforcement of Mexican laws.

What this Government desired to know was the manner in which the Mexican Government intended to apply and enforce Article 27 of the Carranza Constitution of 1917, and the application that Government would give to its agrarian laws.

This Government did not care to recognize the Mexican Government if there was any doubt about Article 27 having a non-retroactive application, so far as American property rights in Mexico are concerned.

The assurances given by the Mexican Commissioners respecting the attitude of the Mexican Government convinced the American Commissioners that American properties would not be confiscated, and satisfactory assurances have also been obtained with respect to the protection of valid American rights and properties against confiscation under the agrarian laws.

Officials tonight declined to comment for publication on the note sent to Mexico City, and nothing definite could be obtained regarding its exact nature. In another quarter it was hinted late tonight that it perhaps may have been a communication of inquiry as to whether the Mexican Government would consider R. N. Creager of Texas persona grata as the next American Ambassador to that country.

There are strong indications that it is the purpose of President Coolidge to send Mr. Creager to Mexico.

Debt Taken Care Of.

Prior to the meeting of the Payne-Warren commission with Señors Ross and Ron an agreement was reached between the Mexican Foreign Minister and the International Commission of Bankers on Mexico on June 16, 1922, with respect to the external obligations of the Mexican Government held by foreign investors which, with the Mexi-

Two Transpacific Lines Bid for Shipping Board Boats

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Negotiations for the sale of Shipping Board vessels now operated on eighteen world routes were said by officials today to be progressing favorably.

The Admiral Oriental Line and the Pacific Mail, each operating Shipping Board ships to the Orient, are to discuss sale proposals with the board here during the present week. The Pacific Mail desires only to purchase the five ships it operates, but the Admiral-Oriental wants not only the ships it operates out of Seattle, but also those on the San Francisco-Orient route, and, it is understood, will not consider any proposition except for both routes.

Some hint of the approximate price the board is willing to accept for each of the Pacific Coast ships was gleaned from a statement by a high official today that $1,400,000 would not be accepted.

GERMAN HOPE SINKS; MARK 7,000,000 TO $1

Poincare's Speech and Reichsbank Statement Plunge Berlin in Gloom.

GOLD RESERVES VANISHING

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—Today witnessed another slump in German finance and German morale.

Like that American invention, the "switchback" or scenic railway, after making up-grade for the past two weeks, Germany suddenly has started on another breath-taking downward plunge, and may continue "roller-coasting" for weeks, possibly months. But the sum total of Germany's direction, like gravitation, is downward.

Today's features were:

First, Poincaré's Sunday speech scattered Germany's newly born foreign political hopes.

Secondly, the Boerse experienced a new record-breaking "catastrophe boom," stocks gaining up to 20,000,000 points.

Thirdly, the mark tobogganned to 7,000,000 to the dollar by evening.

Fourth, the Reichsbank, several days overdue, published the most disastrous weekly statement to date.

Little comment is heard on Poincaré's speech. There is little for Germans to say. Political and financial circles were painfully affected by the fact that Poincaré, in their opinion, indulged exclusively in old-style polemics and made not the slightest gesture of even conditional willingness to grasp Stresemann's olive branch, and seemingly completely ignored Stresemann's speech, according to advanced bulletins from Paris. The full text of Poincaré's address has not arrived in Berlin as yet.

But Germans saw one faint ray of satisfaction in Poincaré's reported remarks about the Washington Institute of Economics in that they are hoping Poincaré committed a faux pas which will alienate various distinguished Americans whose names are associated with the Institute, whose report was received with approval throughout Germany. But here optimism ended.

Mark Is a Weird Stampede.

The paper mark stampeded weirdly today. After a weak intervention by the Reichsbank at 1 o'clock, which set the rate officially at 5,600,000 to the dollar, it dropped so rapidly that at the close of the day it was somewhere around 7,000,000.

In addition to Poincaré's speech, Reichsbank President Havenstein's defense oration, wherein he spoke of "fantastic circulation figures" and intimated that inflation must continue as there was no way of checking it, and Sunday's figures showing that Germany's floating debt trebled in ten days, were important factors in sending the mark down.

A more important factor, however, was the Reichsbank statement for the week ended Aug. 15. The fact that this, long overdue, was not made until after Havenstein's apologia was launched was in itself ominous. But its bare figures fully justified the most pessimistic prognostications for the future.

During that week Germany's paper circulation was more than doubled by the

IRISH CAST VOTES IN QUIET ELECTION; PEOPLE APATHETIC

COUNTING STARTS TODAY

But the Final Results Will Not Be Known Before Thursday or Friday.

GOVERNMENT IS CONFIDENT

De Valera's Election Is Conceded, but Other Republicans May Be Swamped.

DUBLIN, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—The electorate of the Irish Free State went to the polls today in twenty-nine constituencies for the election of the 153 members of the new Dail Eireann, and up to the last the elections maintained the unique character of the previous campaign and were quiet and orderly almost to dullness.

This was particularly the case in Dublin, while reports from the Provinces tell a similar tale, with trifling exceptions in a few cases, where enthusiasm outran discretion and caused slight disturbances.

The universal verdict is that this has been the quietest election in Irish history. There was no excitement, no laughter at the polling booths in Dublin nor in any of the waiting lines of voters. Judging from appearances, the public is taking only small interest in the affair, and the polling has not been heavy.

Civil guards and others responsible for keeping order were at their posts, but were not required in this model election, and seemingly there has been only the very smallest amount of intimidation, personation or attempts at personation, this being due to the heavy penalties provided.

According to some reports tonight there has been a poll throughout the State of about 60 per cent. of the electors. The only places where any briskness or excitement was shown were Cork, Waterford and Kilkenny, where the balloting is said to have been heavy; reports from all other places indicate a certain amount of apathy.

The discharge of firearms in the early hours of the morning in Dublin led many citizens to wonder whether the Republicans had abandoned their plan of standing as "the law and order" party, but there is still no explanation of the firing, and military headquarters have made no report.

The returns from the polling booths will be secret for three, possibly four, days, but some indications may be forthcoming tomorrow, when the first preferences may be known.

A feature of the elections was the comparative absence of the numerous motors and other vehicles usually employed to carry voters to the booths. One exception, however, was an enterprising business man who employed a fleet of automobiles to bring his supporters into the city from the seaside suburbs.

Both Government and republican candidates flew the same flag, the Irish tricolor, and, though de Valera's supporters claimed the title of Sinn Feiners, the Free Staters maintain that they are the true inheritors of that tradition. The women voted as freely as the men, and at some of the stations outnumbered them, the younger women especially turning out in force.

Mulcahy Expected to Head Poll.

No doubt is entertained that General Mulcahy will head the poll for the North City, and Kevin O'Higgins is certain of election in Dublin County. Mr. O'Higgins is expected to show the highest poll of any candidate in Ireland, for not only will all the Free Staters put him first, but the Unionists, who once carried this constituency in the English Parliament, are supporting him as the strongest Minister, next to President Cosgrave, in enforcing obedience to the law.

Mr. Cosgrave is considered a certainty to head the poll in Carlow. In Government circles the most cautious of the prophets estimate that the candidates pledged to unswerving support of President Cosgrave will win at least seventy seats. This, though less than half the House, would make the Ministry a reappointment sure, as all the big business

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Two thousand persons stampeded for the doors at a meeting of garment workers in the Ashland Boulevard Auditorium tonight when three gunmen suddenly burst into the hall from a sidedoor, fired three shots at William Z. Foster, head of the Trades Union Educational League, who was speaking from the platform, and fled down a fire escape before their identity could be learned.

No one was hit by the bullets and no one was seriously hurt in the rush for the exits, which was stopped by Foster, who kept on talking.

More than half of the audience were women affiliated with the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union. The meeting had been called at the request of seven members of the union who had been expelled from the organization.

WARD WINS A POINT IN MURDER CASE

MUNDIA HAS JAIL RECORD

Attorney Also Questions Sanity of Chauffeur Who Testified Before Grand Jury.

Supreme Court Justice Robert F. Wagner yesterday ordered Attorney General Carl Sherman to appear before him in White Plains at 10 o'clock Thursday morning to show cause why he should not dismiss the indictment charging Walter S. Ward with murder in the first degree for the shooting of Clarence M. Peters on May 15, 1922.

The order was signed on application of Rabenold & Scribner of 61 Broadway, of counsel for Ward, and was based on affidavits submitted by Allan R. Campbell and Samuel Miller of the Ward legal force. The motion will be opposed by Special Deputy Attorney General Thomas J. O'Neill. Justice Wagner's order directed the State also to show cause why, if the court denies the motion for dismissal, the defendant should not be admitted to bail. The State will also be required to show cause why it should not submit a bill of particulars stating the exact place in Westchester County in which the authorities believe Peters was killed.

Defense Itemizes Grounds.

The State will be required to show cause why an order to dismiss should not be granted on these grounds:

"a. That the indictment was found in violation of Ward's constitutional rights.

"b. That the indictment was found without the evidence required by law to support it and was the result not of legal evidence but of incompetent and prejudicial evidence, improper comment and other improper proceedings before the Grand Jury, or of misadvice or lack of advice to the Grand Jury and misapprehension by the Grand Jury as to the law applicable to the evidence presented.

"c. That the Court erroneously failed and refused to charge the Grand Jury as to the special rules of law applicable to the case and erroneously refused to consider the requests of the defendant to charge certain propositions of law, which would have defeated said indictment.

"d. That there was no evidence before the Grand Jury tending to connect the defendant with the death of the decedent except evidence as to statements made by or in behalf of defendant, which statements, without additional proof that the crime charge had been committed, were insufficient.

"e. That a previous indictment having been dismissed, resubmission of the case to the Extraordinary Grand Jury was not authorized, at least without an order of resubmission based upon proof showing sufficient grounds for such resubmission.

Charges Contradictory Theories.

In his affidavit, Mr. Campbell said:

"The theory on which the first indictment was prosecuted was revealed in the minutes before the present Grand Jury as being that Peters was killed somewhere else than where his body was found, and his body was brought to that place and laid there. This theory was expounded by Frederick H. Weeks, the District Attorney in charge of that prosecution in his testimony before the present Grand Jury. There are indications that the Attorney General is proceeding on that theory and there are also indications that he is proceeding on the theory that Peters was shot at the place where the body was found."

Quoting from the Grand Jury minutes, Campbell recited from the testimony of certain witnesses their belief that Peters was killed elsewhere and of others that the died where the body was found, near Kensico Reservoir. Incidentally, Campbell's affidavit complained that many witnesses before the Grand Jury were permitted to register their opinions.

Elsewhere in his affidavit the Ward attorney commented:

"I noted also while I was a witness before the Grand Jury certain copies of The Daily News in possession of the jurors, one picture reading 'The Daily News has carried at a prominent place daily in its editorial column in large type the question: Can a rich man kill a poor man in New York and be tried for it?' and has during the course of the Grand Jury proceedings, as well as before and after, conducted a campaign in its editorial and news columns in support of an indictment based on such arguments. The presentation of the arguments in this form undoubtedly tended to reinforce with some grand jurors those contentions of the Attorney General, which, we submit, are erroneous.

"The affidavit attached the record and questioned the sanity of William Mundia, a chauffeur, who, in contradictory testimony, accused Ward of degeneracy.

Samuel Miller, another Ward attorney, submitted an affidavit in which he

HYLAN AGAIN IS ILL AT SARATOGA; FEAR INFLUENZA ATTACK

Stricken Second Time in Month, Mayor's Condition Causes Concern to Family.

TEMPERATURE UP TO 102

DR. MONAGHAN GIVES AID

Mayor John F. Hylan, whose periods of ill health have been increasingly frequent in the last year, is threatened with an attack of influenza at his cottage at Saratoga Springs.

Mr. Hylan, according to reports which reached here last night, has been ill since Saturday. His temperature last night was 100 and has been as high as 102. Dr. George Foster Comstock, the physician attending him, does not consider his condition serious but suspects influenza and is having a laboratory test made to determine whether germs of influenza are present.

Dr. Comstock said that the Mayor had "some bronchitis and a little pleurisy."

"He had a comfortable day and is a little better this evening," the physician continued. "He has had a cold for a week and has had a temperature during all that time. He has been around and paid no attention to it. This may be the last of a bad cold, but as a precaution I am having a laboratory test made to determine the presence or absence of influenza germs. The result of this test will be known today."

Dr. Comstock said that he had not considered the Mayor's condition sufficiently serious to warrant him calling in consultants, but that Dr. Frank J. Monaghan, Health Commissioner of New York City and a personal friend of Mayor and Mrs. Hylan, had examined the Mayor during the day.

"Dr. Monaghan was not able to find any more than I did," Dr. Comstock added. "I had sent to his department for a nurse. Dr. Monaghan, who was in Saratoga, heard of it. He went at once to the Mayor's cottage to learn his condition."

Sinnott Tells of Family's Concern.

John H. Sinnott, Mayor Hylan's secretary and son-in-law, who is with the Mayor at Saratoga Springs, confirmed the report of the Mayor's illness over the telephone last night. Mr. Sinnott indicated that Mayor Hylan was not considered in immediate danger but that his illness was believed to be decidedly threatening by the members of his family.

"The Mayor has gone as far as he could," Mr. Sinnott said. "We have been expecting this. Dr. Comstock has expressed the opinion that the Mayor may have contracted influenza, although there has been no definite diagnosis as yet. The Mayor's rundown physical condition, the result of overwork, makes his illness serious.

"We have sent to New York City for a trained nurse. The Mayor's temperature is 100, at which figure it has been virtually all day. On Sunday his temperature went up to 102."

Mr. Sinnott said that the Mayor went to Saratoga by train last Friday noon and was ill on his arrival. "We think that he was ill before he left New York," Mr. Sinnott added, recalling that the Mayor had a similar illness at Saratoga two weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Sinnott and their infant son and Mrs. Hylan were at Saratoga when the Mayor joined them. They were all concerned over the Mayor's condition and called Dr. Comstock at once.

Mr. Sinnott said he did not believe that the Mayor's present attack of illness was of the same nature as those which had frequently incapacitated him temporarily in the last year. His previous attacks of illness were said to have been caused by nervous indigestion. Mr. Sinnott confirmed this and said that the present illness was entirely different.

Caught Cold at Harding's Funeral.

The Mayor's previous illness was reported on Aug. 10 and was caused by a cold which he contracted while attending the funeral of President Harding

PINCHOT WARNS STRIKE CAN'T BE ALLOWED; BEGINS CONFERENCES ON COAL MEDIATION; TO BASE PEACE PLAN ON HIS OWN INQUIRY

Lewis Goes Ahead With Preparations for Strike; Moves to Philadelphia to Be Near the Coal Fields

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 27.—John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers, late today transferred his headquarters from the Ambassador Hotel here to the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia. It was at this latter hotel that Lewis maintained his headquarters during the five months' strike in the anthracite fields last year, and his present plans are to direct the strike now ordered for Friday at midnight from the same point.

"I prefer not to discuss the matter of the Harrisburg conference while the conference is in session," he said. "The affairs of the United Mine Workers are in the hands of Vice President Murray and his associate Presidents of the anthracite districts who are in Harrisburg today. I have every confidence Mr. Murray and his associates will represent the mine workers with exceptional ability and rare discretion."

Mr. Lewis declared there was absolutely no significance in the fact that he had not gone to Harrisburg and instead had arranged to go to Philadelphia. He said that his physician had refused to allow him to go to the conference called by Governor Pinchot, but had permitted him to make the shorter trip to Philadelphia, which, he said, had been arranged before he had been ordered to his bed.

Mr. Lewis left on the 4:40 P. M. train, taking with him his wife, his two children, his brother, George Lewis, and his secretary and office staff.

It was explained that Mr. Lewis had chosen Philadelphia as his headquarters because he believed that that city was the most advantageous point from which to direct what he regards as an inevitable struggle. From Philadelphia it will be easy for him to keep in close touch with the anthracite coal fields and to direct the walk-out of the 158,000 men.

Throughout the day Lewis was in frequent telephonic communication with his lieutenants in Harrisburg. Later the newspaper reports of Governor Pinchot's talk to the joint conference of operators and miners was read to him. He refused to allow himself to be quoted, but it is known that he failed to see any "constructive idea" in the Governor's opening talk. He took the position that any one would agree with the abstract principles of equity and public welfare laid down by the Executive, but that the Governor would have difficulty in applying these principles unless there was a change in attitude on the part of the operators.

WAGE RISE IS INVOLVED

PINCHOT STRESSES PUBLIC

MEETS MINERS SEPARATELY

He Will Confer This Morning With the Operators—Pledges Both to Secrecy.

Special to The New York Times.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 27.—Governor Pinchot informed the representatives of the anthracite coal operators and miners at the opening of his conference with them today, that the strike called for Sept. 1 cannot be allowed. The public is becoming impatient on coal shortage, he told the disputants, and public interest demands that a suspension of mining be avoided. "The thing is possible," he said, "and it must be done."

The Governor then proceeded in his efforts at mediation, meeting the miners separately this afternoon. He will meet the operators tomorrow morning. He pledged himself to treat as confidential the discussions at these private conferences and asked that each group refrain meanwhile from comment on its demands or policies.

Whatever program for a settlement Governor Pinchot may have he did not reveal, evidently intending first to attempt to get the factions to agree to some sort of compromise, but he has got together a fact-finding commission of his own, of about twenty-experts, including social workers, investigators, statisticians, religious leaders, and public officials, which is at work gathering the facts of the situation.

Governor Pinchot met the representatives of the miners and the operators at noon today in his reception room at the Capitol beneath the Oakley mural depicting William Penn. The sub-scale committee of miners and operators listened attentively to the ten-minute address read by the Governor.

Text of Pinchot's Address.

Governor Pinchot's address was:

"As the representative of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania I have called you together for the purpose of finding a way to keep the anthracite mines in operation. I delayed asking you to meet here, after the negotiations at Atlantic City had failed, until I was assured that to do so would not run counter to the wishes of the Federal authorities. I am acting now solely in my capacity as Governor of Pennsylvania, and with the rights and interests of the people of Pennsylvania and of the other anthracite-using States clearly in mind.

"This controversy between the miners and the operators of the anthracite field is not a private quarrel.

"The general public is a party to this controversy and its rights, as well as the rights of the two other parties, must be represented and recognized. A shortage of anthracite means only a huge loss of profits to the operators, not only a huge loss of wages to the miners, but it means also loss of health, loss of comfort, of working power and of time.

"Throughout the vast region where it is used, anthracite is the fuel burned in the homes of the people. A strike or suspension such as now threatens is a public calamity and as such every reasonable public means must be used to prevent it.

"The interest of the public in the settlement of this controversy is double. In the first place the public wants it settled. It is utterly wrong that the people should be called upon again to bear the enormous and most oppressive burden of a shortage of anthracite coal.

In the second place, the public wants it settled on terms of even-handed justice. The right of the public to intervene carries with it the clear responsibility to see that impartial justice is done to both sides. In its desire to be served the public cannot afford to accept any settlement that is based upon anything less than justice. Furthermore, an unjust settlement cannot last. The people believe, and are right in believing, that the sufferings which come from one coal shortage after another are intolerable.

Pennsylvania's Responsibility.

"The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has a responsibility to other anthracite-using States and to Canada, which is second only to her responsibility for the safety and welfare of her own citizens. We have taught them to use our product. The great supply of the region which produces anthracite comes largely from such use. Having taught them to expect and value our service, we cannot lightly disappoint them.

"The country is just now entering upon a period of prosperity after a prolonged depression. The closing down of the anthracite mines would tend to undermine the confidence essential to a continuance of this prosperity.

"Our railroads are heavily taxed already. An uneven output of coal—new much and now little—will tend to block transportation; and the blocking of transportation will be almost as effective in making a coal shortage as closing the mines.

"The public has not forgotten, and I shall not forget, the rights and interests

DEATH BY CYANIDE MYSTERY TO POLICE

HAD INHERITED $300,000

Authorities Can't Decide Whether Death Was Case of Suicide, Murder or Alcoholism

Inspector John J. Coughlin, head of the Detective Division, and Assistant District Attorney James J. Wilson, in charge of the Homicide Bureau, began an investigation late yesterday afternoon into the mysterious circumstances under which John H. Sutphen, said to be a member of a prominent family in Southern New Jersey, died about 8 o'clock Sunday morning in his apartment on the twelfth floor of the Turin apartment house at 353 Central Park West. An autopsy performed at the Morgue yesterday afternoon by Acting Chief Medical Examiner Benjamin Schwartz revealed that cyanide of potassium poisoning had caused his death.

Sutphen reached his apartment in the building about an hour and a half before he was found dead on a couch in the drawing room. The body was fully dressed except for the coat, and a pipe was clutched in the right hand. The authorities learned that Sutphen had returned to the apartment house in a taxicab or private motor car and that he was so helpless that the elevator attendant practically carried him to his apartment.

At 11 o'clock last night Assistant District Attorney Wilson, after a three and a half hour investigation in the apartment, said that the authorities had not decided whether Sutphen had committed suicide or whether he had been murdered. Inspector Coughlin and Captain Arther Carey, head of the Homicide Squad, aided him in questioning three persons who were in the apartment when it was discovered that Sutphen was dead. No cyanide was found in the apartment.

Mr. Wilson said that it was learned that Sutphen had been living at the rate of about $20,000 a year, and that this was far in excess of his income as secretary to George A. Helme, who is in

GOVERNMENT SEEKS BERGDOLL GOLD FIND

PREPARED TO MAKE CLAIM

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Four special agents of the Department of Justice versed in the intricacies of the Bergdoll case were today dispatched to Western Maryland to investigate the finding of a box containing, it is alleged, approximately $110,000 in gold and bills which officials think may be the money buried by Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft evader, before his escape to Germany.

William J. Burns, Chief of the department's Bureau of Investigation, sent these agents to Hagerstown, Md., and the vicinity of Harper's Ferry, on the Potomac, at the request of Colonel Thomas W. Miller, the Alien Property Custodian, who will claim the money on behalf of the Federal Government if the money is found to be that which Bergdoll alleged he had hidden in "a pot of gold."

The box containing the money was dug up last week by Lee Houser, a road worker, living at Sample's Manor, near Hagerstown, while working on the Brownsville-Welverton Road, one of the highways leading from Hagerstown toward the vicinity of Harper's Ferry.

It is alleged that while Grover and Erwin Bergdoll were in Hagerstown about $150,000 was taken to them at the Hotel Vivian, and later hauled in an automobile by Grover to a point in the mountains near the Potomac River, where it is alleged to have been buried for temporary safekeeping. Owen B. Sherley, the hotel proprietor, is now credited with having stated that the Bergdolls had five new valises "as heavy as lead," which they guarded with revolvers until they took them away at night.

Department of Justice agents have been instructed to interrogate Sherley, who is reported to have exhibited several postal cards, bearing German stamps and postmarks, written to him by Grover Cleveland Bergdoll from Eberbach, Baden, Germany.

Buried in Desolate Countryside.

It was to recover the alleged buried gold that Bergdoll was permitted to leave Fort Jay, N. Y., under guard for the journey to Western Maryland during which he made his escape and afterward fled to Germany.

The point on the Brownsville-Wevertown Road where young Hauser made his treasure find is in one of the wildest and most desolate spots in the Harper's Ferry section of the Blue Ridge Mountains, in a stretch of country made historical by John Brown's raid and the movement of military forces for the battles of Antietam, South Mountain and Gettysburg. There is only a church and one house within five miles of the place.

When Mrs. Bergdoll, mother of the draft dodger, was on the witness stand in 1921 before the House committee investigating the Bergdoll estate she refused to reveal the hiding place of this alleged missing pot or box of alleged Bergdoll money. The committee accordingly requested the Alien Property Custodian, Colonel Thomas W. Miller, to use every effort to find this money, and the latter, in May of that year,

Princess Lwoff-Parlaghy Destitute in Home Here When Deputy Arrives With Seizure Writ

Destitute, and said to be seriously ill with diabetes, the Princess Vilma Lwoff-Parlaghy, noted portrait painter, was spared from seeing her home stripped of its furnishings yesterday afternoon, by revealing that she is in desperate straits. The disclosure was made partly by her confidential agent, Friedrich M. Delius, and partly by her physician, Dr. Edward Plako of 616 Madison Avenue, when Deputy Sheriff Joseph A. Laman, armed with three writs of seizure, went to her home at 109 West Thirty-ninth Street, prepared to take possession of the contents.

After three guilty attempts to gain admission to the house last week, Laman returned yesterday, accompanied by two assistants and a locksmith.

The Sheriff's men found the house to all appearances deserted. The heavy iron doors were closed and bolted, and a temporary cardboard sign, fastened in the grating, announced that the occupants were out of town.

He was about to order the locksmith to force the door, when Delius came down the street. Delius admitted that the Princess was at home. He said, however, that she was very ill and her condition was such that if any attempt were made to remove the furnishings of the house she would die, and added that the doctor was then on his way to see the Princess.

Laman explained that the writs had been procured by an attorney acting for Ludwig Nissen, retired diamond merchant, who is now in Europe.

Nissen is said to have advanced in all $205,000 to the Princess on three chattel mortgages on her property.

When Dr. Plako arrived, Laman asked for a certificate as to the condition of the Princess. He wrote: "This is to say that the Princess Elizabeth is in a most critical condition, mentally as well as physically."

Laman then ordered one man to remain in the house to guard against the possible removal of property, and departed. He said that until further action is taken, a guard will be kept on duty day and night.

The Princess is a Hungarian by birth. She is said to have painted more royal personages than has any other living painter.

Her arrival in America nearly fifteen years ago with a large entourage of gorgeously uniformed attendants created a great sensation. As Mme. Parlaghy, in Berlin, the Princess was the cause of a notable controversy, when Kaiser Wilhelm declined to sanction the annual award of the art gold medal to Herr Wallott, designer of the palace of the Imperial Parliament at Berlin, and decreed that it should be given to Mme. Parlaghy.

Sir Henry Haden and Two Guides Missing, And Six Others Are Killed Climbing the Alps

BERNE, Aug. 27.—Sir Henry Haden, an English mountain climber, and two guides have been missing for a fortnight. They left Lauterbrunnen on Aug. 10 for an excursion up the Jungfrau, and since have not been seen.

An eleven-year-old daughter of Consul Friedrichs of Düsseldorf, with her governess, Fraulein Schenke, alone and without the knowledge of Consul Friedrichs, tried to ascend the Rosatch Peak, but were swept over a precipice during a snowstorm. Their bodies were found the next day.

GENEVA, Aug. 27.—Two Swiss tourists were killed yesterday on Sinai Rothorn, 13,855 feet high, which they had attempted to traverse without guides. They slipped on fresh snow and fell 1,000 feet. A third tourist who had joined the party but who was not roped with the other two, brought news of the accident to Mountet Hut, from which a search party has left to look for the bodies.

A tourist was killed last week while climbing Drusenfluh. In spite of his wish that should he die in the Alps his body should be left where it lay, his friends made unsuccessful attempts to recover it. A few days later a priest, with great difficulty, climbed to the foot of the cliff where the body was resting, held a funeral service and blessed the corpse. Next day, after a most perilous ascent lasting twelve hours, some other friends of the dead man succeeded in reaching the spot and covered his body with stones to prevent it from being torn by birds of prey.

On Friday a motor car occupied by M. and Mme. Cossar of Paris, with their son and chauffeur, fell fifty feet down a precipice of the Grimsel road.

Recently the driver of the postal coach from Llanss to Vals Canton, Grison, was struck by a stone which fell from the mountainside and was so severely injured that he died on arriving at Vals. Two tourists who were traveling in the coach did not notice the accident, and the horses proceeded alone for nearly one mile while the driver lay senseless on his box.

of the miners and the operators. Each side represents a great and vital service to the public. Moreover, each side stands in the presence of a great and vitally important duty to the people at large.

"The public does not and cannot see with your eyes and appreciate with your experience the background and the details of the present controversy. But it knows the essential facts. I express a truth none will deny when I say that the anthracite-using people of the United States are losing patience, and I ask you to consider that fact with care.

"The public interest demands that this controversy shall be settled, and that a suspension of mining shall be avoided. The thing is possible—and it must be done.

"Settlement means that neither side can get everything it would like to have. Few people ever do in the world we live in. But the settlement of this dispute is absolutely necessary for the public safety and welfare. The public needs and must have coal and I am entirely confident that the public is going to have it. It is my duty to insure to the public, by every lawful means at my command, the necessary supply of coal.

"I recognize the right of mine workers to organize for their own protection and to fair and decent conditions of living. I am fully aware that the strike is a right which should not be arbitrarily abridged or denied. The exercise of this right, however, should be made unnecessary by the use of orderly and reasonable methods of adjustment.

"I recognize the right of mine operators to a just return on their investment and their managerial ability.

"As the representative of the people of this Commonwealth, I am here to tell you that these rights are to be recognized and protected and that the public rights are to be recognized and protected also.

"The Roosevelt platform of 1912 asserted that 'the public good comes first.' Do not forget that the public cannot look with indifference upon unnecessary industrial conflict over private rights while it suffers in health, comfort and the very essentials of life.

At the Threshold of Winter.

"We are at the threshold of Winter. I call your attention again to our duty to the public, yours as miners and operators, mine as Executive of the only anthracite-producing State.

"The eleventh hour is upon us—and the crisis has now been reached. We must do in this eleventh hour what should have been done before. It can be done and must be done. There is still time. Let us use this time in an effective spirit of common counsel so that this common danger may pass, with due regard to the rights of all and with due credit and honor to all concerned. After the close of the present session I desire to consult with each side separately at as great length as the time available will permit.

"I will meet first with the miners because they are, to use a legal phrase, the plaintiffs in this case and I suggest 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon as the time. Tomorrow morning from 9 to 12 I will meet the operators for a similar conference. Other conferences may be arranged later.

"I propose to treat those conferences with each side as wholly confidential. What is said to me by one side will not be revealed to the other, either now or later, unless by mutual agreement. I ask, also, and I desire especially to impress upon you the necessity that each side shall refrain until the end of this conference from making public its position on any issue here involved, thus affording the largest practicable opportunity for discussion and agreement, the urgency of the situation, together with the shortness of time available for agreement justifies this request."

Reticent After Meeting Miners.

At the conclusion of his meeting with the miners' officials this afternoon the Governor said:

"We have discussed the case of the miners this afternoon and we shall resume our discussion at 2 P. M. tomorrow. Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock I am to see the operators."

The Governor parried a score of questions by saying he intended to treat the conferences as confidential. He would only add that he had asked Bishop Hoban of Scranton to see him in regard to the situation. He refused to discuss the work of the experts gathering data for him. The mine workers and operators were equally reticent, both sides pointing to the Governor's injunction to refrain from discussing the conference.

The operators will reiterate their offer to arbitrate all of the miners' demands when they meet the Governor tomorrow, and will say they are willing to bind themselves in advance of arbitration to agree that wages should not be reduced. The furthest the miners will go is to call off the strike if the operators agree on the principle of a wage increase.

The operators were represented today by S. D. Warriner, President of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company; W. J. Richards, President of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company; W. W. Inglis, President of the Glen Alden Coal Company, and A. B. Jessup, Vice President of the Jeddo Highland Coal Company. The miners were represented by International Vice President Philip Murray, Thomas Kennedy, President of District 7; C. K. Golden, President of District 9, and Rinaldo Capellini, President of District 1.

May Report Operators' Profits.

What the "fact finding commission" will turn over to the Governor has not been indicated, but in view of the anthracite miners' insistent attempts to have the Federal Coal Commission report in detail on the profits of the anthracite operators, it is believed that profits will be the outstanding feature of the findings.

The miners have asserted that the anthracite operators have not only made up their losses incurred during last year's strike, but that they have made large additional profits. They declare that the Coal Commission, headed by John Hays Hammond, has reported on gross profits per ton, but not on net profits.

With an impartial analysis of profit figures before him Governor Pinchot will be in a position to know whether the operators can afford to pay the miners an increase in wages. Those who observed the workings of his grim jaw today when he informed the representatives of the miners and the operators that the public was becoming impatient were certain that if the Governor were convinced the operators could afford an increase he would say so in simple, vigorous language.

The operators are refusing a $2 a day increase for day men and a 20 per cent. rise for contract miners on the ground that they could not afford to meet the demand without increasing the cost of coal to the public. The miners contend that the increase can be met without such an advance to the public. On this question the United States Coal Commission has not taken a stand. The crux of the situation at the present time appears to be the wage question and Governor Pinchot would like to know whether the operators can afford to pay the miners more money without increasing the cost of their product to the consumer.

Pinchot's Staff of Workers.

The facts for Governor Pinchot are being gathered under the direction of his confidential adviser, Secretary of State Clyde H. King, formerly Professor of Economics of the University of Pennsylvania. Those who are furnishing information to the Governor include W. E. Colver, Robert W. Bruere, Director of the Bureau of Industrial Research of New York; Royal S. Meeker, former Commissioner of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor and recently Chief of the Labor Bureau of the League of Nations at Geneva; W. Jett Lauck, economic adviser to the railroad brotherhoods and to the mine workers; the Right Rev. Michael J. Hoban, Catholic Bishop of Scranton; William Baumbusch, author of a book on the coal; Joseph J. Walsh, Secretary of the State Department of Mines, and H. G. Tryon, Samuel W. Tater and Henry W. Wing, statisticians in the employ of the United States Coal Commission.

Mr. Colver, as Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission under President Wilson, attacked the bituminous operators when they refused to give an accounting of their profits to his commission. He recently filed the suit in search for the operators' profits by an injunction suit.

Mr. Bruere has spent several years in research work on the coal industry and has written many monographs on various phases of it. Dr. Meeker, who is here head of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor, is thoroughly familiar with the anthracite situation because of his long residence in this State and because of the vast amount of information that came to him when he was head of the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor.

It was reported here today that Father J. J. Curran, an important figure in the 1902 coal strike, who has been a picturesque figure in most of the coal conflicts in the last twenty-five years, will go to Philadelphia in a day or two to see President Lewis. He may come here to see Governor Pinchot after his talk with Mr. Lewis. Bishop Hoban conferred with the Governor tonight.

CALLS IN BISHOP HOBAN.

Governor Pinchot Invites His Aid in the Anthracite Emergency.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 27.—The Right Rev. Michael J. Hoban, Bishop of the Scranton Diocese of the Catholic Church, went to Harrisburg today in response to an invitation from Governor Pinchot to discuss the anthracite situation.

The Bishop is well posted on affairs of the hard coal region and has been chosen several times to adjust labor disputes here.

WASHINGTON STILL HOPEFUL.

Next Coal Move Awaits the Result of Pinchot Conferences.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—So far as the Federal Government is concerned there appeared to be no developments in the anthracite coal situation today. The Administration is evidently awaiting news from Harrisburg, where Governor Pinchot is holding his conferences with the miners and operators.

Secretary Weeks, who has just arrived in Washington, called at the White House this afternoon, but it was said later that he did not talk to the President about coal. Secretary Mellon was asked his views this afternoon on the anthracite situation, as a Pennsylvanian. He replied that all he knew about it was what he read in the newspapers.

Francis R. Wadleigh, the Federal Fuel Distributor, returned to Washington today for some facts and figures in connection with the New York meeting tomorrow. The Administration, it was understood, still believes the strike problem will be adjusted, but if a walkout should actually occur no fears are entertained that the public will not be adequately supplied with substitutes.

NEW YORK HAS BIG STOCKS.

City Is Better Prepared for Coal Strike Than It Was Last Year.

A strike in the anthracite coal fields Sept. 1 will find New York City in better shape to meet the emergency than it was last year, when the mines shut down from April to September. This was the opinion expressed yesterday by men in the retail coal trade here, and they base the statement on the amount of coal that has poured into this city this Summer through the New Jersey coal ports and has been stored in consumers' bins.

The 1922 anthracite strike caught many householders unprepared. This year New York has been "digging in" in anticipation of the strike. Orders for next Winter's coal began to come in even before the warm weather set in and coal dealers have been working at maximum capacity ever since in an effort to catch up with the orders. What percentage of these orders have been filled those in the trade would not attempt to estimate yesterday. Prices for domestic sizes of anthracite range from $13.50 to $15 and for pea $11 a ton.

Figures furnished by the Department of Commerce show that from the first of the calendar year up to Aug. 4 60,903,000 tons of anthracite had been mined. During the same period in 1922 only 23,000,000 tons were mined. Already production is said to be about 4,000,000 tons ahead of the total for the entire year of 1922. Taking the average consumption of the past three years it has been estimated that only about 30,000,000 tons of substitutes would be needed to supplement the regular supply in the event of a strike.

"Are you one of our customers?"

Being assured that it was new business that was offered the reply was that no new orders were being booked, as the company was bending all its energies to filling the orders already placed.

"If there is no strike we expect that about 50 per cent. of the unfilled orders may be canceled," said an officer of one company. He added that he based that statement on the fact that evidence had already been found that many consumers have been duplicating their orders. This has been done by those who wanted their bins filled as soon as possible, but there was evidence, he said, that the strike talk had caused a flurry of fear and that many were now striving to get in more coal than their actual requirements. He said that very recently the owner of a large apartment house had appealed to the concern for ten tons of egg coal, representing that his situation had become critical and that he had urgent need for one month's supply for his hot water heater and to start the furnaces if cold weather came. His order was accepted in good faith and marked special. Soon after the order was sent out the manager of the branch nearest the customer's house called up and reported that the driver had found so much coal in the cellar that there had really been no room for the extra ten tons.

"So it can be seen," the dealer said, "that some are already yelling who actually have coal."

"It has been stated in the newspapers that New York City can only carry about two weeks' supply of anthracite," said a coal company official yesterday, "but the point to be remembered is that New York must get a daily supply. At present the only shortage is imaginary. We had more coal contracted for in the Spring and Summer than ever before and there is probably more coal in cellars than ever before. Distribution has been keeping up with production and the dealers are trying to get ahead of their orders.

"In the past few weeks, and without any orders from a Fuel Administration, the dealers have changed their policy by cutting down the amount delivered on single orders. By this method two consumers get five tons each instead of one consumer getting ten tons. By this method they are striving to supply as many as possible with coal before the possible shutdown of the mines.

"The Department of Commerce figures show more anthracite mined between Jan. 1 and Aug. 15 than ever before, and more coal distributed than in the whole twelve months of last year. With that so I cannot see why there should be a shortage. If there is no strike, or if the strike does not last more than two or three months, we will have a production in excess of 100,000,000 tons, as against an estimated consumption of from 72,000,000 to 86,000,000 tons a year. So possibly we may have more than we need. Of course, all this depends upon the length of the strike."

STATE OFFICIALS DISCUSS COAL TODAY

Will Meet Here and Consider First the Distribution of Substitute Fuels.

The first of the conferences of the representatives of the Governors of Eastern and New England States to consider emergency measures for the distribution of coal substitutes to prevent widespread suffering in the event of a suspension of anthracite mining on Sept. 1 will be held this morning at 10:30 o'clock in the rooms of the Port of New York Authority, 111 Broadway. Federal Fuel Administrator Francis R. Wadleigh has arrived from Washington for the conference, and it was said last evening that he was at the Hotel Commodore.

Mr. James C. Bryden, President of the Bituminous Operators' Association, will attend the conference, and the States represented will be Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland.

Among the State Executives who will attend the conference are Governors Cox of Massachusetts, Flynn of Rhode Island and Proctor of Vermont. James W. Storrs of Concord will represent New Hampshire and Andrew P. Lane will represent the Governor of Maine. Claude B. Atchison will represent the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The purpose of the conference was set forth by Mr. Wadleigh as "to discuss and formulate plans for the distribution of bituminous coal and coke for domestic use into the principal anthracite consuming States in the event of a stoppage of work at the anthracite mines on Sept. 1."

It is expected that representatives of the railways will attend the conference so that the question of distribution may be discussed from every viewpoint. Mr. Wadleigh and others feel that the whole question of the distribution of fuel is one of transportation.

Another question involved is that of educating the consumer in the use of hard coal substitutes and Mr. Wadleigh's program includes a systematic plan of public instruction in the proper use of such fuels.

Another subject to be presented to the conference is the "Bryden plan," through the use of which Mr. Bryden recently told the Coal Commission the strike could be broken through the distribution of soft coal.

Mr. Bryden said his plan would take care of a possible deficit of anthracite coal without interfering with the regular distribution or with any existing contracts, or with any business arrangements consumers may have for obtaining coal.

The first consideration of the conference, it is said, will be the development of a program for distribution of soft coal throughout districts which were formerly entirely dependent on anthracite. A distribution plan was drawn up by Mr. Bryden and approved by the bituminous operators at Atlantic City last July. It is understood, however, that Mr. Wadleigh, though approving the plan in general, has revised certain sections of it.

GIRL DROPS ADLER CHARGE.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Cyrus M. Adler, 24 years old, son of Max Adler, Vice President of Sears, Roebuck & Co., charged with attacking Sylvia Wager, 15 years old, was set free today because of lack of prosecution. Neither the girl who had caused Adler's arrest nor any of her relatives were in court. Young Adler was on hand when court opened with his counsel.

At the home of Mrs. Julian Lieberman, 4,644 St. Lawrence Avenue, it was said Miss Wager and her father had gone back to their home in Milwaukee.

"A mistake was made, that is all," said a man who announced himself a relative of the girl.

Hearing of the charge against Adler of carrying a concealed weapon was continued until Aug. 30. The police said Adler flourished a revolver when he backed out of the Lieberman home Saturday night. He had taken the girl for an automobile ride, and she returned in tears.

The police have been guarding the Adler home since a crowd menaced the youth when he was arrested.

REFUSES DIVORCE TO MUNDY

But Reno Judge Says Writer's Wife Is Entitled to One.

RENO, Nev., Aug. 27.—Talbot Mundy, short-story and scenario writer, failed to obtain a divorce here today, Judge George A. Bartlett ruling that he had failed to sustain his charges of desertion by his wife, Henriette Rosemary Mundy, a portrait painter.

In the same ruling Judge Bartlett awarded Mrs. Mundy a permanent separate maintenance of $75 a month, declaring that she was entitled to a divorce if she wished it.

Talbot Mundy has written stories of adventure for magazines since 1911. He is an Englishman, born in London in 1879. He married Miss Strafer of Cleveland and this city in 1913. It was his third marriage. His first wife was the daughter of a London banker. Later he married the former wife of the Hon. Rupert Craven, who became separated from him shortly after he came to this country in 1909.

His early career was full of adventure, nine years of it spent in the British Government service in India and Africa.

BUILDING CRASH KILLS ONE.

Three Others Hurt When Old Structure in Paterson Collapses.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 27.—Police have started an investigation to determine responsibility for the collapse today of the old Ackerman livery stable in River Street which caused the death of one man and injuries to three others.

Harry Richards, 34, of 73 Pearl Street, died a few minutes after he had been extricated from the debris. Three hours after the roof caved in, carrying the third floor on which the four men were working through to the second story.

The injured were William Anderson, 30, of 148 Madison Street, bruises on back and severe skin lacerations of arms and shoulders; Gustav Graf, 36, of 165 Sheridan Avenue, minor injuries and suffering from shock; Vincenso Grodicadi, 42, of Liberty Lane, Lodi, shock. They were treated at the Paterson General and St. Joseph's Hospitals.

DECLARE SOVIET MISLEADS SENATORS

King and Ladd Said to Be Surrounded by Agents Disguised as Workers.

PROSPEROUS AIR ASSUMED

Copyright, 1923, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

WARSAW, Aug. 27.—According to information received by The Tribune from Moscow, the Soviet Government is trying by all means to mislead Senators William H. King of Utah and Edwin F. Ladd of North Dakota as to the conditions and the spirit of the population in Soviet Russia.

More than 15,000 trusted Bolshevist agents are mobilized for the purpose, The Tribune's information—from a most reliable, semi-official source—asserts. These men are disguised as workmen and peasants and surround the Senators constantly to hinder their coming into contact with official ordinary citizen delegates of Russia. Elaborate preparations have been made in all cities visited by the delegates in order to create the impression of prosperity and satisfaction.

Russia has lost hope that Great Britain or even France, despite the French Senators' recent friendly conferences with Soviet commissars, will give Russia the needed credits. Therefore, every effort is being made to influence the United States. The Soviet leaders believe a favorable opinion by Senators Ladd and King will be a decisive factor in the matter.

It is pointed out that Catharine the Great preceded Senators Ladd and King along the road of Russian dupes when she expressed a desire to see her new conquest in Southern Russia. Prince Potemkin, her Premier, who had misappropriated all the sum Catherine gave him for the development of Southern Russia, took the Empress on a long trip through the country, showing her model villages and happy, singing populations. While the Empress was resting at chateaus along the route M. Potemkin had the villages moved so she was surrounded with a vision of prosperity. When the Czarina discovered the fraud, years later, she jailed M. Potemkin, afterwards executing him.

MOVIE OPERATORS REBEL.

1,100 Men Will Strike Unless They Get More Pay and Shorter Hours.

Eleven hundred motion picture operators seeking a 22½ per cent. wage increase and seven-hour working time on threat of a city-wide strike next Sunday turned a cold shoulder to the exhibitors' pleas for compromise at a meeting of the union at 23 St. Mark's Place early this morning.

Sidney Cohen, President of the Exhibitors' League, delivered the appeal of the theatre owners. Spokesmen for the operators said the union had had no strikes in its twelve-year history, but if a strike developed it would be a good one. The membership has paid in a per capita strike assessment of $5, and in addition each of the 1,100 men was said to have deposited two weeks pay in the union treasury in anticipation of a walk-out.

"Our men mean business," said John Shea, union leader, "and we are 100 per cent. united. We fear no strike-breakers, because with operators' licenses so hard to get under the regulations there are no non-union men available. We ask an increase in base pay to only $52 a week. We now work eight hours with two hours off, and ask seven hours with three hours off because of the irksome confinement of our task."

DR. SPEAR FREED ON BAIL.

Judge Expresses Opinion That Slaying of 13 Years Ago Wasn't Murder.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 27.—Dr. Charles C. Spear of Philadelphia and New York, who has been in the Camden County Jail accused of shooting to death Edward Lawrence, a farmhand, thirteen years ago, was released this afternoon on $5,000 bail.

Judge Katzenbach expressed the opinion Dr. Spear had not committed first degree murder and had not even been guilty of second degree murder. He also intimated there may have been justification for the act which caused the death of the farmhand.

The worst feature of the case, the Court said, from the standpoint of the doctor, was the fact that he fled after the shooting.

WEST STREET FIRE NOT OUT

Flames Continue to Eat Into Merchandise in Towers Warehouse.

The stubborn fire in one of the buildings of the Towers Warehouse Corporation on West Street, between Watts and Canal Streets, which has defied all efforts to quench it in a continuous battle of two days, continued to eat further into the valuable merchandise last night. There is little prospect that any of the goods, valued at more than $100,000, can be saved.

Walls of the building have sagged from the weight of water. Two of the floors in the five-story building have collapsed, tumbling what is left of the burning merchandise into a pile of smoldering flame that extends from the first to the third floor. It was feared last night that the north and front walls of this part of the warehouse structure would fall. The crews of four engines and four truck companies were kept at work from the street, while squads of policemen and firemen watched the dangerous walls.

Deputy Chief Crawley had a detail of firemen remove twenty-five barrels of turpentine from a naval stores warehouse adjoining the burning structure.

10 PATROLWOMEN NAMED.

Will Do Regular Police Work; 23 Policewomen Appointed.

Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright yesterday announced the appointment of ten patrolwomen, two of whom are widows of patrolmen who died in the performance of duty. He also appointed twenty-three policewomen, nine of whom are widows of patrolmen.

The newly appointed members of the force were placed on the probationary list. They will become regular members of the department at the end of six months. All will receive the regular patrolmen's pay, beginning with $1,700 a year. The patrolwomen will do regular police work. The policewomen will serve as matrons.

The following are the new patrolwomen: Helena C. Brady, 949 Seventy-sixth Street, Brooklyn; Anna R. Jacobs, 429 Sixteenth Street, Brooklyn; Frances Simon, 239 East Thirty-third Street; Margaret Henry, 557 Broome Street; Louise M. Motz, 4,309 Oneida Avenue, Bronx; Marion Mullen, 1,000 Victor Street, Van Nest, N. Y.; Elizabeth Michael, 205 East Sixty-ninth Street; Louise M. O'Neil, 977 East Thirteenth Street, Brooklyn; Anna H. Reilly, 587 Broome Street; Martha Wissman, 582 East 169th Street.

$1,000 IN DRUGS IN TAXI.

Police Seize Bundle Tossed Into Cab and Make Two Arrests.

Forty bottles of cocaine, fifty-seven "decks" of cocaine and 127 bottles of heroin, valued at about $1,000, wrapped in a bundle which he saw hurriedly tossed into a taxicab at Bleecker and Macdougal Streets yesterday, were seized by Police Sergeant Richard McCauley of the Mercer Street Station, who placed under arrest at the same time, charged with possession of narcotics, Mario Trinchieri, 17, of 95 Macdougal Street, and John Ghisone, 21, of 176 Thompson Street.

The sergeant reported that he saw Trinchieri leave a taxicab as he approached the corner in a Police Department car. The sergeant said that the youth dropped the package back into the taxicab.

Trinchieri, according to the police, said that he got the package of narcotics from a man at Thirty-fourth Street and Seventh Avenue, with orders to deliver it to a man who would meet him at Bleecker and Macdougal Streets, but who failed to make an appearance.

SEND 'LOST' GIRL TO OREGON

Companion of 'Sister Theresa' May Be Restored to Parents.

Helen Maul, 15, of Portland, Ore., may soon be restored to her parents, whom she has not seen since Dec. 6, 1922, when a woman describing herself as "Sister Theresa" started with the girl on a begging tour that extended from San Francisco to New York.

The Children's Society placed the girl on a train for Portland yesterday, under the guardianship of her rescuer, Mrs. Loretta Driscoll, who was a guest at the Park Avenue Hotel where Helen and her companion arrived there in July. The girl will not go direct to her parents, but will be placed in the care of the Portland Humane Society until her future home is decided upon.

"Sister Theresa" had asserted she belonged to the Benedictine Order at Portland and had been collecting funds for a sanitarium. "Sister Theresa," who sent the girl out daily in all the big cities on their trip across the continent, was repudiated by the Benedictine Order. She fled before a warrant obtained by the Children's Society could be used, making her escape from the hotel in male clothing, it was said.

NO CLUE IN MYSTERY DEATH

Police Believe Man Shot Woman in Auto With Her Family.

Special to The New York Times.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 27.—Somerset County authorities have searched all day in vain for clues to clear the mystery in the death of Mrs. Mary Gehlen, who was shot while motoring with her family near Bound Brook.

The autopsy discredited the theory that the bullet came from discarded ammunition on the municipal dump. The course of the bullet indicates that it was fired from above the automobile. The authorities now incline to the theory that it came from the rifle of one of a group of boys who have been committing depredations in this vicinity. It is regarded as likely that the bullet was fired from railroad tracks, which run parallel with the automobile road.

Berlin to Restrict Stage Costumes.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—The police have forbidden, after Oct. 1, all theatrical performances which are calculated to "wound the sense of shame, decency and morality." Real art is to be the police criterian as to the costumes of performers. In some circles it is argued that under the mantle of morality the police are jeopardizing the freedom of speech and art.

MUSSOLINI CABINET LOSES A MEMBER

Dicesaro, Minister of Posts, Resigns and His Department Will Be Suppressed.

DISAGREED WITH PREMIER

Six Ministers and Nine Under-Secretaries Have Resigned Under Mussolini Regime.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Aug. 27.—Giovanni Colonna di Cesara, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, resigned from Mussolini's Cabinet today. He will not be replaced because his Ministry will be incorporated in the new Ministry of Communications, together with the commissariats for the railroads and mercantile marine.

The reasons for the resignation were not made public. It has been known for some time, however, that Signor di Cesara has been in disagreement with the remainder of the Cabinet on the question of restitution to private enterprise of State-owned public utilities. Signor di Cesara believes that State-owned enterprises could and should be made to pay handsome dividends to the Government, while Premier Mussolini insists that the State should rid itself of their dead weight as soon as practicably possible.

This divergence of views several times in the past led Signor di Cesara to tender his resignation, but Premier Mussolini always asked him to remain at his post. This time, instead, his resignation was accepted—perhaps in view of the fact that the Ministry of Posts and Telegraphs was soon to be suppressed in any case.

Including di Cesara, six Ministers and nine Under Secretaries have left the Mussolini Cabinet for one reason or another, while only one new Minister and one new Under Secretary have been added. The Ministers who have left are di Cesara, who resigned, and whose Ministry will be suppressed; Senator Count Teofilo Rossi, Minister of Industry and Commerce, and Giuseppe Capitani who left because their Ministries were suppressed when the Ministry of National Economy was created; Vincenzo Tangorra, Minister of the Treasury, who died and whose Ministry was suppressed; Stefano Cavazzoni, Minister of Labor, who resigned at the time of Mussolini's conflict with the Popular Party and whose Ministry was suppressed; Gioviani Giurisati, Minister for the Liberated Provinces, whose Ministry was suppressed.

Of nine Under Secretaries who have left, four resigned and were not replaced, the remaining five were forced to quit because their posts were suppressed. Two new members of Mussolini's Cabinet are Professor Corbino and Professor Serpieri, respectively Minister and Under Secretary of National Economy.

SCORES 400 BULLSEYES.

Anti-Aircraft Company of Tenth Regiment Wins Team Match.

CAMP SILZER, SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 27.—By scoring 400 bullseyes out of a possible 420 the Anti-Aircraft Company of the Tenth Regiment of the Marine Corps won the company team match the first day of the thirtieth annual interstate tournament held by the Association of National Riflemen, the New York State Rifle Association and the New Jersey State Rifle Association.

In the company team match the firing was done from three positions, 200 yards standing, 500 yards prone and 600 yards prone.

In the company tyro team match, open to all tyros and shot under the same conditions, the Marines again scored high score with 175 bullseyes out of a possible 200. Troop B, 103d Cavalry, again took second honors with 168 bullseyes and Company E, 104th Engineers, New Jersey National Guard, was third with 162.

By shooting 10 over a perfect score of 50, Sergeant W. F. Fay, United States Infantry, won the Hayes individual match. Firing was done at 66 yards, prone.

In squadded competition, Corporal G. L. Sharp, United States Marines, shot 9 over a perfect 50 and won second place. Captain W. W. Ashurst of the United States Marines shot 8 over a perfect 50 and came in third.

In the Elsner match open competition Captain John A. Kneubel, United States Infantry, scored 97 out of a possible 100.

Brooklyn Man Took Another's Diploma and Got a Job.

When James P. Nihill, 32 years old, of 467 Degraw Street, Brooklyn, pleaded guilty to a petit larceny charge in Special Sessions yesterday a probation officer explained to Justices Edward, Nolan and Levine that he had used his loot to obtain a position as a nurse in the Metropolitan Hospital on Welfare Island.

William F. Veale, a graduate nurse, who gave the address 36 West Thirty-ninth Street, appeared as complainant. He said that Nihill, while employed as an orderly in the Manhattan State Hospital for the Insane on Ward's Island, on July 16 last, broke into his ward-robe in the hospital and stole his nurse's diploma, two letters of reference, a clinical thermometer and Veale's discharge from the Medical Corps of the United States Army.

Probation Officer James Russell said that when, a few days later, Nihill obtained employment at the Metropolitan Hospital, he posed as Veale.

Secretary Charges Forgery in Endorsement of $125 Check.

Charles W. Gardner, 51, manager for the past fourteen months of the Technology Club, 17 Gramercy Park, the local chapter of alumni of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was arrested last night charged with forgery. Robert J. Marlow, Secretary of the club, whose adjoining neighbors are the Players and the National Arts Clubs, charged that Gardner had forged his name on the endorsement of a $125 check, Aug. 8.

Mr. Marlow stated in his complaint that in going over cashed checks returned to the club he found one made payable to and apparently endorsed by himself, drawn on the Bankers' Trust Company on the date in question. He said the indorsement was bogus.

Members of the Technology Club were reluctant to discuss the matter. Gardner was accepted for his recent post on the recommendation of a former President, it was learned.

At the Twenty-second Police Station Detectives Wing and Dunn said that Gardner admitted his connection with the $125 Marlow check, but that they could get no reply when they asked him if other irregularities were involved.

Gardner lived at 424 East Fifty-seventh Street, near Sutton Place, where he occupied a three or four-room bachelor apartment.

WOUND KILLS EX-GANGSTER.

"Jocko" Moore Identified as Alleged Murderer of Paymaster.

Henry ("Jocko") Moore, ex-gangster, who was shot last Thursday near his home, 372 Sixth Avenue, Astoria, L. I., where he had been living under the name of Frank Murray, died yesterday in St. John's Hospital without revealing who had shot him.

Charles Cain, Secretary of the Duncan Construction Company of Brooklyn, had identified Moore as the gunman who, Cain alleged, had killed Thomas R. Phillips, paymaster of the Duncan Company in Long Island City on March 30, when Phillips was robbed of $3,856.

After the death of Moore Magistrate Thomas M. Doyle reduced bail of the woman with whom Moore had been living from $10,000 to $2,000. The woman surrendered her bankbook showing $5,000 on deposit and was released from Queens County Jail, where she had been locked up charged with having firearms in her possession.

DOG GUARDS HARDING TOMB

Soldiers Adopt Animal Which Stayed by Coffin During Funeral.

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 27.—A small dog which took up a position near the coffin of President Harding during the funeral services and was chased away by soldiers the next day returned to the tomb today and has been adopted by the soldiers on guard there.

At the time of the funeral Mrs. Harding made a personal request that the dog be not molested, and it was left alone, but the next day the soldiers drove it away. When they learned it had been Mrs. Harding's request that the dog be left alone they made a fruitless search for it. But today it returned and was adopted. It has been named "Bambino."

made demand upon the Bergdolls for this and all other property alleged to belong to the draft evader.

Colonel Miller, through Department of Justice agents, has been making every effort to find the missing money. Immediately after nearing reports that Hauser was credited with having admitted the money he found amounted to more than $100,000, Colonel Miller put himself in touch with Chief Burns and urged that agents familiar with the case be sent into Western Maryland to make a thorough investigation.

Miller Cites Authority for Seizure.

"If the money reported found near Hagerstown, Md., should prove to be the property of Grover C. Bergdoll," said Colonel Miller, "the United States Government, through this office will be interested.

"In May, 1921, when the Alien Property Custodian seized the property of Grover C. Bergdoll in response to President Harding's orders, it was done within the scope of the Trading With the Enemy act. Under this law any one residing within the confines of a country with which the United States was at war, and not protected by a War Trade Board license, automatically lost his property when proper demand was made therefor by the custodian.

"The seizure of Bergdoll property has been successfully defended by the Government in all court actions brought so far. Under the Knox-Porter Peace resolution, adopted July 2, 1921, a provision was contained therein that any demand made by the Government through the Alien Property Custodian covering enemy property was in full force and effect for property that had not been actually reduced to possession, even though a state of peace existed by reason of the resolution.

"The demands served on banks, Mrs. Bergdoll, her brother, Irvenesal Jaker, to have Bergdoll's property, resulted in the turning over of this property, whether cash, real estate or securities, to this office. The demand would cover the so-called sum of money which Bergdoll was reported to have hidden in the vicinity of Hagerstown.

"Arrangements have been made with William J. Burns, Chief of the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, for agents well versed and experienced in the Bergdoll case to investigate the whole occurrence in the vicinity of Hagerstown; until their report is received, of course, this office can formulate no policy, nor predict what future actions will be."

Secret Service Men Arrive.

Special to The New York Times.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 27.—Secret Service agents have begun an inquiry into the conditions under which Lee Hauser, a laborer, dug up $110,000 in gold and bills last week on a road fifteen miles west of this city.

It is reported that the Alien Property Custodian desires to hold the money until it is established whether it belongs to Grover C. Bergdoll, draft slacker. This announcement further complicates the situation regarding the buried money, and, it is believed, will put an end to any attempt by C. S. Wheeler, a farmer, who has said he would claim the money for Lemon, Howard Wheeler, 10 years old, who, the father says, was the first to find it.

According to Wheeler the boy was sitting on a fence at the side of the road when Hauser uncovered the tin box in which the money was packed. The boy is said to have grabbed the box and started away with it, when Hauser chased and took the treasure away from him. Hauser, however, declines to make any statement regarding this phase of the affair, which is growing more mysterious.

Today no one except Hauser knows where the money is hidden. He maintains that it is in a safe place." Asked what he would do if the money should prove to belong to Bergdoll, he said: "I'll restore it to him or anybody else who can identify it, but they'll have to identify it first."

Sister Says Gold Find Is Hoax.

Absolute denial of the discovery of a tin box containing $10,000 in gold and between $100,000 and $110,000 in bills was made today by members of the family of Lee Houser, who last week asserted he had unearthed this fortune. Miss Esther Houser, the farmer's young sister, said the whole story was a hoax framed by her brother, irresponsible joker.

Houser left his home early this morning. The family said he would not return until midnight. This is his second mysterious disappearance within a week. His sister denied he had brought money to the farm and said the story about it had made life there dangerous and caused a rift in the family.

POINCARE FIAT PUTS DECISION ON BERLIN

RUHR PROSPECTS BRIGHTER

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Premier Poincaré's final word to Germany, "Pay or we stay," has the support of the whole French press today. It is featured beside news that at some Ruhr mines the miners have declared for an end of passive resistance and that more coke ovens are being worked by the French, and it is taken as being a declaration not only to Germany, but to England as well as the rest of the world, of France's firm determination to continue occupation until she has obtained full satisfaction.

The next step, say the French, must come from Germany, and then England will be invited back into a conclave on the means by which Germany is to pay, the basis of all discussion of the first step being the plan of M. Seidoux for the handing over of the Rhineland railroads and mines, the collection of customs and 26 per cent. tax on exports on a gold basis.

Information published today in an English newspaper that Hugo Stinnes has, through the intermediary of his son, been carrying on negotiations with the French for participation in operation of the Rhineland railways is denied by the Quai d'Orsay, which says that the French Government can not and will not negotiate with Stinnes, or any other private individual in Germany, but only with the German Government. It is further stated that the Quai d'Orsay has no knowledge of these discussions, which it is said took place at Düsseldorf between Stinnes's representative and the local authorities.

Stinnes Anxious to Participate.

It is, however, affirmed that both in the present operation of the railroads by the Franco-Belgian régie and future operation by an international company Stinnes has indicated a desire to participate. But this action is very far from indicating that there is any prospect of accord between Stinnes and the French which will help in any large measure toward a settlement of reparations. Stinnes is a private individual, and the suggestion which is commonly made in the Communist press that behind the reparations quarrel a private deal is in progress between his interests on the one side and the Comité des Forges on the other is always treated by the French as simply a distraction from the true situation.

As they see the situation, there is every certainty that an agreement between the Lorraine and Ruhr interests will be an easy matter to arrange whenever the political question at issue between the two Governments has been settled. But such an arrangement, it is pointed out, is not a Government affair. It is simply an arrangement between two business concerns for mutual advantage.

Brighter Prospects in Ruhr.

In this connection it is significant that last week some Ruhr firms resumed importation of Lorraine ore, using French and Belgian transport. Since the beginning of the occupation they have been using what ore they had in stock and importing from Sweden and other countries, trying in that way to impose a blockade on French supplies. But the dearness of Swedish ore and the cost of transport has proved so great that several contracts have been renewed between Ruhr and Lorraine firms for delivery of Lorraine ore.

Taken in conjunction with Stinnes's inquiries about the possibility of co-operation with the Rhineland railroad system, a decision by about 7,000 miners to abandon passive resistance and more successful exploitation of the coke ovens at Gelsenkirchen, where German as well as French and Polish labor is being employed, the French are seeing today a brighter prospect than there has been for a month of their being able to exploit the Ruhr to their profit, or at least make the possibility of its successful exploitation so apparent to the Germans that they will be forced into the position M. Poincaré has prepared for them of finding that it is cheaper and easier to pay reparations than to continue resistance.

FRENCH BEGIN MINING COAL.

Most Germans in Seized Mine Quit, but Many Want to Return.

DORTMUND, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—The occupation authorities today began to mine coal themselves for the first time since the occupation began, last January.

French forces took over the five shafts of the Victor mine, near this city, yesterday, and delivered the ultimatum to the miners that either they continue at work for the occupiers or the mine would be completely taken over by the French for exploitation.

The ultimatum expired at noon today, when the bulk of the German personnel decided not to continue and 200 French miners took over all emergency work. The German pumping crew and foremen, however, declared their willingness to work for the French, and several miners asked permission to remain. Negotiations for their retention are continuing.

The Victor mine belongs to a private company headed by Peter Klockner and has a productive capacity of from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 tons of coal annually. The cokery of 380 ovens, which was also occupied for exploitation, has an annual capacity of about 700,000 tons.

The personnel of the plant numbers 5,000, including officials and workmen.

ASK FRENCH FOR SUPPORT.

Rhineland Separatists Appeal to Occupation Authorities.

DUESSELDORF, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—The League for Rhenish Independence today sent an appeal to the occupation authorities for "all possible moral and economic support," following the incident at München-Gladbach yesterday, in which the Nationalists loyal to the Berlin Government attacked Separatists who were attempting to hold a meeting.

Dr. Hans Dorten, the Separatist leader, escaped the hostile crowd, according to the league authorities, only "by passing himself off as an American journalist."

The league's appeal, which is in the form of a letter from its Executive Committee, says:

"The demonstration organized in München-Gladbach by all the Nationalist elements of the surrounding country revealed the spirit of Prussian revenge that still animates the population, and which in a few years will lead to a war of revenge against France and Belgium."

The letter sets forth that 8,000 persons in München-Gladbach are members of the Independent party and that 4,000 others arrived there from various cities to attend yesterday's meeting. The German police are alleged to have made no preparations to protect the gathering, although a permit for it had been issued by the authorities, and also to have failed to defend the Independents from their attackers during the street fighting, in which, the letter says, the Separatists were finally rescued only by a few Belgian gendarmes and soldiers.

The posters through which the Nationalists organized their successful raid on the Separatists were addressed to both men and women. They characterized Dr. Dorten as "known to be under the protection of the French," and concluded: "We wish to know those who betray their Fatherland when it is in misery."

SAYS GERMANY'S DEBT DEPENDS ON AMERICA

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—In an article the Matin will publish tomorrow Senator Henry de Jouvenal, its editor-in-chief and one of the prominent younger leaders of the upper house, brings out a plan for a conference between the European nations on the one hand and the United States on the other to fix the reparations total.

The burden of Senator de Jouvenel's argument is that the total of reparations must be fixed by Washington since the allied attitude is that Germany must pay the cost of reconstruction plus what the Allies have to pay America. Therefore, he contends, Washington should make it plain what America will stand out for.

With England asking of the Allies and Germany together enough to pay America and with France insisting that what she must pay America shall be collected from Germany, Senator de Jouvenel finds it logical to say that Washington must fix reparations by deciding what it will insist on collecting.

"Mr. Baldwin asks about 14,000,000,000 gold marks to pay the United States," writes M. de Jouvenel. "M. Poincaré asks 26,000,000,000 for France in addition to France's interallied debt. Belgium asks 5,000,000,000. All the other allied nations owe more to England, America and France than is due them from the conquered. If we fix at 5,000,000,000 the sum they can ask from Germany we arrive at the total of 50,000,000,000 gold marks, corresponding to the A and B bonds.

"Suppose the European nations reach an accord, as they should, on this sum. It would remain for united Europe to discuss with the United States the American claim. Not counting the British debt, which would be cared for in the 50,000,000,000, the American claim amounts to 25,000,000,000, of which France owes 15,000,000,000 and Italy 7,000,000,000 gold marks.

"If America demands from us payment in full we will naturally have to look to our allies for what they owe us, some 6,000,000,000 gold marks, to which we would add enough from our part of the Class C bonds. Even Lord Curzon in his most pessimistic mood calculates the value of the C bonds at 15,000,000,000, of which our part is 7,000,000,000. This added to the 14,000,000,000 owing to us would cover our American debt. This would increase Germany's debt 25,000,000,000 and our allies' obligations must be held at 6,000,000,000, a total of 31,000,000,000 gold marks, which represents the weight of the American claim on Europe.

"However, America hopes for a reduction of the German debt and recovery of the purchasing power Germany had before the war. Her material interest and her moral influence should join to draw her away from the contradiction of asking all her debtors owe her while advising them not to collect what is owing them. However, France and England alone cannot persuade her of this. Only a united Europe can do so.

"It is natural that the New World refuses to participate in the dissensions of the Old World and natural that it does not wish to try to aid our reconstruction now. Would you lend money to men who are always disputing? Then why expect the Americans to do it?

"Germany cannot see a month ahead of her. She has need of financial stability. She can get this stability only by re-establishing her credit. She can re-establish her credit only by keeping her engagements. She can keep them only when she knows how much of what Europe owes America must be added to reparation for devastated areas. Thus the problem of reparations is tied up with the interallied debts, and that hangs on America's decision."

Senator de Jouvenel thinks America would be keenly interested in a united Europe and much more disposed to help than in this day of quarrels. He says Premier Poincaré's observation that God helps those who help themselves is as good for Europe as for France and adds: "The hour has come for Europe to get together."

KILLS AMERICAN IN BOMBAY.

Baker's Greek Partner Shoots Him In a Business Altercation.

BOMBAY, Aug. 27.—A member of a business firm here named Baker, reported to be an American, was shot today in a business altercation and died of his wounds.

The tragedy occurred in the office which Baker occupied with his partner, named Boucos, who is alleged to have whipped out a revolver and fired three shots at the American, who staggered to his room and collapsed. Baker was taken to a hospital, where he died half an hour later.

Boucos surrendered to the police. It is understood that Baker was married to a Greek woman whose name was Boucos.

RECOGNITION SEEN IN NOTE TO MEXICO

eam national debt, approximate the sum of 1,000,000,000 pesos, and arrangements have been made for taking care of this important phase of the Mexican problem.

Also before the Payne-Warren negotiations the Mexican Supreme Court handed down important opinions in the so-called amparo decisions instituted by the Texas Company of Mexico, from which decisions the State Department drew the inference that petroleum properties in process of development before May 1, 1917, when the Carranza Constitution took effect, are protected from a retroactive application of the fourth paragraph of Article 27 of that Constitution.

These decisions were not, however, regarded by the Washington Government as effective in dealing with the rights of American citizens in lands containing petroleum or other sub-soil substances where the lands were owned prior to May 1, 1917, but had not been developed, or as to which leases or contract rights to prospect for and work petroleum had not been granted before that date.

In the Payne-Warren negotiations, however, a clear and satisfactory understanding regarding the protection of American rights in Mexico is declared to have been reached, definite enough to convince Secretary Hughes that the Mexican Government does not intend to confiscate validly acquired American properties in Mexico, and agreement was also reached to recommend to the two governments two conventions for the creation of two claims commissions, to be composed of prominent Americans and Mexicans, who will consider and make recommendations with respect to pending claims.

The decision to recognize Mexico is one of the most important steps in American foreign policy in recent years. It is expected to be followed by closer business and commercial relations between the two countries and be beneficial to this country, as well as of very great importance to the development of Mexico.

American capital, as well as that of other foreign nations, has not been desirous of going deeper into Mexico as long as a cloud of doubt existed over foreign property rights.

EXCHEQUER POST FOR N. CHAMBERLAIN

Baldwin Names Him When Negotiations for McKenna's Appointment Fail.

ILL-HEALTH BARS McKENNA

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Neville Chamberlain has been appointed Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Sir William Joynson-Hicks takes his place as Minister of Health.

The announcement of Mr. Chamberlain's appointment is accompanied by the publication of a letter to the Prime Minister from Reginald McKenna, in which the writer says that his doctor would not allow him to undertake the strain of a contested by-election. Mr. McKenna adds that the confidence he expressed in Premier Baldwin's policy three months ago is unabated today.

In default of Mr. McKenna, Mr. Chamberlain is generally regarded as the best choice Mr. Baldwin could have made. The Prime Minister's request to a former Liberal Minister to join his Cabinet was a bold stroke which pleased all but the party politicians.

Sir Frederick Banbury, to whom a peerage had been offered if he would resign his seat in the House of Commons as a Member of the City of London in favor of Mr. McKenna, rejected the proposal, and negotiations to find a University seat for Mr. McKenna were then set on foot without success. It was certain that Mr. McKenna's former Liberal colleagues would put up a candidate in opposition to him in any other constituency whose votes he sought.

The new Chancellor of the Exchequer has been in Parliament for only five years, but his record as Postmaster-General and Minister of Health has been a good one.

LONDON, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—Official announcement was made today of the appointment of Neville Chamberlain as Chancellor of the Exchequer and Sir William Joynson-Hicks as Minister of Health.

The appointment of Mr. Chamberlain is the outcome of Premier Baldwin's failure, owing to the opposition of the "die-hards," to get Reginald McKenna to accept the post of Chancellor. Mr. Baldwin himself was retaining it temporarily, awaiting the complete restoration of Mr. McKenna's health to enable the latter to accept the appointment.

Mr. McKenna, however, is a Liberal, and the "die-hard" Conservatives strongly oppose his entering the Cabinet. He has no seat in Parliament, and he stipulated that if he became Chancellor he must be elected to a seat representing the City of London. Efforts were made to induce one of the present holders of such a seat to accept a peerage, but without success. The Prime Minister has therefore been obliged to fall back upon Mr. Chamberlain.

Mr. Chamberlain, who has been Minister of Health, is shifted to the Exchequer, and Sir William Joynson-Hicks takes the Health portfolio.

Neville Chamberlain is a son of the late Joseph Chamberlain, whose eldest son, Auston Chamberlain, was Chancellor of the Exchequer under Lloyd George. He is a former Lord Mayor of Birmingham, and early in the war was made Director General of National Service. He is a Conservative and member of the House of Commons for the Ladywood Division of Birmingham. He is 54 years of age.

Sir William Joynson-Hicks, who up to the present time has served as Financial Secretary of the Treasury, enters the Cabinet for the first time. He is the Conservative member for the Wrekenham Division of Middlesex, and is 58 years of age.

By CYRIL BROWN.

emission of 54 trillions of paper marks, to a grand total of 116 trillions. In the same week the Reichsbank's so-called "Lombard" loans—notes and bills discounted—almost doubled, increasing by 120 trillions, to 234 trillions. Treasury notes discounted increased by 79 trillions to 177 trillions. Commercial notes and bills discounted likewise almost doubled, increasing by 34 trillions, to 49 trillions.

Gold Reserve Vanishing.

The official explanation of the amazing increase in Treasury notes discounted was that it was "to secure needed importation of foodstuffs and coal."

One German financial expert comments: "This Reichsbank statement already presents such a catastrophic picture that there is no imaginable limit for how bad the next statement will be."

The statement contained another thought-provoking item, namely, that during the week 50,000,000 gold marks of the Reichsbank's gold deposits abroad were disposed of, so that only 10,000,000 gold marks remain deposited abroad. The Reichsbank's gold holdings now have shrunk to 510,000,340 gold marks, out of a total of 1,400,000,000 at the beginning of the year.

Germany's total paper circulation actually is much greater than is indicated by the Reichsbank statement, and nobody in the world today knows just how many paper marks are afloat. This is because not only cities, towns and villages, but State railroads, banks, manufacturing corporations, business houses and even individuals have been printing and issuing their own fiat money during the shortage. Almost everybody is doing it, justifying the corollary that if the Reichsbank presses were stopped, many of the thousands of printing presses all over Germany would still find profitable employment in printing private paper money. Among the private issues is that of Herr Stinnes. One of his notes in circulation promises to pay the bearer 2,000,000 marks, and bears Stinnes's own facsimile signature on behalf of the Board of Directors of the Stinnes steamship lines. It is ornamented with the Stinnes merchant marine house flag.

The Stinnes paper, Deutsche Allgemeine Gazette, today editorially commented that Poincaré in his Sunday speeches had taken a decided step backward.

Before leaving Munich today, Chancellor Stresemann made three statements in an interview with the chief editor of the Münchener Neueste Nachrichten. He said: "There is absolutely no cause for the anxiety expressed in Bavaria regarding further centralization under Socialist influence, regarding an attack on the independence of the Federal States, nor regarding any or all supposed conflicts between Bavaria and the Reich; secondly, the Bavarian Government's demands that no direct negotiations shall take place with France has not changed my standpoint on this matter; thirdly, the Reichsbank must support and become the carrier of the Reich's economic and financial policy, and any conflict with the Reich's policy by the Reichsbank's measures must lead to impossible situations. The Reich Government will again insist on execution of the principles enunciated in the Cabinet's declaration regarding the Reichsbank, and the solution of the Reichsbank personnel question, now much discussed in the press, depends on the co-operation of the Reichsbank with the Reich and the Reichsbank's recognition of the principles of the Government's policies."

Commencing Sept. 1, freight and passenger rates on the State railroads will be quadrupled. They were increased 900 per cent. Aug. 20.

Today long queues of both patient and impatient Berliners were at the tax offices to pay the new levies.

BRITAIN DELAYS REPLY TO HUGHES TILL FALL

Will First Consult Colonies on Twelve-Mile Limit at Imperial Conference.

LONDON, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—Owing to the direct interest Great Britain's overseas possessions have in the shipment of alcohol to countries in North and South America, it seems likely that the long-deferred reply of the British Government to the note from Secretary of State Hughes concerning smuggling of liquor into the United States will be postponed until after the Imperial Conference in London in October.

It is held by the Government that questions raised by the United States, including extension of its territorial water limits to twelve miles should be thoroughly discussed at the forthcoming conference and the views of the colonies and Canada sought. With this information the Government would be enabled to amplify its proposed reply to the American note, which has been in the course of preparation for several months, so as to embrace interests in all parts of the empire.

SEES END FOR GERMANY IF GOVERNMENT FAILS

Chancellor Stresemann Says All Europe Will Then Succumb to Bolshevism.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Dr. Gustave Stresemann, the German Chancellor, interviewed in Berlin by a special correspondent of the Daily Graphic, is quoted as having said:

"If my Government fails, accomplishing nothing, than I shall perhaps be the last Bergerichter Chancellor of Germany. It may be the end. If that happens, it will be more of Europe than of Germany which will succumb to Bolshevism."

Dr. Stresemann advocated a triple understanding between France, Great Britain and Germany. He said such a general agreement was the only thing that possibly could bring peace to Europe. Then, commenting on the food problem, the Chancellor said:

"If we can keep the people fed perhaps all will be well, but we have not got the food. Although there are many million cans of frozen meat in Germany, we have not the money with which to buy it from the American owners."

MILLERANDS GREET OWSLEY

French President and Wife Entertain Legion Group.

RAMBOUILLET, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—The American Legion delegation, headed by Colonel Alvin M. Owsley, National Commander, left here late today, after being received by President and Mme. Millerand, and resumed their pilgrimage to Brussels, where they will attend the conference of the Interallied Veterans' Federation.

In the grounds of the old feudal castle, built by Francis I., the French President and the first lady of France entertained their American guests.

The Legion party was met at the railroad station by Colonel Fontana of the Presidential military household, who conducted it to the chateau in the President's personal coach. Once inside the grounds, the Americans came to "as you were," and were ushered into the grand salon, where each was introduced by Sheldon Whitehouse, the American Chargé d'Affaires. The French Executive chatted amiably with each of the guests, Mr. Whitehouse acting as interpreter.

The conversation between President Millerand and Colonel Owsley turned to the visit the Legionnaires are to pay to the Ruhr under the auspices of the French Government.

"You will be able," said the President, "to tell your people exactly what conditions are. France asks nothing except the unadulterated truth be reported. Friendly visitors are not required to let their feelings influence their judgment."

Mme. Millerand then joined the party, and Mr. Whitehouse was relieved of part of the burden of interpreting, as the wife of the French President speaks perfect English.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Colonel Alvin M. Owsley, National Commander of the American Legion, the delegation of visiting members of the Legion and their wives were the guests of American Legion Post No. 1 at a dinner here this evening. The Ministers of War and Marine were represented.

Colonel Owsley in a speech said the Legion was the only organization in the United States with courage enough to tell France "we stand with you and Belgium in the occupation of the Ruhr."

PARIS, Aug. 27.—A message from Sofia says that more than 1,000 persons have been poisoned in Vidin, Bulgaria, by drinking Danube water, and that many women and children have died.

The water, which has been used as the supply of the town for many years, shows signs of the presence of large quantities of lead.

BIRKENHEAD FINDS LONDON DEFENDERS

Some Papers See "Too Much Fuss" Here Over His Reference to Wilson.

SAY HE SPOKE SOBER FACT

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Tuesday, Aug. 28.—Under the heading "Don't Tell the Truth," Lord Rothermere's paper, The Daily Mirror, prints an editorial saying:

"The recent experience of Lord Birkenhead as a lecturer in the United States has shown that the frankness of friendly speech among nations it still a remote idea and not a present possibility. The whole world knows what everybody except the most ardent Wilsonians have admitted about a thousand times, that Wilson had more of idealism than a sense of stern reality in his composition; that he aimed high when he came to Europe but that he missed his aim, as indeed the whole later history of Europe has tragically shown. Further, we all know that this prophet was, for a time at least, despised and rejected by his own people.

"We know it, America knows it, everybody knows it. Why then may not Lord Birkenhead say it very politely? Because nations may always criticise their own public men they rarely permit foreigners to do so. In England we all admit among ourselves that Queen Anne is dead. We might resent it if Mr. Coolidge came over here to proclaim the demise with an American accent."

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Earl of Birkenhead has received little sympathy from the British press for the position in which he finds himself as a result of the first address of his American tour, delivered last Friday evening before the Institute of Politics at Williamstown. In fact, instead of rallying to the support of the former Lord Chancellor, the press tends to heap coals on the fire laid by Henry Breckinridge, Assistant Secretary of War under President Wilson, in Mr. Breckinridge's statement of last Saturday.

This attitude may be explained partly by the fact that Lord Birkenhead was a Minister in the late Coalition Government, the members of which are now suffering from an extreme reaction of public opinion.

The London Times refrains from any sort of comment on Lord Birkenhead's remarks about Woodrow Wilson which drew the fire of Mr. Breckinridge. The Daily Telegraph and The Morning Post also went to press today without editorials on the speech, but their Washington correspondents cabled their impressions. The American representative of the former newspaper is the only British correspondent to show sympathy with the former Chancellor.

The writer recalls that Lord Birkenhead's references to Mr. Wilson were received with applause by the Williamstown audience. He also assumes that as there has been no change in the Earl's plans for addressing the annual convention of the American Bar Association, President John W. Davis and other officials of that organization are entirely out of sympathy with Breckinridge's protest."

The Morning Post asserts that "the effect of Birkenhead's injudicious remarks is to confirm the isolationists in the wisdom of their policy of turning their backs on Europe."

The Westminster Gazette professes to understand the feeling that promoted the protests against the former Lord Chancellor's speech, but hopes that undue importance will not be attached to his words, asserting that the Coalition, like other hybrids, died without posterity and that there are few politicians in Great Britain today who now speak so exclusively for themselves as does Birkenhead.

Some of the afternoon papers stanchly defend Lord Birkenhead's remarks concerning Wilson, and take the position that "too much fuss" is being made over the incident in America.

The Pall Mall Gazette says the address "contained nothing that we should have thought to be other than universally recognized truths."

"He said no more than the sober fact," the newspaper continues, "when he spoke of Wilson's having hope as his principal equipment. International discussion must become a meaningless formality if it is not permissible to touch in the gentlest fashion upon facts which do not happen to be flattering."

The Pall Mall Gazette's editorial begins: "The Americans are a free-spoken people, but they prefer the free speech to be on their own side. They have not yet attained to the philosophic habit of mind in which Englishmen receive the lectures of imported Pussyfoots, Bolsheviki, Sinn Feiners and a whole world-wide menagerie upon the depravity of their own character and policy."

The same attitude is taken by The Evening Standard, which concludes its lengthy editorial with the remark that Americans in general are not very shy in delivering opinions of England while in this country.

"Roosevelt said some exceedingly straight things," the newspaper points out, "and so have many American Ambassadors. As a rule, such criticisms have been taken in good humor, even if vigorously challenged."

The Standard says a distinguished stranger, placed in such a position as was Lord Birkenhead, could do only one of two things—either utter platitudes appealing to the self-love and self-satisfaction of his audience, or talk seriously and weightily on a serious and weighty subject. The former method may be the safer, it adds, but the latter is a far truer compliment both to the immediate audience and the country whose hospitality the stranger has accepted.

"Unless it is held that any kind of criticism is inappropriate to such occasions, it seems impossible to impute the smallest lapse of courtesy to Lord Birkenhead," the newspaper declares.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Viscount Birkenhead will leave here tonight for Minneapolis to attend the sessions of the American Bar Association, before which he is scheduled to speak. He continued silent today over criticism of his address at Williamstown.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 27.—John W. Davis, President of the American Bar Association and former Ambassador to England, said today that he would not reply to the letter of Henry Breckinridge, former Assistant Secretary of War, protesting the appearance of the Earl of Birkenhead before the association because of his speech at Williamstown, Mass., commenting upon the policies of Woodrow Wilson.

HINDOO-MOSLEM RIOTS TIE UP CITY OF AGRA

Business and Postal Deliveries Are Suspended and Casualties Are Reported Heavy.

SIMLA, British India, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—The religious riots in the United Provinces are continuing, according to dispatches reaching here.

Hindus and Moslems were in conflict at Agra last night. Firearms were used and the casualties are said to have been heavy.

All business and postal deliveries in the city have been suspended.

An official report states that reinforcements of troops and police have been sent to Saharunpur, where the casualties numbered ten killed and more than three hundred injured in the riots, in addition to four killed and twenty-two wounded by the bullets of the police.

A Simla dispatch on Saturday said that numerous casualties and much destruction of property had resulted from riots at Saharunpur and Gonda, in the United Provinces, with minor disturbances in Calcutta, Ahmedabad, Amritsar and Neliore.

The trouble was said to be due, at least in one case, to friction between two Mohammedan sects during the Muharram religious celebrations.

In another case Moslems and Hindus came into conflict when the Moslems lopped branches off a Hindu sacred tree in Saharunpur, declaring the branches impeded their religious procession with banners.

QUITS PALESTINE COUNCIL.

Another Arab Resigns Despite Government's Conciliatory Policy.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 27 (Jewish Telegraph Agency).—Another of the appointed Arab members of the Palestine Advisory Council, Sheik Parich Adu Middaim, has resigned. This resignation is the sixth from the Arab group, which originally numbered ten.

Leaders of the National Moslem Association, composed of Arabs who approve of Zionism and the British mandate, are placing the balme for the resignations upon the alleged compromising policy of the Palestine Government, which, they declare, is seeking to curry overmuch the favor of the Arab extremists. The Zionists, too, are reproached for going out of their way to placate the extremists instead of dealing with the moderates. The ranks of the moderates are about to be augmented through the proposed formation of a Moslem-Christian party, which will probably amalgamate with the National Moslem Association organized to oppose the leadership of Moussa Kazim Pasha.

The resignations are regarded as the more surprising in view of the Government's concession in announcing that acceptance of seats in the Advisory Council would not be construed as recognition of the Palestine Constitution.

The last of the withdrawals is causing Sir Gilbert Clayton, Acting High Commissioner, some uneasiness. He is understood to have reported the situation to the British Colonial Office, whose instructions he is waiting.

Price is talking to-day through a megaphone

PRIDE in one's product is admirable. And quality cannot be talked down. But, when every manufacturer stands in the market-place crying only the quality of his wares, the buyer's ear becomes confused.

In a babel of contending claims, hardly knowing which to believe, he takes the commodity nearest at hand. Perhaps you sell him—perhaps you do not.

Now let price help talk for your product. Like a megaphoned shout, its message of savings will cut through competition and carry to the farthest fringe of the crowd. Its welcome note, quality being equal, will compel attention far and near.

In every plant, every year, enormous sums are wasted through under-production. In some industries the loss amounts to one-fourth of annual payroll investment.

Stop this waste in your plant, and immediately you can let price begin talking and making sales for you—a timely advantage.

An interesting booklet, "Stopping Payroll Losses," will be sent industrial executives gratis, on request. Please address Dept. L-19.

World's greatest cable

The American end of the world's greatest cable was landed at the POSTAL TELEGRAPH-COMMERCIAL CABLES station at Far Rockaway, Long Island, Saturday, and is expected to be in actual operation by September 15th; establishing the sixth complete cable circuit between the United States and Europe for POSTAL TELEGRAPH-COMMERCIAL CABLES. It gives this System a greater cable mileage between North America and Europe than that of any other company.

In the construction of this new cable, which is the largest ever manufactured for deep-sea operation, more than 4,000,000 pounds of copper, 1,800,000 pounds of gutta percha and some 80,000 miles of iron and steel wires of various sizes were used. The cable will be capable of transmitting 1,200 letters per minute—600 in each direction simultaneously—a capacity nearly twice that of any other long cable now in operation anywhere.

This is the first cable to be laid between the United States and Europe since 1910.

BOY OF 17 SLAIN AFTER CALL ON GIRL

Trio Attacks Youth, One Shooting and the Other Two Knifing Him.

ALL ASSASSINS ESCAPE

Police Believe Jealousy Was Motive for Sheriff Street Crime—Mother Faints Over Body.

Alexander Schnite, 17, arrayed himself last night in his new suit, bought with his first earnings and left his home at 74 Columbia Street to call on a young woman. A few hours later his mother, called by a neighbor, dropped in a faint over his murdered body a short distance from his home.

The police, with little to work on except vague fears of trouble expressed by the young man to his father, believe it likely that the jealousy of a rival suitor led to the killing.

The youth, a helper on a laundry wagon, told his father, Max Schnite, when he came home from work yesterday evening that he intended to visit a young woman, but declared he did not feel safe as he had had trouble with a man and feared he might be attacked. The father warned him, he told the police, that he should not venture out in the circumstances. When Schnite said he was going anyway, the father instructed him to return home by 9 P. M.

The elder Schnite did not know the name of the man who had made trouble for his son and was unable to tell the police the name of the girl his son visited, although he gave them her address.

Shortly after 11 P. M., young Schnite apparently was walking homeward on Sheriff Street. As he came within fifty feet of Rivington Street three men attacked him.

A witness told the police he had seen the three men walking rapidly behind the young man until just before he reached Rivington Street. Without warning, one of the men shot Schnite twice in the back. One bullet entered just below his heart.

As the youth dropped the two other assailants leaped at him with knives. One stabbed him in the back, while the other cut his throat. The three men then fled down Sheriff Street.

Attracted by the shots and cries, hundreds poured from the tenements into the street and several men carried Schnite, gasping a name which was unintelligible but believed to be that of an assailant, into a corner drug store. Schnite died before an ambulance from Bellevue arrived.

Several persons who crowded the store recognized Schnite as a neighbor, and one raced to his home, where he told the parents of the tragedy. Both Mr. and Mrs. Schnite rushed down the street. The mother managed to push her way through the crowd, but when she saw her son lying there she fell in a swoon.

Mr. Schnite gave the police what information he could and detectives were dispatched to comb the east side for the murderers. They could get only a meagre description of them. Young Schnite's body was removed to the Clinton Street Police Station.

COAST GUARD MANOEUVRES.

Cape May Plans Welcome to Cutter Squadron.

Special to The New York Times.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 27.—The City Commissioners and business men of the city are busy making preparations for the squadron of coast guard cutters, which will arrive in Cape May Harbor on Sunday morning for their annual manoeuvres. Arrangements have been made for a naval ball at the convention hall pier.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury McKenzie Moss, Admiral W. H. Reynolds and his aide, Commander F. C. Billard, will be dined by city officials at Congress Hall.

The manoeuvres will include drills, swimming and boat races, target practice and land formations. It is estimated that the coast guard cutters have saved over $20,000,000 worth of maritime property on the Atlantic seaboard during the past Winter.

INVENTOR DESCRIBES BIG OCEAN AIR LINER

Dr. Demuth Says New Craft Will Cross From Hamburg to New York in 28 Hours.

Dr. Armin Demuth of Hamburg, co-inventor with Dr. Rudolph Wagner of a huge turbine-propelled airship, who arrived recently from Germany to finance an aeronautical company, yesterday outlined in full the plans of his leviathan of the air at the Hotel McAlpin. It is Dr. Demuth's hope that with his large machine he may cross the Atlantic from Hamburg to New York in a non-stop flight of twenty-four hours.

His plane, he said, of the double-fuselage seaplane type, with four pusher propellers and four turbine engines, each one capable of producing 5,000 revolutions a minute. The one wing has a spread of 56 feet, is 8 feet in width, and 1 foot in thickness. The entire plane is constructed of aluminum, and weighs more than 112 tons when fully loaded with mail, fuel and passengers.

It is outfitted as elaborately as a transatlantic liner, having accommodations for sixty passengers, a crew of twenty men, a dining saloon, grill, writing room, stateroom, crew's quarters and kitchen. The flying ship carries a crew of twenty men, among which are included a captain, two pilots, four firemen, four machinists, a radio operator, two stewards and a kitchen force.

It is planned to build the plane on the shore of the Soder See, a large lake, bordering on both Switzerland and Germany, where a large hangar for two mammoth flying boats will be built. The planes will take off directly from there for Hamburg, where they will receive passengers and mail for New York.

DANCERS SEEK NEW RHYTHM

Teachers From All Over the Country in Convention Here.

A new rhythm for dance music is being urged by the members of the American Society of Teachers of Dancing, who began their forty-seventh annual convention at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday.

The afternoon was given over to registering and attending to the preliminary business of the convention. Louis H. Chalif, Vice President of the society, declared that there could be no new dances until a new rhythm was first produced. All the so-called "new" dances, he said, are merely variations of the old ones. Rhythmically speaking, there has not been a new dance since the one-step, for even the fox trot is only a variation of that dance.

Though the society has offered its members cash prizes for innovations which might make popular dancing automatically dignified and censor proof, none was produced or demonstrated yesterday. There were many ideas, but no good working models. Fifty or more members are expected to arrive today and tomorrow, and it is hoped by the officers of the organization that some of them will be able to offer some suggestions at least.

The waltz is still in favor, but it is being taught this year, it was explained, with a little gliding motion, both toes always on the floor, rather than with the little step of last year.

ZR-1 TRIAL CREW PICKED.

New Naval Aircraft Will Be Taken on Cruise Sept. 1.

The trial flight crew of the ZR-1 was chosen yesterday at Lakehurst, N. J., although names will not be given out until later. Nine officers and twenty-five men, all picked balloon veterans, will take up the new naval aircraft on Sept. 1 to make good its claim to a cruising radius of 4,000 miles. A permanent crew will be selected after the trials.

The ZR-1 was reported yesterday at the Lakehurst hangar as virtually complete save for painting, lacing and shellac. The six propellers, one to each gondola, remain to be attached, but this was described as a simple operation. The new 300 horsepower motors have all been tuned to concert pitch after thorough block tests, according to the staff.

The 690-foot bag is inflated to the 85 per cent. capacity the engineers have agreed upon for the trial trip. They estimated expansion under the sun's rays would take up the remaining 15 per cent.

WIFE KILLS HERSELF BLAMING HUSBAND

SEPARATED LAST JUNE

Husband Comes Here to Arrange Funeral Despite Note Forbidding Him to Enter Home.

Leaving a note in which she blamed her husband, Harry G. Cole of 203 Springfield Avenue, Pittsfield, Mass., for all her physical, mental and financial troubles, and saying she did not want him to enter her house to view her body or to go to her funeral, Mrs. Laura Cole, 35, of 431 Edgecombe Avenue, committed suicide yesterday by inhaling gas through a tube in her room in the apartment of Mrs. Grace C. Waterman, a friend with whom she lived.

Mrs. Cole did not appear at breakfast time this morning and Mrs. Waterman forced the door of her room. She found her in bed with the tube which was attached to a near-by jet, wound twice about her neck, and the end in her mouth. Dr. Low of Columbus Hospital said the woman had been dead several hours.

A separation agreement signed by Mrs. Cole and her husband, dated June 8, provided that Cole's auto renting business be turned over to Mrs. Cole provided that she did not call on him for further support. Mrs. Cole was unable to handle the business, Mrs. Waterman said, and it proved a failure.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Aug. 27.—Harry G. Cole, an automobile mechanic, of 203 Springfield Avenue, went to New York today to arrange for the funeral of his wife, a suicide, who left a note directing him to keep away. She was a divorcee when Cole married her in 1920. They separated last June, and Cole came to Pittsfield. Mrs. Cole was here on an automobile trip two weeks ago, but she did not see her husband, according to Cole's sister, Mrs. George William Carpenter, with whom he lives. Since her separation from Cole Mrs. Cole had been running a taxi business in New York.

CONSTABLE SENT TO JAIL.

Oklahoma Ku Klux Klansman Admits He Helped Flog a Woman.

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 27.—Arthur Finley, constable at Broken Arrow, was sentenced to two years in the State Penitentiary here today following his plea of guilty to a charge of riot.

Finley is the fourth man sentenced since Governor J. C. Walton placed Tulsa and parts of Tulsa County under martial law two weeks ago and opened an investigation into floggings here. Like the other three, he admitted membership in the Ku Klux Klan.

Finley confessed to having participated in the flogging of Mrs. Myrtle Goolsby at Broken Arrow in July of last year.

At the time of the whipping Mrs. Goolsby was the wife of "Slim" Spain, a parachute jumper, who was killed in an exhibition a few days later at Seneca, Mo. Mrs. Goolsby told the authorities that her assailants had accused her of improper relations with Goolsby, then 19 years old. She was 22. Both were flogged.

A few days after Spain's death she married Goolsby.

Chief Inspector William J. Leahy received a telegram at Police Headquarters last night from Chief Inspector George G. The girl's mother is dangerously ill, according to the telegram.

The girl is 5 feet 4 inches in height, weighs 130 pounds and has gray eyes and brown hair. There is a four-inch scar from a burn on her right forearm. She was carrying a suitcase when she left home.

the tobacco and snuff business in the Fuller Building, Broadway and Twenty-third Street. Sutphen, he said, also was the secretary of a company owning a patent called the cellometer, an automobile attachment.

"We have not completed our investigation," Mr. Wilson added. "We intend to question more witnesses before we can say how the poison was administered. It would appear from what we have learned thus far that Sutphen had overstepped himself in the matter of money, but we have to obtain more information on this point. We are not ready to reveal the names of the persons whom we questioned in the apartment tonight. To do so at this time, we feel, would be to defeat the ends of justice."

Mr. Wilson added that it had been established that Sutphen, about an hour and a half after his return to his apartment early Sunday morning called up Ernest A. Dunlea, who is in business at 175 Fifth Avenue, and was understood to be interested in an enterprise with Sutphen. Sutphen was reported to have told Dunlea that he was very ill, and asked him to call on him at his apartment as soon as possible. It was said that Dunlea was one of the three witnesses examined by Assistant District Attorney Wilson and the police officials and that the other witnesses were Captain Robert C. Spohn, a war veteran, of 875 Riverside Drive, and Florence Janesot, an actress, formerly of Buffalo.

Others Asleep When Body Was Found.

Captain Spohn and Miss Janesto were said to have been in the apartment when Dunlea called shortly after 9 o'clock and discovered that Sutphen had died on a couch some time before. Dunlea was said to have tried to arouse the occupants of the apartment through the telephone operator, Miss Elisabeth Moran of 157 West Ninety-sixth Street. Not meeting with success, it was said that he obtained a pass key to the apartment from an employe in the Turin, discovered that Sutphen was dead, and found Captain Spohn and Miss Janesto and another woman reported to be her sister, asleep in different rooms.

When information about Dunlea having made the discovery leaked out it also was learned that the police had been informed that Sutphen's mother died in Englishtown, N. J., a little more than a week ago, leaving an estate amounting to more than $300,000. Sutphen, it was understood, was a beneficiary of the estate, with his sisters, Mrs. John V. Hulse of Englishtown and Mrs. Mabel Burtt of Freehold, N. J.

Mrs. Hulse and Mrs. Burtt called at the Morgue in the afternoon soon after Dr. Schwartz had announced the result of his autopsy. They identified the body as that of their brother, but refused to make any statement regarding his affairs. They admitted that Sutphen was married, but when asked if his widow would make arrangements for the funeral, Mrs. Hulse replied: "No, we shall take care of the matter and have the body of our brother removed to Englishtown."

The police also were said to have been informed that Sutphen arrived in an automobile at the entrance to the Turin at about 6 o'clock Sunday morning and that he was helped to the elevator by Dunlea and a man named Julius Beerman of 561 West 169th Street, who was said to be the manager of a Broadway cabaret. The police also were told that Sutphen had spent the night at a party in a club in East Fifty-ninth Street, in which he and several friends indulged in much drinking.

Had Another Apartment.

Assistant District Attorney Wilson amplified his previous statement shortly before midnight with the announcement that the investigation would be resumed this morning in the District Attorney's office, and that detectives had been assigned to subpoena several other persons who, it was believed, could throw light on the case.

"At the present time three reasons for the man's death present themselves to us," he said. "The first is that it is possible that Sutphen killed himself, the second is that he may have drunk the poison by accident and the third that he might have been the victim of a plot. Nothing has been developed thus far that justifies us in leaning too strong to any belief regarding the cause of his death. The whole matter will have to be gone into very carefully before we can arrive at a decision regarding the manner in which the man came to his death."

Information obtained by Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, Deputy Medical Examiner, when he visited the apartment at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, indicated that Sutphen also had an apartment in the Spencer Arms, in Broadway, near Sixty-ninth Street. Dr. Gonzales said yesterday that Dr. Morris Kahn, who had an apartment in the Spencer Arms, informed him that he treated Sutphen for overindulgence in liquor in his apartment there last Friday evening.

Separated From His Wife.

Dr. Gonzales said yesterday that when he called to view the body Sunday afternoon he found Miss Janesto, a woman who said she was his sister and Captain Robert C. Spohn in the place. He said he also was told that Sutphen, who was 36 years old, had a wife, who was Miss Adelaide Alres, and a five-year-old daughter in Englishtown, from whom he had been separated for several years.

It was not until several hours after the announcement that Sutphen had died of cyanide of potassium poisoning, however, that Inspector Coughlin, accompanied by Captain Carey and several detectives from the Homicide Squad appeared at the Central Park West apartment and began an examination of desks and closets in the place. Assistant District Attorney Wilson had taken an active interest in the case several hours earlier, after having questioned Detective Sergeant Matthew Solomen of the West 100th Street Station, who was the first official to be assigned to investigate the death of the man, after the report from Acting Chief Medical Examiner Schwartz.

It was learned that after Solomon had questioned Captain Spohn, who said he was an intimate friend of the dead man, he reported to Inspector Coughlin that he was not satisfied that the man had swallowed the poison accidentally or with suicidal intent, and that Inspector Coughlin decided to take personal charge of the case.

Thought Liquor Caused Death.

Dr. Gonzales earlier in the day said that when he arrived at the apartment Captain Spohn and the two women told him that Sutphen had returned at about 4 o'clock. Miss Janesto was said to have told the medical examiner that she and her sister were asleep in a rear room in the apartment when Stuphen, aided by the elevator man in the apartment house, entered, and that Sutphen, after removing his coat, lay down on the couch in the drawing room.

Dr. Gonzales said that they admitted that Sutphen was very drunk, and that it was not until 10 o'clock in the morning that they discovered he was dead. Captain Spohn said that Miss Janesto preceded him into the drawing room, where Sutphen at first appeared to be asleep. Dr. Gonzales said that Captain Spohn told him that Sutphen had been under the care of Dr. Kahn at the Spencer Arms apartment house for alcoholism.

The Deputy Medical Examiner added that he immediately got in touch with Dr. Kahn over the telephone and that the physician told him that he had treated Sutphen in an apartment on the ground floor there and had warned Sutphen that if he didn't stop drinking liquor would kill him.

No Signs of a Struggle.

Dr. Gonzales said that the expensively furnished apartment showed no signs of a struggle having taken place and that he had made an examination of the drawing room for a bottle or a glass from which Sutphen might have taken a drink. He added that Captain Spohn and the two women were frank in their answers to him and he took it for granted that the man had died of alcoholism.

This belief, he added, was strengthened when his attention was called by one of the women to a closet set in the wall of the drawing room in which were about fifteen bottles containing wines, gin, cordials and whiskies. He said that the two women told him that Sutphen was a heavy drinker, but as a precautionary measure he ordered the body sent to the morgue for an autopsy.

After receiving the report of Dr. Schwartz's autopsy, he said, he called on Dr. Kahn at the Spencer Arms apartment, and questioned him about his treatment of Sutphen last Friday evening. Dr. Gonzales said that Dr. Kahn told him that when he was called into Sutphen's apartment on the ground floor of the house there were several other men present.

Dr. Kahn told him, he continued, that when he warned Sutphen that he had better stop drinking, the patient replied: That's all right, doctor, I'm feeling much better now."

Dr. Gonzales said that as he was leaving Dr. Kahn, the latter pointed to the door of an apartment on the ground floor and said that it was in there that he had treated Sutphen, and that Sutphen frequently entertained friends there.

Mr. Wilson discovered that Captain Spohn was a roomer in the apartment in which the prosecutor lives.

It was learned that during his investigation Detective Sergeant Solomen had learned the address of the club in which Sutphen was alleged to have spent Saturday night.

It was announced that the police had seized the fifteen bottles of liquor found in the apartment and would send them to a chemist for analysis. Acting Chief Medical Examiner Schwartz said earlier in the evening that although there was unmistakable evidence that Sutphen had died of cyanide of potassium poisoning, a chemical analysis would be made to officially establish that fact.

It was learned that soon after the discovery of the body of Sutphen the telephone operator in the apartment house, at the request of Captain Spohn, summoned Dr. Frank N. Dealy, who has an office in the Turin. Dr. Dealy said yesterday afternoon that when he viewed the body it was apparent that the man had been dead for more than an hour and that he suggested the police be notified immediately.

SEEK NATION-WIDE GASOLINE INQUIRY

SAYS INDEPENDENTS LOSE

Kansas Official Declares People Should Know If the Market Is Being Manipulated.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 27.—Attorneys General of the various States were asked today by Charles B. Griffith and George F. Short, Attorneys General of Kansas and Oklahoma respectively, to start a nation-wide investigation of the oil industry to determine "if the Standard Oil Company is manipulating the Gasoline market to put 40,000 mid-country producers out of business."

Mr. Griffith, speaking at the opening session of the National Association of Attorneys General, asked that a committee of members make the investigation. This committee, he suggested, should represent the States affected by the gasoline price changes recently, and should make its report to the various States and to the Federal Government.

"There are four companies in Kansas in the Standard Oil Company group," he said. "The Standard Oil Company of Indiana does the refining and distributing. The Prairie Pipe Line Company distributes the product brought by the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, which produces and purchases oil, and the bulk of its sales is to the Standard Oil Company.

"The Standard Oil Company fixes the price of gasoline, the Prairie Oil and Gas Company the price of crude oil, and now this price is higher in our section than in the world market.

"With the price of crude oil high and the price of gasoline low, the independents face going out of business."

Mr. Griffith declared that he considered it "of first importance to determine if the Standard Oil Company is manipulating the market to force out of business all of the producers in the Oklahoma and Kansas pump well fields."

16 SLAYERS IN SING SING.

Number in Death House Smallest In Several Years.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, Aug. 27.—Acting Warden Thomas McInerney announced today that there are now only sixteen prisoners under sentence of death in the Sing Sing death-house, which is the lowest number in several years.

Mrs. Anna Buzzi, charged with killing Frederick Schneider, contractor, in the Bronx, is one of the prisoners. Because she has to have a whole corridor to herself, Warden McInerney has been unable to reduce the number of guards on the death watch. But two corridors, or wings as they are usually called, are used for the fifteen condemned men. William Creasy, one of the fifteen, is due to be released in a day or two, as the Court of Appeals has reversed his conviction of the murder of Miss Edith Lavoy, school teacher of Freeport, L. I. At this time of the year in 1922 there were twenty-four slayers in the death-house.

POLICE FOR CHINESE ROADS.

Government Takes Steps to Create Force Demanded by Diplomats.

PEKING, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—The Ministry of Communications, by way of forestalling the Diplomatic Corps in its proposals for more adequate protection of the railways, announced today the formation of a bureau for the organization and training of railway police, to be attached to the Ministry of Communications under direction of the Vice Minister. Its duty will be to guard all Government railways. Funds for its maintenance will be appropriated from railway receipts.

Provision will be made for the employment of foreign inspectors and instructors, if desired. Such foreign supervision was one of the demands served on the Chinese Government by the Diplomatic Corps as a result of the outrage by the Suchow train bandits.

Hiram Johnson Going Home.

HYLAN AGAIN IS ILL; FEAR OF INFLUENZA

at Washington. He was attended by his family physician, Dr. John A. Ferguson of 932 Bushwick Parkway, Brooklyn, and recovered sufficiently to attend the Harding memorial services at St. Patrick's Cathedral the following Friday and to leave for Saratoga the same day.

Upon his arrival at Saratoga at that time Mayor Hylan was stricken with illness similar to his present attack, except that it apparently was not as severe. His illness did not prevent him from issuing several statements on controversial city matters, which, of course, may have been prepared before his illness. He then declared that he would ignore a letter, written by George McAneny, Chairman of the Transit Commission, suggesting that the Board of Estimate grant franchises to municipal bus operators, and complained that Mr. McAneny had waited until he was ill before writing the letter.

Last March the Mayor had a severe cold which prevented him from seeing Murray Hulbert, President of the Board of Aldermen, off for Cuba, but lost little time from his work.

The Mayor's visit to Chicago and French Lick Springs, which lasted from Nov. 13 to Nov. 26 of last year, and his visit to Palm Beach from Jan. 31 to March 3 of this year were avowedly taken for his health.

The Mayor returned from French Lick Springs seemingly much improved. He acquired a coat of tan from exercise in the open air and play on the golf links and in an interview with newspapermen declared that he was "feeling fine."

Bad Spells of Melancholia.

This improvement did not last and the Mayor experienced frequent attacks of what was described as nervous indigestion before his departure for Palm Beach the following March. At times his condition was such as to alarm his friends seriously. He was reported during this period to have been subject to spells of melancholia, and to have been affected deeply by attacks upon him such as formerly he had treated with indifference or a jest.

Upon one occasion he is reported to have told friends that the people of New York City did not appreciate what he was trying to do for them, and that he was always being misunderstood. His dejection on this occasion was said to have been so great as to cause considerable comment among his intimates. Despite the fact that friends and members of his family tried to get the Mayor to reduce the time spent in his office, he continued to work from 9 in the morning until 5 or 6 in the afternoon or later. His work was cut down somewhat by the appointment of Joseph Isaac, formerly secretary of the Board of Estimate, to the new position of assistant to the Mayor, but the Mayor continued to put in a great deal of time at his work, even out of town.

Murray Hulbert, President of the Board of Aldermen, upon whom fall the duties of the Mayor during the Mayor's absence, is on a vacation trip to the Middle West. William F. Collins, Vice President of the Board of Aldermen, is Acting Mayor in the absence of both Mayor Hylan and Mr. Hulbert.

ROBBERS RAID CLUB AND COLLECT $3,000

Introduce New Technique by Making 18 Members Keep Hands on Table.

THEN TOLD TO SIT ON FLOOR

Four Thugs, Armed With Pistols and Blackjacks, Escaped With Their Loot.

Eighteen members of the S. G. Independent Political Club at 200 East 114th Street were held up Friday night by four well-dressed men armed with revolvers and blackjacks and robbed of $3,000 in cash and jewelry. News of the robbery was withheld until yesterday. New hold-up methods were introduced by the raiders. Instead of ordering their victims to hold up their hands, they were lined up around a pool table and directed to keep their hands on the table while being searched. This process completed, the eighteen men were ordered to sit on the floor and remain there for ten minutes.

The four robbers, all wearing straw hats, rang the bell and were admitted to the club. Then, drawing revolvers and blackjacks, they mobilized the victims about the pool table. Three of the robbers stood guard with their pistols while the fourth, who was short and stocky and had a deep scar on his face, canvassed the pockets.

He went about his work leisurely, spending fifteen minutes on the job. One of the members pleaded with him not to take his $200 stickpin, which was a present from his dead mother, but the robber replied by ripping off the tie with the pin. Another member tried to save a diamond ring by dropping it under the pool table. The hold-up men apparently had anticipated such a ruse as they looked under the table before leaving and found the ring.

After collecting the members' cash and jewelry the visitors asked if there was a phonograph in the place. When it was pointed out to them, one of the men started off with it, but found it too heavy and left it.

After ordering the club members to sit down on the floor, the four backed to the front door and escaped.

The next day one of the victims saw the robber with the scar on Lexington Avenue, between 115th and 116th Streets. He looked around for a policeman, but when he had found one the man had disappeared.

SUPERDREADNOUGHT READY

The Colorado to Be Put in Commission at Camden Thursday.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 27.—Constructed in Camden at the plant of the New York Shipbuilding Company, the superdreadnought Colorado, one of the ships to be retained in the United States Navy under the disarmament treaty, will be placed in commission here Thursday morning.

The Colorado is a sister ship of the West Virginia, which is being finished at the Newport News Shipyard. She measures 624 feet over all, and has a loaded displacement of 33,600 tons, which is 600 tons more than the Idaho. The Colorado has been equipped with eight 16-inch guns, a secondary battery of four 6-inch guns and other defensive equipment of the latest type.

The Colorado was built under the 1916 program, when provisions were made for the construction of ten dreadnoughts and six battle cruisers, to cost about $973,000,000.

B. M. T. SERVICE PLANS PUT TO PATRONS' VOTE

Public Ballot to Determine Schedules of Trains on the Brighton Beach Line.

Passengers of the Brighton Beach line of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Company will determine the new schedules of express and local service which will follow the completion of the lengthening of the station platforms.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by the New York Rapid Transit Corporation, which operates the B. M. T. subways and extensions and which will conduct a referendum on the matter next Thursday at all stations between Ocean Avenue and Parkside Avenue. The votes will be counted by representatives of the Transit Commission. It is expected that the station reconstruction will be sufficiently completed so that the new rush hour service may be begun on Oct. 1.

The statement indicates that the company intends to extend its rush hour express service to Brighton Beach, thus providing both local and express service during the rush hour for the Sheepshead Bay and Brighton Beach stations. At present the rush hour express service terminates at Kings Highway, except after 5:30 P. M.

"One of the routing plans to be voted upon by the passengers provides for express service to Brighton Beach by way of Manhattan Bridge to Times Square, Manhattan, with the local trains operating from Coney Island and Brighton Beach via the Montague Street tunnel," the company's statement said. "Under this plan Brighton Beach line trains marked 'Express' will use the express tracks both in Brooklyn and Manhattan and trains marked 'Local' will use the local tracks both in Brooklyn and Manhattan. This is the simpler plan of the two and if adopted will eliminate the confusion resulting from the present practice of operating Brighton Beach line trains marked 'Express' over the local tracks in Manhattan and those marked 'Local' over the express tracks in Manhattan during the rush hours. It also will provide direct service without transfer from all local stations on the Brighton Beach Line to the Borough Hall section of Brooklyn and downtown Manhattan in the rush hours.

"The second plan outlined in the notice is the present method of operation, except that the express service is extended to Brighton Beach and the local service starts both from Coney Island and Brighton Beach. This plan of operation has been criticized in the past on the ground that during rush hours passengers originating at the local stations on the Brighton Beach line whose places of business are in the Borough Hall section of Brooklyn or lower Manhattan are compelled to transfer to tunnel trains at express stations. It has also been criticized on the ground that the designation of 'Express' and 'Local' trains is confusing to the general public due to the fact that all Brighton Beach line trains operate partly express and partly local in the rush hours and the designations 'Express' and 'Local' apply only to their operation in Brooklyn."

Pamphlets containing an explanation of the two plans and a ballot were distributed to passengers yesterday. The ballots will be collected on Thursday.

SMITH VISITS PLATTSBURG.

Governor Reviews 2,000 Young Men in Military Training Camp.

Special to The New York Times.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The largest crowd of the Summer thronged the parade ground of Plattsburg Barracks this afternoon to see Governor Alfred E. Smith pay an official inspection visit to the C. M. T. camp and review the cadet regiment of 2,000 young men from New York, New Jersey and Delaware.

As the Governor entered the reservation the customary salute of honor was paid him.

A tank demonstration arranged to portray battle conditions was conducted for the candidates before the parade. A platoon of five baby tanks advanced over a rough area while screened by a smoke barrage and assaulted a position previously taken by regulars from the Twenty-sixth Infantry. For half an hour the Adirondacks reverberated with the sound of small arms, machine guns and one-pounders.

The camp will close Wednesday after its four-week period with the final review and presentation of medals and prizes. The students will leave for home on special trains after breakfast Thursday.

The annual track and field championships are scheduled for tomorrow.

Queens Boy Drowned.

Shortly after his parents had notified the Astoria, Queens, police that their son, Harold Morganwick, 6, of 44 Wordell Street, had been missing for several hours, the police notified them by telephone that his body had been found in the East River by Alexander Rugg of 3 Astoria Place.

IRISH CAST VOTES IN QUIET ELECTION

interests are anxious for its continuance, particularly in view of the floating of an Irish loan and for the purpose of impressing investors with a belief in the Government's stability.

Estimates of de Valera victories, including his own, vary from twelve to thirty. As the Republicans will boycott the Parliament, President Cosgrave's position seems secure; in their absence he will have a better chance of a majority composed of pledged supporters.

A motor car carrying James Crowley and the Minister of Fisheries, Finian Lynch, both of whom are candidates of the Government party for Kerry, was attacked by a hostile crowd while passing through Listowel yesterday. Shots were fired and one young man was seriously injured.

The eleventh-hour appearances of some of the other Dail candidates were marked by rough tactics. While President Cosgrave was speaking yesterday at Waterford a procession of supporters of Captain Redmond, Independent, came marching on the scene amid the blare of several bands, which made the President's remarks inaudible.

This went on for a short time, when a few of the invaders began firing revolvers, causing part of the crowd to stampede. Several persons are reported to have been injured. In the melee which followed, according to Redmond's supporters, the bands were attacked and their cornets and trombones were thrown into the river.

President Cosgrave resumed his address as soon as quiet was restored.

At Longford, Westmeath, Frank McGuinness and F. W. Shaw, Government candidates, were attacked. They were not greatly harmed but were prevented from speaking.

Showers in the Afternoon.

Copyright, 1923, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

DUBLIN, Aug. 27.—The weather favored the polling in Dublin this morning but there were showers this afternoon. It is believed the polling was heavy. Good order prevailed, no untoward incidents being reported.

It is generally believed that all the Ministers were returned and that the party figures are substantially in this order—Government, Farmers, Labor, Independents, Republicans. All forecasts place the Republicans at the bottom. The Government will be able to carry on without a coalition, is the general opinion.

Minister of Commerce McGrath will have a difficult fight in Sligo, where he is opposed by Mr. Rutledge, Ramon de Valera's deputy.

Several independents, like Gavan Duffy and Figgis, without organization or financial backing, are likely to be swamped. Duffy is one of the signatories to the treaty. He held only one meeting, and that last night, when he denied the allegation of Kevin O'Higgins that he had resigned through cowardice. He resigned because he thought the Government was not going straight, he said.

General Richard Mulcahey will top the poll at North Dublin, Kevin O'Higgins in County Dublin, and it is believed Mr. de Valera will top the poll in Clare, but elsewhere the Republicans will make a poor showing.

A remarkable feature of the elections is the absence of the influence of Jim Larkin. He had promised to be a candidate, but he failed to be nominated. Only two labor candidates are receiving his casual support and neither is regarded as likely to be elected. Mr. Larkin's influence is regarded as having been exploded. In addressing a labor meeting last night he complained that labor would lose $100,000 by making the polling day a general holiday. He advised the men to go to their places of employment and demand work. This was done in some places and the men were allowed to work. Mr. Larkin's anxiety for the lost wages does not extend to the dockers, who, at his instigation, have been idle several weeks in consequence of a decision to cut their wages, the same as in England.

Reports from the Provinces indicate a general quiet. In County Wicklow one candidate was stoned. In Donegal many bed-ridden people voted.

During the early hours this morning, Dublin was startled with an outbreak of firing, reminiscent of olden times. The mystery was explained tonight. Half a dozen snipers made a running attack on Mount Joy Prison and the North Dublin Union Detention Camp. The guards at these places replied vigorously and quite a lot of ammunition was expended. A bugle sounded cease fire after a time and Dublin slept again.

A Waterford evening newspaper which has been supporting Mrs. Brugha, local Republican candidate, was burned down early this morning. The damage is estimated at $30,000. Locally it is believed the fire was caused maliciously.

Heavy Vote in Cork.

CORK, Aug. 27.—A continuous stream of electors to the polls throughout the day gave evidence of the intense interest that is being taken in the Cork elections. Good order prevailed everywhere and the only duty of the civic guard was to regulate the queues of voters. Four arrests for attempted impersonation were reported.

BELFAST, Aug. 27.—Polling in the Dail elections in County Louth today was marked by the apathetic attitude of the voters in general. The Republicans showed the greatest activity, rallying their forces with the slogan: "Aitken and Peace." Frank Aitken is now active head of the Republicans as chief of staff. A peculiar aspect of the polling in Donegal was the employment of officials from the six county area of Ulster.

PIES NEARLY WRECK AIR RECORD EFFORT

BUT HE REGAINS MACHINE

And With Capt. Lowell Continues 92-Mile Clip to Set Three New Marks.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 27.—Two blackberry pies in a metal-lined bucket to which was attached fifty pounds of lead nearly wrecked the hopes of Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant John Richter, who are trying for world air record laurels here today. The incident occurred about noon, when the fliers, after going aloft at 5:04 o'clock and covering 750 miles at an average speed of 92.44 miles an hour, signaled for luncheon.

Another airplane went aloft and made contact with Smith and Richter's craft, lowering the pies and some sandwiches. Richter was standing in the cockpit and had grasped the bucket containing the food when a sudden gust of wind caused the upper plane to nose up. For a few seconds Richter, clinging to the bucket, was suspended in midair.

Captain Robert G. Ervin, pilot of the contact plane, quickly whipped the nose of his plane downward and Richter settled back in his seat with the pies and sandwiches in his hands.

The aviators set a 92-mile pace all day on the fifty-kilometer course. In their effort to break the world's endurance, distance and speed records for 2,500 kilometers and over. Fuel, lubricating oil and food were taken aboard in several mid-air contacts.

At 4 o'clock tomorrow morning if the fliers still are in the air, the first world's speed record will be broken. This is for 2,500 kilometers. Every four hours thereafter until the 4,000 kilometer mark is reached the aviators will smash speed records now held by Lieutenants Oakley Kelly and John MacReady. No records have been established by any American or European aviator for distance greater than 4,000 kilometers.

SPEEDS FROM BANDITS.

Palisade Park Man Steps on Gas, Escaping With His $5,000.

Four masked men in an auto last night fired more than twenty shots at George A. Noffka, owner of a restaurant and candy ship at Palisade Amusement Park, on the Gorge Road, in an attempt to rob him of $5,000, which he carried. Noffka got away by stepping on the gas. His mother, Mrs. Katie Noffka, with whom he lives at 231 Grant Avenue, Grantwood, N. J., was with him.

Noffka put $5,000, the week's receipts, in a package and started for the Cliffside Park National Bank in a sedan automobile. Presently an auto came from behind and drew alongside. Four men pointed revolvers at Noffka and ordered him to stop. Instead he stepped on the accelerator and shot ahead at high speed. The bandit car followed, its occupants pumping shots at Noffka.

The race continued for a mile, Noffka said. One rear tire of Noffka's automobile was punctured and several bullets were imbedded in the body of the machine. Near Cliffside the bandit car turned off the road and gave up the chase.

Two years ago a similar attempt was made to rob Noffka of $12,000.

INCINERATORS A PROBLEM.

Brooklyn Protests Against Them Stir Street Cleaning Official.

If residents of Brooklyn persist in their objection to the erection of incinerators, the Street Cleaning Department will be forced to seek the enactment of a law compelling each locality to maintain its own incinerator for the disposal of garbage, Commissioner Alfred A. Taylor declared yesterday in reply to the protests of Brownsville and Bensonhurst who have objected to the erection of city incinerators in their districts.

"The Street Cleaning Department is like a waif whom nobody wants," Mr. Taylor said. "As soon as we plan a new incinerator, residents of the district in which it is to be located flock to this office and demand 'why pick on us?' Or if the incinerator is located in some out-of-the-way spot which later is built up, the residents demand that we get out. Yet, if we don't dispose of the garbage, a terrible cry is made."

Mr. Taylor denied the contention of Governor Silzer of New Jersey that the New Jersey beaches were littered with garbage dumped by New York City scows. "Government inspectors," Mr. Taylor said, "report that the city scows have in no instance been found to dump nearer than fifteen miles from the New Jersey shore. They agree that garbage dumped at the city's dumping grounds could not possibly reach the New Jersey beaches."

SPANISH PRINCES NOT ILL.

Royal Embassy in Paris Denies American Doctor Attends Them.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Published reports to the effect that an American doctor had been called in to attend the Prince of the Asturias and Don Jaime, sons of the King of Spain, drew a denial today in the form of a statement issued by the Spanish Embassy here. The statement read:

"On several occasions an American doctor has published in the newspapers of various countries information regarding so-called medical intervention on his part in attendance on the Prince of the Asturias and Don Jaime, thus giving rise to alarming reports about the health of these two Princes.

"The Spanish Embassy is authorized to deny these reports most formally as contrary to the truth at every point. The health of the two sons of the King of Spain is happily excellent and does not demand the care of any specialists."

WOMAN'S ANNOYER HELD.

Sanity of Writer of Letters of Proposal Will Be Tested.

For writing several letters containing proposals of marriage to Miss Anna Slade of Nepperhan Heights, Yonkers, Thomas Corcoran, 54 years old, was arrested and remanded in Yonkers City Court yesterday for examination as to his sanity. He was trapped on the grounds of Miss Slade's home after Police Captain John A. Cahill had sent a policeman to protect her.

Corcoran, who was charged with disorderly conduct, said he lives at 10 Ashburton Avenue, Yonkers. In court Miss Slade said that she did not care to press a complaint against the man but wished to have him stop annoying her.

Miss Slade, according to information reaching the police, belongs to a family which made a fortune in the cotton business in New England.

Wide Range of Wave Length

This set allows very flexible tuning—excellent reception being possible over wave lengths from 150 to 3,000 meters. This great flexibility makes this set one of unusually wide appeal. With it the advanced amateur is certain to get satisfying results, and the beginner is assured the reception of signals up to 3,000 meters — a very important item since the wave lengths of many stations are being advanced.

Automatic Filament Control

The amplifier tube filaments do not light until the plug has been inserted in the proper jack. This further simplifies the operation of this set.

30-Ohm Rheostats

These rheostats allow the low power tubes to be used with perfect safety under all working conditions. They also permit of very fine filament adjustment.

Excellent Construction

The cabinet is of solid Walnut with cover fitted with full length piano hinge; bus bar wiring is heavy; all battery connections are made in the rear of the cabinet; the binding posts are the well known Eby make—the tops WON'T come off. All of these details of construction plus the carefully polished beauty of the set make it especially desirable.

CROTON POINT SOLD TO COUNTY FOR PARK

Westchester Acquires 300-Acre Tract for Price Said to Be $360,000.

NEGRO BIDDERS LOSE OUT

Harlem Group Negotiated for Land to Build Resort for Their Race.

The Westchester County Park Commission stepped in yesterday and bought Croton Point, on the Hudson River near Harmon, a few hours after a syndicate of Harlem negroes announced it expected to purchase the 300-acre tract for an all-year negro "Atlantic City."

The tract was sold by the Uppercu Cadillac Company, owner, at 1,881 Broadway, for a reported consideration of $360,000. The negro syndicate had offered $500,000. William Delavan Baldwin, President of the Otis Elevator Company and Chairman of the Park Commission, said last night the county's acquisition would be improved and made into an attractive public park, as part of the county's $2,000,000 park-extension program.

Permanent disposition of Croton Point was welcomed by many Westchester County residents who had started agitation against the proposed negro colony. They urged that this would jeopardize their own bungalow holdings on the point and on a stretch of land and beach adjoining to the north.

This latter section is owned by the New York Central Railroad and leased to the East Hudson Development Company, which operates it in conjunction with the Croton Point property. The development company's lease on Croton Point proper has until about next April to run, when active work on its transformation into a park site will begin, Mr. Baldwin said.

County officials last night would not be quoted on reports that this agitation had influenced the purchase of Croton Point as a means toward blocking the Harlem promoters. Nevertheless, it was learned that, officially or not, plans to this end have been under consideration at White Plains, the county seat.

Frank disappointed was acknowledge by Robert W. Justice of 447 Lenox Avenue, head of the negro syndicate, already known as "The Croton Point Development Corporation," when his first inkling that the riverfront location had slipped out of its hands was brought him last night by THE NEW YORK TIMES.

He said that he and his five associates, well-to-do Harlem merchants, thought they had a verbal option on the property until Sept. 12 with Inglis M. Uppercu, one of the three owners.

Mr. Justice said Harlem residents had subscribed for lots in the proposed colony for an aggregate of $500,000.

Yesterday's transfer was arranged quietly in Manhattan, the contracts being signed by the Uppercu interests and by Chairman Baldwin for the Park Commission, acting for Westchester County. Mr. Baldwin's only comment was that the county Board of Supervisors is to appropriate $2,000,000 for the use of the Park Commission, to carry out its plan of establishing a great system of parks and parkways, which will be linked up with the Bronx River parkway system.

Croton Point is a Revolutionary landmark. Guns mounted there turned back the Vulture as it was stealing up the river to take off Major André after his negotiations with Benedict Arnold for West Point.

BELGIAN NOTE DELIVERED.

10,000-Word Reply to Britain Will Be Made Public Today.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 27.—The Belgian reply to the British note was delivered at an early hour this morning to Sir George Grahame, the British Ambassador here. The reply was drafted by Premier Theunis and Foreign Minister Jaspar with a sincere desire to help in the search for a solution of the reparations problem.

It contains no new suggestion, but an endeavor has been made to be as precise as possible. Considerable space is taken up with justification of Belgian priority and there are references to the sacrifices made by Belgium in defense of the right. The note calls to mind the deportations to Germany which inflicted great suffering on the Belgian working classes. It also makes reference to the destruction of factories.

These facts are set forth without the least trace of bitterness and are preceded by recognition of the unforgettable sacrifices made by Great Britain in the war from the moment when Belgium became the victim of aggression.

The reply does not linger on the question of the legality of the occupation of the Ruhr. It desires an investigation of the means to put an end to the occupation and recalls the decision taken by France and Belgium at the meeting in Brussels that passive resistance must be abandoned before the opening of negotiations with Germany, and that these negotiations could lead to evacuation of the Ruhr in proportion to the fulfillment by Germany of her obligations.

In conclusion the Belgian reply considers that a way may perhaps be opened to direct negotiations between the Allies. The Belgian Government has endeavored to demonstrate that the basis of an agreement can be found.

The note will be made public tomorrow.

PARIS SINGER A SUICIDE.

Mme. Dorska, Opera Comique Favorite, Shot Herself Before Mirror.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—One of the most promising artistes of the Opéra Comique, Mme. Mary Dorska, shot and killed herself yesterday. She had been a member of the company for three years and had attained striking success with the public through her talent and personal charm, successfully singing such rôles as Tosca and Manon.

Some months ago she was injured in an automobile accident, and it is conjectured that the fact that this forced her to interrupt her work may have reacted upon her highly strung nerves. A week ago she attempted to take her life by swallowing veronal.

Yesterday, having dressed herself in white from head to foot, she stood in front of a full-length mirror in her boudoir and shot herself through the head. Death was instantaneous.

She belonged to an excellent family and was formerly the Baroness Dupont.

THIEVES IGNORE ALARM.

Rob Store of $8,000 in Furs While Burglar System Rings.

Disregarding an electric alarm, which rang out their presence, burglars who worked at top speed raided the fur shop of S. Harris, at 602 Fifth Avenue, picked out six fur coats, valued at $8,000, and escaped as detectives hurried to the store. Although the burglary occurred Friday night, police have no clue to the identity of the men, it was learned yesterday.

The men entered the building through a freight entrance on Fifty-second Street and mounted to the Harris store on the third floor. A sign warned them that the shop was guarded by an electric burglar alarm. They cut away the glass of the door and turned the lock from the inside, as they did so the alarm was set off. Agents of the company operating the burglar alarm system arrived five minutes afterward to find the burglars gone.

As individual and charming as the new fall gowns

Sheathed in their silken folds, their handles topped with strange pagodas and other quaintly carved designs of unmistakable Chinese or Persian origin, can it be that these umbrellas have taken inspiration from the fall gowns displayed in the French openings?

Certainly they are dominated by the same "newness," a different look that makes them intriguing and desirable.

JERSEY RESIDENTS PASS ON BUS PLAN

JITNEY MEN ACTIVE, TOO

Get 35,000 "Anti" Signers in Newark Alone—Hearing Is Scheduled for Today.

Residents of New Jersey affected by the trolley strike were busy yesterday signing petitions for or against the proposed plan of the Public Service Railway Company to take over the jitney bus lines of the State and operate them in conjunction with the surface cars on a 7-cent fare basis.

It was said that more than 37,000 petitions favoring the plan had been sent to the office of the Public Utility Commissioners. Jitney owners, who are circulating an opposition petition which requests they be given a 15-year franchise to operate at a 5-cent fare, said they had obtained 35,000 signatures in Newark alone.

Interest today will centre on the hearing the Utility Commissioners will hold, at which the railroad company will outline its plan. Counsel representing the jitney owners as well as officials of the 146 municipalities served by the company's lines will attend the meeting in Newark. In order to accommodate the crowd which is expected, the hearing will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Building, 24 Brandford Street.

County detectives yesterday began an investigation to determine the origin of acts of sabotage uncovered at New Brunswick, where twenty jitney buses chartered in two garages were found damaged. The cars had been put out of running by some one who had entered the garages during the night and removed the wiring of the batteries. So thoroughly had the damage been done that none of the cars could be used yesterday. Residents of the Lincoln Gardens section, served by the buses, had to walk. Buses from Perth Amboy were diverted in the afternoon to relieve the situation.

MAN KILLED IN A FIGHT.

One of Several in Eighth Avenue Battle Is Held Without Bail.

James Flynn, 876 West Forty-third Street, was struck on the head and died of a fractured skull early yesterday morning during a fight at Eighth Avenue and Forty-third Street. William Lynch, 801 West 113th Street, was arrested at his home by Detective Sergeants O'Donnell, Moore and Leech.

The detectives learned that the fight started because of a remark made by a taxicab driver about one of two young women who were passing with several men. Flynn, it was said, was standing beside the man who made the remark. The men with the young women, the police said, attacked Flynn and several others.

Telephone messages to the station brought the detectives. Before their arrival, however, the belligerents had disappeared. Flynn was found lying unconscious in the hallway of a tenement in West Forty-third Street. He was removed to Bellevue Hospital, but died a few minutes later. Dr. McCue said that the man evidently had been struck on the head with a blackjack and had been stabbed several times about the body.

Lynch denied that he had struck Flynn, according to the police, but admitted that he had participated in the fight. Other arrests are expected. Lynch was held without bail by Magistrate House in Homicide Court for examination Aug. 30.

3 CANDIDATES CHANGED.

Delaney, Baum and Ulrich Named by Queens Republicans.

Changes in designations for three candidates for nomination in the coming primary election were made at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Queens County Republican Committee held in Republican Headquarters in Long Island City yesterday. Joseph De Bragga, Chairman of the Queens Executive Committee and Republican county leader, presided. He would make no comment on the coming primary election except to say that as far as he knew there was no real opposition to any of the regular designated candidates.

The substitutions announced were: John W. Delaney of Astoria for August Droege of Astoria as assemblyman in the First Assembly District; Henry Baum of Ridgewood for Philip Heuss of Ridgewood as assemblyman in the Fifth Assembly District, and Henry J. Ulrich of Ridgewood for Baum as alderman in the Fifty-ninth Aldermanic District.

SAYS CANAL NETS $500,000 A MONTH

Paying More Than 3 Per Cent. on Investment, Asserts Col. Morrow, Zone Governor.

JULY TOLLS $2,124,399

According to Colonel Jay J. Morrow, Governor of the Canal Zone, who arrived here yesterday on the Grace Line steamship Santa Ana, a profit of approximately $500,000 a month is being made by the Panama Canal.

"The canal is now paying more than 3 per cent. on the investment," said the Governor. "It costs about $200,000 a month to operate the waterway that divides North and South America. During the first fifteen days of August more than $1,000,000 in tolls was received. This is a high total, but if that rate is maintained until the end of the month the total will still fall short of the mark established in July, when $2,124,399 was taken, which was a record."

Colonel Morrow said the Canal had been in operation for nine years on Aug. 14, 1923. During that period, he said, 20,474 vessels had passed through the waterway, which carried 34,234,474 tons of cargo and paid tolls amounting to $76,549,846, of which $17,800,000 was paid during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923.

There are 2,000 Americans and 12,000 Jamaicans working on the Panama Canal, the Governor added. Earth slides are few now and not serious.

The Governor is on his annual trip to Washington to confer with budget officials on the appropriations for the Canal Zone, and will discuss Canal problems with Secretary of War Weeks. He is accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Agnes M. Scandrett, who had been visiting the Canal Zone.

George S. Sammons of the International Petroleum Company of Toronto, Canada, returned from a trip to Peru, where, he said, the oil production had doubled in the last four years, and is expected to do the same again in the next four years.

VERA CRUZ STRIKE IS DECLARED OFF

POLICE AIDED THE STRIKERS

Public Defied Both With Arms and Was Backed by the Central Government.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—Vera Cruz resumed communication with the outside world today when the railway lines entering the port were again in operation after a five-day tie-up. The labor dispute that had isolated the city ended last evening after a conference between representatives of the Confederation of Railway Men's Societies and the Workers' League of the Vera Cruz Maritime Zone.

The general strike in Vera Cruz, which followed the differences between the two labor factions, is virtually at an end, according to the latest reports from the city.

At the conclusion of last evening's conference the Confederation agreed to lift the boycott against Vera Cruz, which had been invoked when the Workers' League attempted to impose its authority upon Vera Cruz locals of the Confederation.

The termination of the general strike, it is reported, was effected by the determined attitude of the moderate laborites and the consumers toward the strikers and the Vera Cruz police. When the latter attempted to enforce orders against the opening of the stores and theatres, the consumers of the city appeared arms, banded together and defied the strikers and police to interfere.

The victory of the moderate elements over those termed "the Communists" was assured, it is understood, when the municipal authorities received orders from the central Government to guarantee the rights of all persons against violation by the strikers' committee.

FOR FOREIGN TRADE STUDY.

Committee Urges Exchange of Students Among Nations.

Establishment of facilities in this country for international exchange of commercial students is recommended by the Foreign Commerce Department Committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in a report just made public. It is the opinion of the committee that "international exchange of students makes for better understanding between nations, and consequently for more cordial international relations."

The committee points out that its investigation of the subject disclosed that the numerous existing arrangements for foreign study on the part of Americans were principally in connection with art, literature and the sciences and that few organized facilities existed for the interchange of commercial students. Similarly, the committee reports a lack of organized facilities for young business students in foreign countries to get any real practical contacts with business in the United States.

According to the committee, the results obtained from having engineers, doctors of medicine and dentistry and other professional men of foreign countries trained in the United States have impressed American business men. Likewise, the committee believes that it will benefit American business in general to have young foreign business students acquire a familiarity with business practices in the United States, as well as from having young American students learn trade customs, trade practices, trade institutions, languages, and so on, in foreign countries.

The committee considers the problem of organizing facilities for effective international student exchange to be of much greater importance than the furnishing of financial assistance in the form of great free scholarship funds. The report points to the various American Chambers of Commerce abroad and the offices of the Government Departments of Commerce and State as possible agencies for co-operation in setting up the mechanism required for taking care of young American students wishing to profit by foreign residence. In the United States the committee looks to the many Chambers of Commerce and educational institutions for assistance in providing the required facilities for young foreigners coming to the United States.

It is recommended that the Foreign Commerce Department of the chamber should give continuing attention to this work of organizing facilities, and American business concerns are advised to consider offering facilities for foreigners to learn something about business in the United States and offering facilities for Americans to study business abroad. The report says that it is only when officials of the individual business concerns in the United States accept some real initiative for furthering such international student exchange directly that American business can benefit from this movement.

Willis H. Booth, Vice President of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York and President of the International Chamber of Commerce, is Chairman of the committee making this report. Consideration of the subject was in the hands of a sub-committee consisting of Everit B. Terhune, Treasurer and General Manager of The Boot and Shoe Recorder Publishing Company, Boston, Mass.; Frank H. Taylor, President of the S. S. White Dental Manufacturing Company, Philadelphia, Pa., and Louis S. Goldstein, President of the Louis Goldstein & Sons Company, New Orleans, La.

CANADIAN WHEAT CROP.

Canadian wheat crop condition on July 31 indicates a production of 382,514,000 bushels, or 17,272,000 bushels less than last year, according to a telegram received by the United States Department of Agriculture from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa. The production last year was 399,786,000 bushels, and the decrease from last year's crop is in spite of an acreage increase this year of 411,000 acres.

The general crop conditions on July 31 were favorable, especially in Saskatchewan and Alberta, where wheat and oats were above average. In Manitoba there was some damage to wheat during July by rust and sawfly.

The oat crop on the basis of the July 31 condition is estimated at 448,650,000 bushels, compared with 71,385,000 bushels last year; fall rye 19,770,000 bushels for the Prairie Province only; Spring rye 8,049,000 bushels. All rye production in 1923 was 23,378,000 bushels.

The flaxseed crop this year is estimated at 5,607,000 bushels, compared with 5,008,000 bushels last year. The potato crop will be 56,251,000 bushels, compared with 53,785,000 bushels last year.

SOVIET HAS COPYRIGHT PLAN

It Is Proposed to Restore the Privileges Abolished in 1917.

MOSCOW, Aug. 27.—The copyright for authors, abolished in 1917, is to be legally re-established in Russia. The Commissar of Education has proposed that the Council of Commissars grant a personal and inheritable copyright covering literary, musical and theatrical productions, translations, films, photographs and technical plans.

It is proposed to fix the guarantee for a period of ten years in each case with the exception of photographs, for which a copyright period of three years is proposed.

Some Things You Should Know About

"Sealect"

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

The First "Grade A" Milk

The first bottled milk to bear a specific mark designating a specific quality

In creating a class and name for our best grade of milk we demonstrated the feasibility of milk grading just as we had demonstrated the value of milk pasteurization. One followed the other as a natural sequence.

We led the way in pasteurization. Now it is compulsory on other dealers. We led the way in milk grading, now milk grading is officially recognized by our sanitary code.

We graded our milk before legal standards for "Grade A" Milk were known. We made a set of rules for "Grade A" Milk that represented our own ideas of what "Grade A" Milk should be and we have kept to these standards with a care and watchfulness that few food products ever get.

The farms that produce "Sealect" must be conducted on lines of sanitation that would have been thought impossible 50 years ago. The cows on these farms are individually and regularly examined by trained veterinarians. Every precaution is taken to keep the bacteria count down to a wonderfully low degree.

In "Sealect" cleanliness is carried to extremes at every step in production and bottling.

We pay the farmer a handsome premium for these things and hold him to his bargain.

Then this fine milk is pasteurized as milk should be pasteurized. And finally capped with a seal that keeps it just as it should be kept. You can pay more for milk, but nowhere can you get a finer, cleaner, safer product than "Sealect."

Every bottle of "Sealect" represents the cumulative experience of nearly 85 years of continuous service in the milk industry. Your order will receive prompt attention. A postal will bring one of our wagons to your door.

INSISTS HE BOUGHT 'TRIUMPH' STATUE

E. K. Gradinger Says It Will Be Placed in Metropolitan Museum.

LAWYER DISPUTES CLAIM

Agent of Californian Who Brought It Here Asserts Deal Fell Through.

E. K. Gradinger, formerly of Vienna and China, announced yesterday that the matter of the ownership of Hegenbarth's statue "Triumph" had been definitely settled last Saturday, that he and a group of his friends had bought the marble from J. C. Berendsen of San Francisco, who brought it from Vienna some time ago, and that it was to be placed in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

"Title to the statue was delivered to me in the Lawyers Title and Trust Company," he declared. "Mr. Schooner, in the legal department there, acted as attorney for myself and some friends in the matter. How much did we pay for it? That's a matter I don't care to discuss. All I want to say is that the matter is settled, and I don't care to discuss what other people have been saying about my connection with the statue."

Alfred Fuchs, a lawyer, at 145 West Forty-fifth Street, said it was not his understanding that Berendsen had succeeded in disposing of the statue. He said he had received a letter in the latter part of last week, dated at San Francisco, by Berendsen on Aug. 20, in which Berendsen, who is in the millinery business there, informed him that somebody in this city had been negotiating for the purchase of "Triumph," but that the deal had fallen through because the "somebody" did not put up an initial payment, in accordance with an agreement.

Sends Wire to Berendsen.

He added that he sent a telegram to Berendsen yesterday morning, based on a statement published in THE NEW YORK TIMES, in which Berendsen was represented as having declared that the statue still was his property but that he was not averse to having somebody take it off his hands at a reasonable figure because it was proving quite an expense.

Mr. Fuchs also said that he had asked Berendsen to give him full information about the negotiations which, according to the letter of Aug. 20, had failed of accomplishment in regard to the sale of the statue. Berendsen had retained him as attorney in connection with the disposition of the statue, he explained, and he felt that if a sale had been effected he should be about the first person in this city to be informed about the matter.

When Gradinger was telling about the purchase of the statue and the decision to place it in the Metropolitan Museum he added:

"In a few days I shall produce documents showing that I am the legal representative here of the Kuenstlerhaus, a Vienna association of artists, of which Professor Ernest Hegenbarth, creator of "Triumph," is the President.

Silent on Consul's Charge.

He would not make any comment, he said, on the statement of the Austrian Consul General here last Friday that Gradinger had no official connection with the Kuenstlerhaus.

"I was the chief sales manager for the Kuenstlerhaus in Vienna when Mr. Berendsen bought the statue," he went on. "When it got to this country he asked me to aid him in disposing of it. I introduced him to Mr. Fuchs, whom I had met a short time before. That's how Mr. Fuchs came into the matter."

To bear out his statement that Berendsen had enlisted his services, Gradinger declared that Berendsen, knowing not the slightest thing about art and the manner in which the statue should be offered to the American public for sale, had left the matter of placing it on exhibition to him.

"This whole thing has placed me in a peculiar position, but my friends know me and my enemies shall learn that what I have done and said in the matter was justified," he added.

CHINESE FLAG DELAYS BOAT

Hung Wrong Side Up, It Retards Excursion Until Set Right.

Departure of 650 Chinese business men of the Hon Luck Association and numerout white guests aboard the iron steamboat Sirius for an excursion yesterday to Reton Point, Conn., was delayed nearly an hour owing to a controversy as to whether the flag of the Chinese Republic was hanging correctly.

The flag, which is striped with ten colors, was upside down, according to the Chairman of the Entertainment Committee. Some of the Chinese group held it was hanging correctly.

The matter was finally settled when Lieutenant William Davis of the Marine Police called the Chinese Consul, who said the flag was hung upside down. After a long harangue, its position was changed and the Sirius sailed amid cheers of the Chinese.

There are Good Reasons for Peerless Superiorities
But First Let Performance Speak for Itself

All those things in which our owners say the New Peerless excels—such as ease of riding and control and a seemingly limitless supply of power, even flowing yet instantly responsive—are, of course, the direct result of painstaking effort.

There are consequently tangible reasons why the New Peerless is able to provide its owners with a new and better type of motoring. These reasons, which have to do with design, construction and workmanship, explain from a technical standpoint the widely acknowledged Peerless superiorities.

The average motorist, however, is less interested in matters of engineering and design, than he is in results. When the final word has been said, it is still the performance, that counts.

It is apparent from the testimony of our owners that these advances in engineering and design that mark the New Peerless do give very definite results—results that they can only describe as "a new experience," or a "new type of performance."

It is for this reason we suggest you ride in the New Peerless yourself. After you have experienced Peerless performance we will gladly explain the whys and wherefores; but first of all please accept our invitation to ride in the car.

Peerless

A tip to drivers—and pedestrians too

By THE VETERAN MOTORIST

I SUPPOSE it's because I've driven around so much in the last fifteen years that I've seen about twice as many accidents as the average motorist. Can't begin to remember them all, but I know a lot were connected with passing trolleys.

One special reason for this lies in the different rules and regulations that prevail in different localities. In some places you may not pass a standing trolley at all, and there the pedestrian crossing the street should be perfectly safe from automobiles, so long as the trolley remains standing. In other places motors may pass a standing trolley "with due care" or "not less than" six or eight feet away; in these cases both driver and pedestrian ought to watch their going mighty carefully.

My best advice is to keep up to date on your own local rules about passing trolleys, etc., and follow them scrupulously. When you are away from home, and may not know all the local provisions, abide by the strictest rules for safety that you do know.

Now is the Time

May we suggest that now is the best time to choose your fall clothes?

Most men wait until the eleventh hour to buy any article of attire. Then their choice is necessarily more hurried; the range of selection, perhaps, not so good; and fitting is done under less favorable circumstances.

Prudent purchasers who like to make their selections in a leisurely manner and consider appearance, fit and value carefully, will find our show rooms a cool and pleasant place to visit.

THE SCREEN

A Family Feud.

Family feuds have not been popular with producers for some time; all of those stories, like the horse-racing picture, seem to have been adapted from much the same idea. In "To the Last Man," which is emblazoned in a shadowy way this week upon the Rialto screen, they have based the production upon the usual idea, injecting into the film a sequence much the same as the big dramatic incident in "The Girl of the Golden West." In the latter there was the gambling Sheriff upon whose lately cambric handkerchief fell drops of blood from the wounded man above. In "To the Last Man" a discovery of the hiding place of the hero is made through blood upon the ladder-rungs. First the heroine finds the blood, and then one of the villains, after handling the girl in a very rough manner, observes the red stains upon her hand. He is a pretty good detective, for the instant he sees the crimson on the palm of the girl's hand he goes to the ladder, looks up and seems to remember what happened in "The Girl of the Golden West," and forthwith scents that the hero is concealing himself somewhere in the loft.

Then Ellen Jorth, played by Lois Wilson, meets Jean Isbel, one of the men of the rival family. Eventually she hates him, and when Jean leaves present at their trysting place, Ellen, to show her contempt for the Isbels, and Jean in particular, kicks the packsaw all the way home. There is plenty of shooting and fighting in this picture. It has to be this way to live up to the title, for one is aware that in the end only Richard Dix, who plays Jean, is left on the land of the living, ready for the forgiveness of the heroine.

So one after another each male member of the two families is shot off—and sold off. Where guns are not used for the slaughter, knives come into play, because they do not make as much noise. It is only by the merest chance, and possibly at the command of the director, that Ellen does not slay Jean. She looks at the gun long enough, and has every opportunity to pot him off, but weakens. After wasting afternoon and lengthening shadows, Jean (God-naturedly believes something has prevented Ellen from keeping her usual appointment.

The gun-play keeps the drummer in the Rialto on the alert, making the sounds for the cracking rifles. First an Isbel child is shot by the cowardly Jorths, and then Gaston Isbel is betrayed after his challenge has been accepted by Lee Jorth. So the murdering starts, and Noah Beery and another man are left to hold up the notorious Jorths. The constant flashing of guns has inspired the photographer himself to make some excellent shots, the sole relief from the monotony of the Jorth squabbles.

Richard Dix, and occasionally the other male players, resort to posing, realising evidently that this is a picture for fighting men. One posture by Dix looked very much like Walter Hagen's footwork at the end of a 250-yard drive. It's all right on the tee, but a little flimsy on a mountain road. Dix probably felt a bit swanky after all the men he had licked and killed.

Once in the hay-now the hero is able to take notice, but because he has been shot through the arm he can't sit up. Below, that brute Colter has Ellen at his mercy. Colter clutches at the sleeve of Ellen's crudely made dress-and off comes the whole sleeve. The director was on the job that time, you see. Then Colter and Ellen, under the peeping eye of the wounded Jean, sway back and forth in one of those motion picture clinches between man and woman. Then Lois Wilson is as good as can be expected in this film, and Noah Beery as Colter is convincing. In fact, the only persons who carries to extremes his screen knowledge is Dix. This is one of those pictures that give one a distinct yawning, and as darkness reigns in the theatre one does not even have to bother to put one's hand before the offending mouth. There were quite a number of yawns in the Rialto yesterday.

Lions, Love and Explosives.

THE ELEVENTH HOUR, with Charles Jones, Shirley Mason, June Elvidge, Alan Hale, Walter McGrail, directed by Bernard J. Durning; Cameo Magazine, "The Rainstorm," and Imperial comedy; "The Cat That Failed," an "Aesop Fable"; Cameo Concert Orchestra. At the Cameo.

After groping one's way out of the Cameo, where "The Eleventh Hour" is holding forth, there comes a feeling that one has seen a serial, a Drury Lane melodrama, four or five other films, and also added to the feverish time by a visit to the bowels of a steel factory, coupled with an exciting hour with destroyers and submarines in the United States Navy.

"Buck" Jones that was, and Charles Jones that is, plays the hero; he is far better suited to the cowboy roles he had in other days. Shirley Mason portrays Barbara Hacket, apparently the woman daughter of a wealthy steel man. Toward the end of this picture she slips her dainty hand through the portieres of the villain's rooms and grasps a vial of newly discovered explosive, powerful enough, so the yarn goes, to wipe New York off the map. Hence it is not surprising that Brick McDonald and his friends are eager to get on her. They give chase, and somehow resembling Miss Mason does a mad dive from the cliffs into the angry sea. Fortunately she has time to change her pretty gown for golf knickers, and when she comes up she has the great fortune to be able to board a motor launch.

McDonald speeds after her in an airplane, and by extending a ladder he hooks Barbara from the launch and she is comfortably ensconced in the flying machine. But that would be too easy a manner in which to get away from the villains. So the machine is shot down and, following a descent in a parachute, they are both made prisoners aboard the villain's speeding submarine.

McDonald has one of the octopus methods of payment for this fellow suits the tubes that bind him. Quick as a flash, in a most extraordinary manner, McDonald smashes one man, ties up another, and really works wonders, finally telling Barbara that the only way out of the difficulty is to be shot out of a torpedo tube. They lie comfortably in the tubes (and here it looks like the end of the story, as they kiss affectionately from the sister openings), when the villain makes them. First Barbara is shot out, the force of the air tearing her shirtwaist. Then McDonald is fired forth. And it is fortunate that they both come to the surface within a yard of each other, something that probably never occurred before, as most persons are unconscious after such an experience.

In this production there is also the usual den, a circular cage, with the ugly Sussanna comedy lions, said to be very agreeable and free from teeth, awaiting the descent of their prey. McDonald narrowly escapes Daniel's fate. However, with his usual cunning, he escapes, and in the end the blond villain—his feet held by an oversized heavy desk and his head just high enough down for the lions to get even him with monstrous leaps—meets that the fate he had booked for McDonald.

Barbara is engaged to a nice-looking young chap, who, in order to be in this picture, has to play the giddy-garden act. McDonald has shown the audience a close-up of his muscular arm, and Barbara whines, "Why can't you have arms like him"

There are many fine sequences of cinematography, and the sea scenes and the shots of the submarines and depth-rovers are especially good. The gambling party photographed from above is interesting, and also the steel works. Here a man loses his life in the bottom of a steel vat. For a time one of the villains had the happy thought to give both Barbara and McDonald a liquid bath death, but again McDonald frustrated that. Those who like serials and the very old-time red-hot melodramas will find interest in the impossibilities of this production.

DE PACHMANN HERE TODAY.

Vladimir de Pachmann, who recently passed his seventy-fifth birthday and who successfully returned to the concert stage in London last season, is a passenger on the Majestic, arriving today. He will open at Toronto on Oct. 1 and in this city Oct. 11, a farewell American tour.

Except Camille Saint-Saëns, who came back more briefly when 50 years old, M. de Pachmann is possibly the dean of all the artists who have thus returned, even outdating Sarah Bernhardt, who was 69 when she last acted in this country. The pianist made many earlier tours here from 1891 to 1912.

Born at Odessa, July 27, 1848, he first played there in 1869 after studying at the Vienna Conservatory. His father was an Austrian resident in Russia, a professor of Roman law and musical amateur and violinist. Among Pachmann's teachers at Vienna was the composer, Bruckner. His career as a Chopin interpreter long ago earned him the soubriquet of "Chopinsee."

MUSICIANS TO PLAN STRIKE.

Mass Meeting Called for Tonight to Discuss Walkout Labor Day.

Strike plans of 10,000 musicians employed in the orchestras of New York City theatres, who threaten to walk out on Labor Day, are to be discussed at a mass meeting of the Musical Mutual Protective Union at its clubhouse, 210-214 East Eighty-sixth Street, at midnight tonight, according to an announcement last night by Anthony Mulieri, President of the organization.

As to the reported statement of Joseph N. Weber, President of the American Federation of Musicians, a rival organization, that the New York musicians were satisfied with the wage terms offered by the managers, Mulieri said: "How well the men are satisfied remains to be seen on Labor Day. That is cheap. The strike can be averted only by the managers agreeing to increase wages and the American Federation of Musicians undertaking to stop interference with the affairs of the Musical Mutual Protective Union."

There were songs aplenty at yesterday afternoon's performance at the Palace. Thus Emma Carus and J. Walter Leopold appeared in "Singing Their Own Songs"; Joseph E. Howard and Ethelyn Clark offered their elaborate revue, "Pitching From Life"; and Charles Olcott and Mary Ann were seen and heard in "Charlie's Songs."

Enid Markey, recently of "Barnum Was Right," headed a one-act comedy called "Here Comes the Bride," and May Wirth did her familiar equestrian act. Rome and Dunn, "The Three Arnauts," and the Kitaros completed the program.

THE PLAY

By JOHN CORBIN.

Burlesque Romance.

General Rumford	J. K. Hutchinson
Elvira	Phyllis Schuyler
Lucy	Martha-Bryan Allen
Tom	Leo Carrillo
Major Patterson	John Rutherford
Jos Patterson	James Bradbury Jr.
General Orlando Jackson	Malcolm Williams
Blackie	John Harrington
Mexico	Ethel Wilson
Rumbo	Barrington Carter

In this "new American comedy," Booth Tarkington has attempted, as it seems, to write a satiric romance of the old South, the South of rampant blood feuds and dueling, of the romantic convention in love, and especially of flamboyant rhetoric. It has many admirably Tarkingtonesque lines and no little humor in characterization. An able cast headed by Leo Carrillo, who gives a really beautiful performance, makes what can be made of it. But to those for whom Tarkington is by way of being a cult there are many arid wastes in the dialogue and the total result is disappointing.

The truth is that our author's satire steps on the toes of his romance, and both play football with probability. It is not merely that the grandiloquence of the dialogue is not even good bombast, being sheer burlesque. To all but professional Southerners that would be a venial fault. The unforgiveable sin is that the characters, and especially the leading characters, are incredibly overdrawn.

The young hero, a Southerner brought up in the Quaker North, is first seen as a butterfly-catching scientist who meekly permits himself to be bullied and grossly insulted in the presence of the woman he loves. So far so good, it is the sequel that taxes credulity. Fleeing from his shame, he turns up in a Natchez gambling house and there in one lesson learns to be a very fire eater—"The Notorious Colonel Blake." In this capacity he returns to the scene of his disgrace and outblusters those who once terrorized him, triumphs over his former fiancée, now married to a rustic fire eater—and manages to convince her young sister that he is still his intelligent and high minded self.

He does not convince the audience, or at least the true Tarkingtonians, in either phase of the character. It is not that some such change is impossible; instances of it abound. The trouble is that the psychology is unconvincing, and that the conduct of this humanitarian gambler-desperado is a boorish as it is otherwise incredible.

It is as if the author had told himself that in a moving picture nation anything would go—or, if that suggestion seems gratuitous, as perhaps it is, it is still as if he had added lines to a drama scenarized by George Sylvester Baxter Jr. at the age of 12. All this, of course, is written from the point of view of the true Tarkingtonian. What a moving picture nation will make of Magnolia" is another question.

The play is said to have been written for Lionel Barrymore several years ago. Possibly Mr. Tarkington was thinking of Mr. Barrymore's performance as Neri in "The Jest." In his utmost braggadocio, Mr. Carrillo does not attempt the volcanic eruptions of that Florentine bad man. There were those in the audience whom he reminded rather of Richard Mansfield.

There was not the least evidence of the mannerisms that are all too easily and too often mimicked; but the actor's mood and method were those of Mansfield at his best. In the quieter moments there was a living eloquence in his eye, an amiable humor in his lips; in the moments of dominant rage, Mr. Carrillo was as erect as a poised sword, as cool and dangerous. It was the best work of a very able young actor, who has not always been blessed in his plays.

The cast includes a number of able actors of whom the best and the worst to be said is that they are loyal to the burlesque satire and movie romance of the play. John Harrington disclosed a fine presence and abundant powers of characterization as a Mississippi River gambler-desperado, Martha-Bryan Allen, who was first observed in the part of the hectored child in "The Devil's Disciple," was the pacifist ingénue and anti-duelist heroine.

WAR ON TURKISH BRIGANDS.

It Is Proclaimed by New Premier in Address to the People.

ANGORA, Aug. 27.—Fethi Bey, the new Turkish Premier, announces that the new Government is to be one of action. The most important problems confronting it, he asserts, are the restoration of economic and financial stability and security throughout the country.

"The eyes of the whole world," he declares in a statement, "are fixed upon Turkey, and we must immediately begin to put into effect the most urgent reforms up to the limits of our financial capacity."

The prolongation of the war, Fethi Bey says, has increased brigandage and rendered certain regions of Turkey unsafe. All the forces of the Government will now be employed to destroy the brigands.

RAZOR BLADES IN BREAD.

Baker, Accused Under Sanitary Code, Denies He Put Them In.

When Mrs. Mary McKillenk of 2,051 Southern Boulevard, the Bronx, found two razor blades in a loaf of bread while preparing Saturday's supper she rushed to the nearest policeman, who happened to be John G. Kelly, a traffic officer. Kelly, somewhat puzzled, finally decided that razor blades in bread constituted a violation of the sanitary code and handed a summons to Peter Kierer, a baker, of 824 East 180th Street, the Bronx.

In the West Farms Court yesterday Kierer told Magistrate McKinley that he did not doubt that the sanitary code had been violated, but he was not sure that he was the offender. There were no stray razor blades about his plant, he said, and he could not remember selling the loaf to Mrs. McKillenk. Inasmuch as the baker thought he needed a lawyer, Magistrate McKinley adjourned the matter until Sept. 10.

GIANTS TOPPLE CUBS WITH SEVEN IN SIXTH

Champions Increase Lead in League Race to Four Games With 8 to 4 Victory.

UMPIRE CHASES KILLEFER

Exit of Chicago Manager Merely an Incident in Riotous Inning Which Decides Contest.

The Giants showed further signs of returning to normalcy yesterday, beating the Cubs in a boisterous game at the Polo Grounds, 8 to 4, at precisely the same moment that Jess Barnes was lending aid and comfort to his old pal, John McGraw, by blanking the Reds at Boston.

On the whole, not a bad day for the Giants. The Reds won the first game, but lost the second, and now that their winning streak has been snapped the Moranmen may settle down and become human beings again. On the other hand, the Giants are nursing along a string of their own—still a modest little string of only four straight, but likely to bud into something better. Out of the day's work the champs netted a gain of half a game over both Reds and Pirates and now lead by four games.

The sixth inning was the whole show at the Brush Stadium and it seemed as long as some full games. In the confines of one round the Giants scored seven runs on five hits and four bases on balls; thirteen batters stepped to the plate, Chicago pitchers fell like leaves in Autumn, and in the midst of it all Bill Killefer, the Cubs' manager, was lightly tossed out of the park by Umpire Pfirman.

A Five-Run Decision.

The umpire said Ralph Shinners was safe at third, and the whole game hinged on the matter of Pfirman's eyesight, which the Cubs thought was very bad. If Pfirman had said "Out!" the Giants would have had only two runs for the inning. When he didn't say "Out!" the Giants went ahead and made seven big tallies. In other words, it was a five-run decision, making it one of the biggest decisions since old Hank "decisioned" the Giants out of a pennant in 1908. Probably Bill Killifer wishes now he had caressed Pfirman with a bat and got some satisfaction out of the affair.

Up to the sixth the Cubs had had all the best of it. They reached Arthur Nehf for four runs and Ernie Osborne, the relief one, was breezing along in a fine clip. He was wild at times but otherwise unsolvable, and the Giants had tapped him for nothing more than two ordinary and scattered singles.

Trying to start something, McGraw shoved Hank Gowdy to the plate to bat for Nehf, and Hank walked. Shinners was sent in to run for him. Then Bancroft belted a double to right, advancing Ralph to third. Now the stage was all set for the great Pfirman decision. Frisch slapped an easy one right at Osborne, and instead of attending to the runner Ernie wheeled around and tried to nip Shinners off third. Pfirman called him safe, which he seemed to be, and at once the riot was on. Cubs came running from all points of the field, uttering the shrill cry peculiar to the species. Leading the pack was Killefer, wearing a distressed look as if Pfirman had given him a pain.

After some gesticulating and oratory the convention was dissolved and the delegates returned to their various stations. Unhappily, however, Killefer, after getting safely to the bench, recalled a choice remark that he had overlooked, and by hearing it Pfirman remembered that he hadn't put the Chicago manager out of the park and immediately did so.

This attended to, the Giants resumed the task of subduing Osborne in short order. With the bases full Young shot a line single to right, Shinners and Bancroft chasing home and Frisch to third. This was plenty for Osborne, the tall one being replaced by Virgil Cheeves, the Giant killer. Meusel greeted him with a short single to right, Frisch scoring and Young stopping at second. On O'Connell's long fly to right Pep moved to third, and he scored when Kelly batted a fly to Miller.

Strong Man Too Strong.

Jackson singled to left and brought Meusel in from second. Throwing to the plate to stop Irish, Hack Miller, the strong man, became too strong and flung the ball over O'Farrell's head, Jackson racing to third and scoring on Snyder's single to center.

Cheeves withdrew silently at this juncture, and Nick Dumovich, the Coast southpaw, entered. Nick threw four balls at Shinners, the pinch runner who was now batting for himself. Also Nick threw four at Bancroft, filling the bases, and likewise four at Frisch, forcing over Snyder. Twelve straight balls without a strike was too much of a good thing, and after Nick had been dragged out Fred Fussell, another southpaw, was inherited the mess and stopped Young on a grounder for the third out.

What happened before and after the above carnage didn't matter much. A farceout and singles by Grantham and Grimes gave the Cubs a run in the first, and O'Farrell's single, other base hits by Statz, Adams and Grantham, mixed up with a steal of second, brought the Cubs' total up to four in the fifth.

In the eighth Ryan, Bancroft and Frisch singled after two were out and produced a run. Virgil Barnes, Nehf's successor, went bad in the eighth and was helped out by the handy Ryan with two out. Barnes walked two men and appeared to be bothered with a sore arm, so Hughey Jennings played it safe and asked Ryan to quell the trouble. Which Bill did.

Caught at the Plate.

What made the Cubs particularly irritated at Pfirman over the Shinners decision was that he called Grantham out at second earlier on the same kind of slide. In each case the runner seemed to be safe.

It was Alexander's turn to pitch, but Grover had stomach trouble the night before and wasn't fit. Neither was Tony Kaufmann ready. Alex will be on the mound today, barring further complications.

Bancroft has recovered from his late sickness, but he is still far from being an able-bodied citizen. Dave has a "charley horse" in both legs and plays with them generously handicaped.

Jackson was a busy lad again at third, robbing Grantham of a hit with a break-down stop in the fourth and making another nice play on O'Farrell in the ninth.

The Cubs close up today, when Bentley will probably oppose Alex.

The hit and run attack of the Cubs in the fifth was flawless. Statz hit to centre with O'Farrell in motion, and then Adams shot a single through the vacancy when Frisch was pulled out of position.

It was a tough day for the Virginia—Barnes and Cheeves.

It was a slugging match, eight pitchers being pounded for thirty-five hits. The Phillies tied the score in the ninth.

ATHLETICS STOP BROWNS.

Hauser's Two Homers Beat St. Louis in Series Final, 4-1.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—Hauser's two home runs with a man on base each time enabled Philadelphia to beat St. Louis, 4 to 1, in the final game of the series today, and to stop the winning streak of the Browns, which had reached six straight. The two four-baggers raised Hauser's total for the season to sixteen.

Hasty, who started for the Athletics, was relieved when he complained of a sore arm after working three rounds.

YANKS WIN, 10 TO 3; SHAWKEY IN FORM

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27.—The Yankees, emerging from their batting slump today, closed their invasion of the West by defeating the Indians, 10 to 3, in the final game of a series in which they previously had lost two straight to the local team. This victory gave the New Yorkers an even break on their trip and a total of thirty winning efforts in forty-three starts in the West this year, including six out of eleven at Cleveland.

Shawkey, who pitched his best game of the year while losing to the Tigers last week, went the entire route this afternoon. He let the Indians down with eight hits, while the Yanks were making a total of sixteen off Edwards and Boone. Barring Meusel, every man in the Yankee batting order made at least one hit, and Ward and Hofmann each delivered three.

The Yankees do not return to New York until Thursday. They are scheduled to play an exhibition game at Toronto tomorrow and another at Buffalo Wednesday.

In today's game the Yankees, as usual, were the first to score. With completing the circuit in the first inning on a triple down the left field line and Ruth's subsequent infield out. In the following round Ward singled to centre and went to third on Hofmann's single to the right field wall, only to be trapped off the bag and retired when Scott missed on an attempted squeeze play.

Indians Tie the Score.

The Indians went out in order in the first two innings, but Brower singled to centre at the start of the third and Edwards was hit in the elbow with a pitched ball after O'Neill had fanned Jamieson followed with a line single to left and Brower skidded home with the tying run. Edwards advanced to second on the play and was left at the midway when Summa filed out and Meusel made a spectacular running catch of Speaker's fly to left.

Three errors by Stephenson, two of them on the same play, gave the Yankees another run in the fourth. Ruth, the first man up, grounded to Stephenson and reached second when the latter threw the ball into the Indian dugout. Pipp also grounded to Stephenson, who first fumbled the ball and then made another wild throw, Ruth scoring and Pipp reaching second. Meusel drew a pass, but the runners were left when the next three batsmen went out on easy infield chances.

The Indians quickly tied the score. Sewell, leading off for the Indians in the second half of the fourth, singled sharply to left, and Stephenson beat out an infield hit. Lutzke followed with a sacrifice and Shawkey filled the bases by walking Brower. Sewell scored on a passed ball, but Shawkey's mad throw to Ward picked Brower off second for the second out and O'Neill ended the inning with a grounder to Shanks.

The champions forged to the front again in the fifth. Shawkey led off with a single to left, but was forced at second on Witt's attempted sacrifice. Dugan singled to centre, however, and Ruth and Pipp bounced doubles off the right field wall, three runs resulting. Meusel was called out on strikes and Ward grounded to Sewell for the third out.

Yankees Increase Lead.

An error by O'Neill swelled the Yankee total in the sixth. Hofmann was the first man up and singled to centre. Scott fouled to Lutzke and Shawkey grounded to Edwards for a force out at second. With then bounced a double off the wall in right centre and Shawkey scored when O'Neill dropped Stephenson's relay of Speaker's return after tagging the runner for what should have been the third out.

The Yankees hitting failed for Edwards in the seventh, and in the following round the Yankees scored one run off Boone, who won the opening game of the series. Ward led off with a double to right centre and scored on Scott's single to right after Meusel had been held at third. Scott advanced to second on Shawkey's sacrifice and was left when Lutzke came up with Witt's hard smash. The Indians bagged a run in their half on singles by Speaker and Sewell and Stephenson's sacrifice fly.

Dugan opened the ninth with an infield single, and after Ruth had popped to Sewell Pipp lined a single to left. Meusel's infield out put runners on second and third and Ward's single to centre brought them home. Hofman singled to right, sending Ward to third, and Scott's hit to centre added another run to the Yankee total. Lutzke prevented further scoring by making a sensational stop of Shawkey's wallop over third and throwing the Yankee pitcher out at first.

WALKER LEADS PROS IN QUALIFYING PLAY

MACFARLANE IS SECOND

Special to The New York Times.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Aug. 27.—When the golf professionals gather at the Pelham Country Club next month to decide the question whether or not Gene Sarazen is to be allowed to retain the P. G. A. championship which he won at Oakmont last Fall there will be a number of familiar faces standing outside the ropes as noncombatants.

One hundred or so of the members of the metropolitan section of the Professional Golfers' Association gathered at the Garden City Country Club here today and went through the formality of a 36-hole qualifying round to fill up the district quota—twelve. And when the last shot was played the leader of the field was Cyril Walker of Englewood, who, long rated as the world's slowest player, today proved that he was not so slow when it comes to scoring. From the time he headed toward the first green, accompanied by Pat Doyle, formerly of Deal but who now gives his address as Lake Champlain, until he holed out his last putt, Walker was never headed for the low scoring honors and the first prize.

At the conclusion of the morning round Walker, with a 69 which tied the competitive record for the course, led the field, and he topped it off with a 72 in the afternoon, giving him a total of 141. The only other participant who was within five shots of that mark was Willie MacFarlane of Oak Ridge. Willie, indifferent as to whether he qualified or not, qualified with a vengeance with a total of 143, the result of a 72 in his first trip around the course and 71 on his second.

Tie for Third Place.

There was a tie for third place between Clarence Hackney, pro at the Counry Club of Atlantic City, and W. H. Cox of Marine and Field. Hackney, winner of this year's Philadelphia open and Canadian open, registered a pair of 73s, in spite of the loss of several shots at the short holes, while Cox turned in a 72 and a 74 for his total of 146.

Pat Doyle and "Long Jim" Barnes were tied at the same notch—147. Doyle's morning round left him in a comfortable position with a 73, and in the afternoon he added one stroke to that. "Long Jim," determined to take no chances with the "hoodoo" which has clamped on his trail ever since he captured the national open title at Washington in 1921, practically barred the gates against misfortune when he turned in a sparkling 70 in the morning. He tacked seven strokes on that mark on his second excursion, but there is now no uncertainty regarding his presence in the 1923 event, which will be played over his home course. He is a former P. G. A. champion, having captured the title in 1916 and again in 1919.

Barnes and Doyle were followed by George McLean of Grassy Sprain, winner of the Shawnee open this year. In his first round McLean put himself on the ragged edge by taking a 75, but his 73 in the second trial gave him a total of 148, which was good for seventh place. Jimmy West of Rockaway Hunting Club finished in eighth place, his scores being 73 and 76 for a total of 149.

The last four to qualify—Johnny Golden of Beacon, William Klein of Garden City Country, Nick De Mane of Soundview and Johnny Farrell—got together when it was all over and gave Aleck Gerard of Oakland a vote of thanks. For, by taking a 79 in the afternoon, Aleck saved them from the exertion and uncertainties of a play-off. When the event was almost over, Gerard, who had registered a 74 in the morning, was the only player left with a chance to upset the tranquility of the occasion. Had the Oakland pro been able to finish with a total of less than 150, the members of the above-mentioned quartet would have had to embark on another struggle to decide the three to qualify. Aleck, however, spared them that trouble by taking a 79, finishing the last hole with a 7 through an out-of-bounds tee shot. Of the four, Klein, the Long Island open champion, Farrell and Golden were as consistent as members of the "Old Guard." Klein had a pair of 75s, Farrell and Golden, 74 and 76, for their respective rounds, while De Mane had a 72 in the morning and a 78 in the afternoon.

Cruikshank Falls.

Of those who failed to qualify, the two most noteworthy were Bobby Cruikshank of Shackamaxon, who tied Bobby Jones in the national open only to lose in the play-off, and Tommy Kerrigan of Siwanoy, runner-up in the Canadian open a year ago. Cruikshank has been playing brilliantly all this year until today, when the best he could register was a pair of 77s. Kerrigan effaced himself in the morning when he brought home an 83. Among others who failed were Jack Forrester of Deal, Alex Ednie of Jackson Heights, Joe Sylvester of St. Albans, Tom Boyd of Fox Hills, Bill Noon of Garden City Golf, Tommy Harmon of Hudson River, Francis Gallett of Fort Washington, Fred Canausa of West Point and Arthur Reid of Ardsley. Forrester's failure was particularly unexpected after his excellent showing in the Inwood affair and his fine start with a 73 in the opening round today.

Gene Sarazen, holder of the title, was not among those who were forced to go through the mill today. Having won his crown at Oakmont last Fall, Gene was excused from the qualifying round.

Walker, always one of the best exponents of the Royal and Ancient in this country, was exceptionally brilliant today. Throughout the entire round he was only over par on three holes and then by only a stroke. He more than offset these lapses by getting seven birdies, four of them in the first round. On each trip he equaled par for the first nine holes, but in his morning venture he came back in 34, while in the afternoon he was forced to content himself with par figures. He started out with a birdie at the first hole but slipped a stroke on the short second. After that he had thirteen holes in par and three in birdie figures. In the second round he again started with a birdie 3 at the first hole, but lost a stroke at the fourth. His only other miscalculation on the outward side was the missing of a four-foot putt at the ninth hole. Coming in, each of the short holes cost him an extra stroke and he missed another short putt at the tenth.

MacFarlane Begins Well.

MacFarlane had a wonderful chance for the day's low card when he raced to the turn in 33 in his first round. He was two under 4s for the next four holes, but slipped in a 6 at the long fourteenth and wound up with three 5s for a 39. He was out in 35 in the afternoon with a 6 at the par 4 seventh hole and clipped a stroke from par coming home. Hackney also experienced trouble on the short holes and lost several strokes on the greens, especially in the afternoon. Otherwise, however, his golf was well-nigh perfect. Barnes's 70 in the morning was made in the face of a bad break which came at the ninth hole. His tee shot to this modest two-par hole was a beauty, but it struck a tree and bounded out of bounds. He was forced to play over and was penalized a stroke. He was under par for the hole, however, with a 4.

MISS COLLETT WINS MEDAL WITH AN 80

MRS. BARLOW SCORES AN 83

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 27.—Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, women's national golf champion, won the medal in the qualifying round of the Shenecossett invitation tournament today after a close fight with Miss Edith Cummins of Owensia. The little champion had an 80, just one stroke better than that of the Chicago girl.

Miss Collett was playing a beautiful long game today and time and again she brought the gallery to applause with long brassies to the pin. But where her game began to fall down was on the green, where she was short almost all the time. On four occasions she took three putts. Miss Cummins, while not driving as far as Miss Collett, was fully as accurate. But she, too, had her trouble on the greens and on several occasions missed short putts.

Miss Collett got away to a poor start. She topped her first drive, and on the second she took three putts. On the next three holes, however, she had par figures. On the homeward path the Providence woman played brilliant golf. She had two fives at the twelfth and thirteenth holes.

Miss Collett's card:

In	4	4	5	5	4	3	5	4	5—39—80

Paterson of Westchester Biltmore, President of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, played excellent golf and came in fourth with an 86. HAGEN AND KIRKWOOD QUALIFY IN CLEVELAND

EDWARD WILL RUN HERE.

Harry F. V. Edward, sprint champion of Great Britain, arrived here yesterday, prepared to enter training immediately for his American debut, which will take place at the athletic carnival of the Wilco A. A., to be held in the Yankee Stadium on Sept. 8. The English sprinter arrived on the liner Franconia. Edward declared his intention of taking up a permanent residence here. He intends to file application for citizenship papers without delay. Through this action Edward hopes to gain permission to compete in the Wilco meet. He was refused permission by amateur athletic authorities of Great Britain to come here and compete as a British subject.

The negro sprint star declared himself in excellent condition and asserted his intention of training with Roy F. Morse, former national sprint champion, at McComb's Dam Park. Edward ran his last race in Scotland a few days before he boarded the Franconia, and was defeated by a scant margin by a rival who enjoyed a handicap of six yards. The time of the English champion in the 100-yard dash was 9 4-5 seconds. Edward has requested the Wilco A. A. games officials to so arrange the program for Sept. 8 that he will be able to compete in the 100, 200 and 400 meter races, the distances at which he won English championships last year.

NOMINATIONS GO OVER.

Metropolitan A. A. U. Committee to Meet Again Tomorrow Night.

The absence of a quorum at the meeting of the committee yesterday prevented the Nominating Committee of the Metropolitan A. A. U. from selecting its candidates for election at the annual meeting which will be held late this month. Chairman Richard M. Remer announced that the committee would meet again tomorrow night at the Park Avenue Hotel, when it was expected the list of candidates would be selected. But four members were present at yesterday's meeting. The attendance of nine members is necessary to constitute a quorum. Herman Oberlubbering, elected President last Winter, is a candidate for re-election, it was announced. It is understood, however, that an independent candidate will be placed in the field for this office, as well as candidates for other offices and official positions.

GOLF PLAY STARTS TODAY.

100 Assistant Pros and Caddie Masters Enter Tourney.

More than a hundred players have entered the tournament for assistant professional and caddie masters which will be staged at the Englewood Golf Club, Englewood, N. J., today under the auspices of The American Golfer. The competition will be over thirty-six holes and the prize money will total $500. The winner will receive $200, second place will get $100, third $75, fourth $50 and sixth and seventh $25 each. The winner will also receive a trophy emblematic of the district championship.

Among the list of entries are such prominent players as Davey Campbell of Hollywood, Dan Williams of Shackamaxon, William Klein of Garden City Country, Joe Turness of Fairview, and others. Campbell is the New Jersey State open champion, the young Scot having annexed that honor in his first tournament start on this side. The event was played at Englewood, and Campbell had a total of 149 for the two rounds. In this event Campbell defeated Williams by three strokes, Dan taking third place, a short way behind Bobby Cruickshank, who was second with 151. Klein is the holder of the Long Island open championship.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 27.—A remarkable exhibition of golf playing for a small boy was given on the course of the Newport Country Club today by Tommy Taller, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Suffern Taller of New York. Playing against Henry O. Havemeyer Jr. in the playoff o fa tie developed last Saturday in a tournament for a prize offered by Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, Tommy lost the trophy by a single stroke. Havemeyer is a player several years the senior of young Taller and was the winner of the Count di Turin Cup this year and several other tournaments. At the club today he made a 39 out and 44 in, but his handicap cut his score down to 69. Taller made two 44s for a net of 70, cutting his previous record for the course by two strokes, and his playing against his older opponent was considered to be one of the best exhibitions seen on the course this Summer.

FORTY STARS ENTER AMATEUR GOLF PLAY

Jones, Evans and Gardner Among Players Who Will Seek National Championship.

With the closing date for making entry for the national amateur golf championship at Flossmoor only a few days off, players throughout the country are scurrying in with their signed documents. Mackenzie is the province champion of Quebec and hails from Montreal, where he is a member of the Montreal Country Club. He is regarded as one of the most promising young golfers beyond the northern border and his efforts at Flossmoor will be watched with interest. Jack Tarrant, the young player from San Antonio, is another who will make his first bid for the championship. Tarrant finished well up around the top of the field in the big open tournament which was staged at the Cambridge Park in his home city last Winter.

All of the rest scored 90 or higher, although until a ruling on the penalty for out of bounds was made Mrs. F. C. Letts of Chicago, former champion, was recorded as having scored 86.

Mrs. Harley Higbie of Detroit turned in a 92, one stroke better than Lucile Desenberg of Kalamazoo, Mich.

TAKES LEAD AT THE START

ROTHESAY, Scotland, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—The American six-meter yacht Lea won from the British craft, Colia III., today in the second heat of the race series for the Seawanhaka Cup. The Colia III. won the first heat on Saturday. The conest was over a triangular course, starting and finishing at Rothesay. The finishing times of the two boats were 3 hours 40 minutes and 18 seconds for Lea and 3 hours 44 minutes and 53 seconds for Colia III.

The wind was southwesterly and fairly fresh at the start and the sea was rough, but as the race progressed both wind and sea moderated. Lea had the better of the start, crossing the line with the gun signal. The American boat had the weather berth but on the reach to the first mark off Weymus Bay Colia III. passed her to leeward and led at the mark by twenty-nine seconds.

Coming by the wind for the long stretch to the weather mark at the south end of Bute the American boat sailed much higher in the wind, and after a long board to the Bute shore was on the weather of Colia's lee by nearly a quarter of a mile. The British boat was sagging badly to leeward and seemed to be having difficulty with her gear.

At the weather mark the American led by 2 minutes 10 seconds, and on a spinnaker run to the finish line gained a further 2 minutes and 25 seconds.

MY OWN QUALIFIES FOR NATIONAL TRIAL

SUNSPERO BEATS SUN PAL

Goes Six Furlongs at Saratoga in 1:11 2-5, to Win the $5,000 Albany, for Juveniles.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 27.—My Own, the three-year-old bay gelding by King James-Bettie Landon, bearing the royal-purple silks of the Salubria Stable of Admiral Cary T. Grayson, this afternoon qualified for the National Trial Sweepstakes, from the placed horses in which will be selected the one to meet Papyrus, the English Derby winner, when he picked up top weight of 125 pounds and beat five others over the mile route of the Fort Edward Handicap. My Own, in scoring his third successive victory, ran the mile in 1:36 2-5, which is only one-fifth of a second slower than the track record for the distance. It equals the time made by My Play in winning the Watervliet Handicap. These are the two fastest miles of the meeting.

Another candidate for the elimination trial also showed his wares this morning when the Rancocas Stable's Zev, king of the three-year-olds to date, came over on to the main track for a full trial after steady training on the Oklahoma track. Accompanied by the old black gelding, Thunderclap, Zev went the full mile-and-a-quarter journey, going the half in 0:48, the six furlongs in 1:14, the mile in 1:41, nine furlongs in 1:55 and the mile and a quarter in 2:08.

George D. Widener's St. James had a trial for the Hopeful, to be run Thursday, doing the full six furlongs of the distance in 1:12 3-5.

After Saturday's great crush the crowd looked small this afternoon, although the grand stand was well filled. It was an excellent attendance, however, for Monday of the last week of the meeting. There have been many departures, horses being shipped by the wholesale to all parts of the country for rest or racing on other tracks. It was warmer this afternoon than on any other day for a week and the sun was welcomed. It was a fairly successful afternoon for the players, three favorites coming home in front.

My Own Beats Prince of Umbria.

Six ran in the Fort Edward Handicap. My own was the odds-on favorite and got under way very slowly, giving his followers and those of Sande, who rode him, an unpleasant half minute. As they rounded the turn into the back stretch My Own was last. Sande gave the gelding a stirring ride, however. He bided his time, sending My Own up gradually on the rail and thereby saving a world of ground. As they made the turn from the back stretch My Own had passed the Riviera Stable's High Chief and the Greentree Stable's Sollas, and then headed H. P. Headley's Hopeless.

Oui Oui, from the Audley Farm Stable, had been first to get started, giving way to S. K. Jacobs's Prince of Umbria. These two were all that My Own had to beat. When they neared the home stretch My Own caught Oui Oui and raced her down, the Western filly faltering in the stretch drive. Prince of Umbria had had a margin of a couple of lengths on this pair, and Sande then set sail for the three-year-old son of Brown Prince—II.

It was a great battle in the final stages and the crowd yelled its encouragement for Sande and My Own, which carried the bulk of the public's money. Sande made one of the best finishes to get My Own home a winner in front of Prince of Umbria, which ran one of the best races of his career. It was a two-horse race after Oui Oui gave up the contest, as Sollas was seven lengths behind, taking the short end by three lengths from Oui Oui.

My Own gave away weight to everything in the race, conceding nine pounds to Prince of Umbria, eleven to Sollas and twenty to Oui Oui. The fractional times of 0:23 4-5, 0:48, 1:14, 1:41, 1:11 4-5, 1:36 2-5. My Own was heavily played at 4 to 5, while many fancied Oui Oui, the star Western two-year-old filly of last year, which was held at 13 to 5.

Zev won te Albany Handicap last year, running the six furlongs in 1:15 3-5. This afternoon Gifford A. Cochran's Sunspero beat four others over the lightning-fast track in 1:11 2-5 to win the two-year-old $5,000 stake. This is only two-fifths of a second slower than the record for the race, which was established by Mode in 1920, carrying 112 pounds.

Sunspero picked up 114 pounds this afternoon and won his race handily by a length and a half from Lee Rosenberg's Sun Pal, which beat the Belair Stud's Aga Khan by four lengths for second money. Aga Khan took the short end by the narrow margin of a head from the Rancocas Stable's Tester.

Sunspero Heavily Backed.

Tester showed in front in the early running, but Clarence Kummer soon sent Sunspero along and when the son of Sun Briar tackled the Peter Pan colt the latter cracked on the turf and failed to finish in the money. Sunspero was heavily backed at 3 to 5, with the Rancocas entry of Tester and Sheridan the second choice at 5 to 2.

The mile claiming event for three-year-olds and upward brought eight to the post and was enlivened by Morris Bellfer's Lady Inez, which tossed off Legore as they were going to the post and ran away for two miles. The Quincy Stable's Yankee Star, the 9 to 5 favorite, was the winner, taking the track at the start and leading A. Leblanc's Carmencita home by half a length, the latter being hard pressed by the Nevada Stock Farm's King Charming. They ran the mile in 1:38 3-5.

A field of eleven maiden two-year-olds contested the opening claiming event at five and a half furlongs, and, as usual in these scrambles, the ones away in the lead were the ones in the money. J. S. Ward's Bear Grass, by Short Grass—Our Lassie, broke in his stride and quickly headed his field. McAtee held the gelding in front until they were homeward bound, when R. T. Wilson Jr.'s Ormesvale, which followed Bear Grass all the way, challenged stoutly.

Bell rode the Wilson colt hard in the stretch drive and took the measure of Bear Grass in the last sixteenth, winning by a good length. Bear Grass was three lengths in front of W. R. Coe's Rock and Rye, which ran third throughout the sprint. The race was run in the good time 1:06 1-5. Bear Grass was the opening choice but receded under a strong play on J. S. Coaden's Leona Dare, which forced her price down from 6 to 1 to 3 to 1. The Luke McLuke filly finished fourth. The winner closed at 7 to 1.

Equal choices ran first and second in the closing number, a six-furlong sprint for three-year-old fillies. Samuel Wiles's Nantokah was the winner by a length and a half from W. R. Kilmer's Sun Thistle, this pair running in that order all the way. Samuel Ross's Insulate came up in the stretch drive to take the short end of the purse by two and a half lengths from H. C. Fisher's Dream Star. The first two closed at 8 to 5 in the wagering, the winner having been backed down from an opening of 2 to 1. They ran the distance in 1:12 2-5.

RIDDLE STABLE ENTERED.

Will Be Seen in Havre de Grace Meeting Next Month.

Samuel D. Riddle and Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords of Philadelphia will have strong stables in the racing of the Harford Agricultural and Breeders' Association at Havre de Grace the last fortnight of September. The Riddle Stable has a first-class steeplechaser in Brigadier General, a four-year-old of high promise in Oceanic, a three-year-old that may be rated a champion before the finish of Maryland racing at Bowie in November in Ten Minutes, and a possible two-year-old champion in Big Blaze.

The Jeffords establishment has smart two-year-olds in Diogenes, Cockney, Bel Agnes and Rising Sun, while the old plater Two Feathers is still in the Jeffords string. There are some maiden two-year-olds in both establishments that have shown fairly well in work. With the matured campaigners there will be sent to Havre de Grace after the conclusion of the Fall meeting at Belmont Park some fifteen or twenty yearlings by Man o' War, which will be broken on the course on which that great son of Fair Play and Mahubah won the Potomac Handicap in 1920.

TO TROT AGAINST TIME.

Peter Manning Will Try to Better Record at Readville Today.

READVILLE, Mass., Aug. 27.—Noted harness horses will participate in the four days' Grand Circuit meeting, which will open on the Readville track tomorrow. The first day will bring one of the leading features when the champion trotter, Peter Manning (1:56?), will race against time in an effort to better the track record of 1:59¼, which he set last year.

The largest purse is the $10,000 Massachusetts 2:08 trot on Wednesday, with Clyde the Great the favorite, and Favonian and Taurida looked upon as strong contenders. In the Blue Hill free-for-all trot on Thursday a sharp contest is anticipated, with Lee Worthy and The Great Volo among the entries. Friday's leading race will be the free-for-all pace in which Margaret Dillon, Single G. and Sir Roche will show their speed.

DRIFTWOOD BLAZE WINS AT NEWPORT

THE WHIP ALSO VICTOR

Miss Becky Lanier Carries Off the Blue With Her Mount in Jumping Class.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 27.—The twenty-seventh Newport Horse Show, which opened at the Casino this afternoon, gives promise of being the best seen here in a number of years. There are more exhibitors than usual, including several new ones who have never shown here before, and the entry list is especially pleasing to Henry F. Eldridge, Reginald C. Vanderbilt and other officials, who were prominent in the ring this afternoon.

Several of the old champions were in the ring, and what looked like a new contender appeared in A. W. Atkinson's bay mare Dragon Fly.

As usual on the opening day, the novice classes were among the principal features. Miss Alice Stuart of Medfield, Mass., took the blue for novice jumpers with her gray gelding Blue Fern. Two more of her entries won second and third places. A. W. Atkinson's bay mare Preston Mavis won in the class for novice harness horses, and Mrs. George Crouch, with her brown gelding Real King, came through in the class for novice saddle horses.

Dragon Fly and Preston Mavis were selected for the blue in the class for novice pairs, and the bay gelding Irvington Rival, belonging to Mrs. Frederick A. Bissell of Brookline, Mass., won first prize in the class for novice ponies in harness from a big field.

The show closed for the day with some spirited jumping in the class for ladies' hunters and was easily one of the feature classes of the afternoon. Miss Becky Lanier and her sister, together with Miss Alice Stuart, created something of a sensation as they cleared the high bar with their mounts without a miss. Miss Becky Lanier carried off the first honors.

In a triple-bar jump of the five entries William H. Lockwood's Jasbo was the only one to give a clean performance.

W. VA. ADDS THREE MEN.

Freshman Football Training Camp List Now Totals Thirteen.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 27.—Dr. C. W. Spears, head coach of football at West Virginia University has approved the addition of three more freshmen to the Jackson's Mill training camp list, bringing the total number of first-year students to be invited there to thirteen. Brady Simms, who has been a star at Salem College for two years, is probably the best known of the trio. Francis Farley, regular quarterback on the Virginia Military Institute eleven for two seasons, will be welcomed by Ward Lanham, coach of the freshmen squad. The third man is Howard Lord, a member of the freshman football team at Northwestern University in 1921.

All three of these men will be candidates for the yearling eleven. Simms and Lord are ranked as freshmen, while Farley is a transfer and, therefore, ineligible under the migratory rule.

ROBERTSON TO RETURN.

Again Will Assist Meehan to Coach Syracuse Eleven.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 27.—John F. Meehan, head coach of the Syracuse University football team today announced that Harry Robertson, 1920 captain, would return to Syracuse this year as an assistant coach in charge of the linemen.

Yale Bars Eleven Members Of Freshman Football Team

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 27.—More than half the members of the Yale Freshman football eleven of last Fall have been disqualified for the coming season and will not be varsity material, as expected. Three of the regulars were dropped for low scholarship, while eight were found guilty of instigating the freshman riot last Spring and have been barred from Yale athletics for one year. The loss of the freshmen will be a severe blow to varsity prospects because of the unusually large graduation of varsity players last June. One of the most promising players disqualified is Captain Dan Allen, half back and former Andover star.

MRS. MALLORY WINS IN WOMEN'S TENNIS

Captures Two Matches in Play at Cedarhurst—Miss Bancroft Also Advances.

The annual women's invitation lawn tennis tournament of the Rockaway Hunting Club began yesterday on the club courts at Cedarhurst, L. I., with an entry of thirty-two players, among whom are Mrs. Molla Mallory, Miss Leslie Bancroft, Mrs. Nathaniel W. Niles and Miss Edith Sigourney of the Longwood Cricket Club, Boston; Mrs. Helene Pollak Falk and Mrs. Malcolm D. Whitman. Two rounds of play were completed, with the exception of one match. This morning, Mrs. Falk will meet Miss Phyllis Walsh of Philadelphia, the winner to fill the remaining bracket in the third round.

Mrs. Mallory dropped four games in the first set of her opening match. Miss Mary Heaton of Greenwich made a surprisingly good showing against the lately dethroned champion, matching Mrs. Mallory in severity of stroking and maintaining good control in spite of the pace that she had on the ball. Mrs. Mallory was disposed to play easily at the outset. When she found that she was not to have a walkaway she speeded up her game, but her range was faulty and she was guilty of more than her usual number of errors. It was not until she had won the first set at 6—4 that she struck her best stride, and from this point on Miss Heaton was outclassed. Only one game did the Greenwich girl get in the second frame. In the second round Mrs. Mallory won an easy match against Mrs. Whitman at 6—1, 6—0.

Miss Bancroft gained her second round bracket through the default of Miss Bessie Holden and then defeated Mrs. H. S. Taylor at 6—3, 6—2. Miss Sigourney, after putting out Mrs. Niles at 7—5, 6—4, reached the third round by defeating Mrs. David C. Mills of Orange, N. J., 6—3, 6—0. Miss Rosamond Newton, another entry from Boston, advanced easily in both her matches, disposing of Mrs. Nathaniel Dain of the same city at 6—0, 6—1, and Miss Caroma Winn at 6—1, 6—2. Miss Winn gained her second round bracket at the expense of Mrs. J. C. Bruns by the unusual score of 6—3, 0—6, 7—5.

The summaries:

First Round—Mrs. Malcolm D. Whitman defeated Mrs. Paul Martin, 6—2, 10—8; Mrs. Molla Mallory defeated Miss Mary Heaton, 6—4, 6—1; Mrs. J. C. Riese defeated Mrs. George Lord, 6—3, 6—0; Miss Agnes Shea Wood defeated Mrs. A. D. Farwell, 6—4, 6—2; Miss Edith Sigourney defeated Mrs. Nathaniel Niles, 7—5, 6—4; Mrs. David C. Mills defeated Mrs. L. M. Burt, 6—3, 6—4; Mrs. Theodore Schat defeated Mrs. William Phillips, 6—1, 6—4; Mrs. S. Leachman defeated Mrs. Percy Willmouth, 6—1, 6—1; Mrs. Helene Pollak Falk defeated Mrs. Bernard F. Stens, 6—0, 6—4; Miss Phyllis Walsh won from Mrs. John C. R. KINSEY ADVANCES IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Californian and Leighton-Crawford Reach Fifth Round in Play at Rye.

Special to The New York Times.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Robert Kinsey of California and F. R. Leighton-Crawford of England reached the round before the semi-finals in the Southern New York State lawn tennis championship today at the Westchester Biltmore Country Club. Kinsey played two matches in gaining his bracket, defeating in order Jerry Lang of Columbia University, 6—2, 6—2, and Manfred Goldman of New York, 6—1, 6—1. Leighton-Crawford put out Fred C. Bagge in the fourth round, after a close struggle in the second set, at 6—2, 7—5.

Among the winners in the third round were Rene Lacoste and Jacques Brugnon of the French Davis Cup team, Howard Kinsey and Wallace Bates of California, Gerald Emerson of Columbia and Walter Westbrook of Michigan. Lacoste won two matches during the day without the loss of a single game. In the second round he defeated H. A. Christie at 6—0, 6—0, and then disposed of Morris Clark at the same score. Brugnon met with difficulty in both of his two matches. Ernest Kuhn, one of the juniors, took four games from him in the second set, and Percy L. Kynaston of Rockville Centre, L. I., ran him to two deuce sets before yielding at 7—5, 7—5.

Willis Davis, another of the Californians, who ranked in the first ten in 1919 and 1920, passed from the play by default. On Sunday he played through two sets with Hoffman Nickerson, losing the first at 6—3 and winning the second at 10—8. He failed to make an appearance today to complete the match. Harvey Snodgrass, who defeated Vincent Richards at Newport on Monday, poor day against Anton F. ven Bernuth of Montclair, N. J. In one of the biggest surprises of the day, von Bernuth ran the Californian to 7—5 in the first set, and carried the second set to 9—7.

Snodgrass Lacks Control.

Snodgrass was in very poor form, being far off control and making errors on the easiest shots. His strokes carried little length or pace, and only in spurts did he play the sort of tennis that has carried him so far in the big tournaments of the season. Von Bernuth played very steady tennis, getting everything back until his opponent erred, and only the ability of Snodgrass to get a grip on his game at the critical stages prevented a possible upset.

Another of the Californians to drop out was Clarence J. Griffin, partner of William M. Johnston in doubles and three times holder with him of the national championship. Griffin defaulted in the second round to R. D. Golden. Bates advanced two rounds without being extended in either match. L. Billchik fell before him at 6—2, 6—2, and C. A. McPherson was put out at 6—0, 6—1. Wesbrook advanced to the fourth round with similar ease. In the second round he defeated W. R. Stewart at 6—0, 6—1, after which he eliminated H. T. Rothschild at 6—1, 6—2. Howard Kinsey looked strong in disposing of Armand L. Bruneau. The Brooklyn man played hard, aggressive tennis but the best he could do was to get two games in the first set and one in the second.

The two Kinsey brothers are in opposite halves of the draw and from the form they have shown to date it is possible that the final round may find them opposed to each other. Robert Kinsey will have to get past Snodgrass in the upper half, while in Howard Kinsey's half are found Francis T. Hunter, Lacoste and Bates. Snodgrass showed to advantage Vincent Richards at Newport that he will be a formidable obstacle for Robert Kinsey to hurdle, if he succeeds in gaining his form. In today's match he was troubled considerably by the slippery condition of the turf.

Robert Kinsey in Form.

Kinsey has been going at his best and if he maintains his form through the tournament he will be a difficult man to beat. Against Manfred Goldman today his chop strokes were going at their best. So good was his control that he seldom gave his opponent a point on errors, and Goldman seldom knew where to look for the ball, so cleverly did Kinsey change his length.

The summaries:

Second Round—Rene Lacoste defeated H. A. Cristie, 6—0, 6—0; Fred C. Bagge defeated Lyon L. Tremaine, 6—2, 6—3; R. D. Golden won by default from Clarence J. Griffin; Harvey Snodgrass defeated Anton F. Von Bernuth, 5—7, 9—7; Wallace Bates defeated I. Bilchik, 6—2, 6—2; Walter Westbrook defeated W. R. Stewart, 6—0, 6—1; Jacques Brugnon defeated Ernest Kuhn, 6—2, 6—4; Hoffman Nickerson defeated Willis Davis, 6—3, 5—10 and default.

Gunners from all parts of the country will compete, according to a statement from the gun club. Chicago, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Boston and New York will be well represented, the early entry list indicates. The entries will close on Sept. 15.

Johnston Won All Twelve Of His Davis Cup Matches

William M. Johnston of California, world's lawn tennis champion, who, with Tilden, Richards and Williams will defend the Davis Cup at Forest Hills on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 and 3, has a perfect record in the international matches. Johnston has never been defeated in the three years that he has represented this country, playing through the preliminary ties and challenge round against Australia in 1926, and defending the trophy in 1921 and 1922. He has played twelve matches in all and has won them all. Tilden's only defeat was sustained last year, when, with Vincent Richards, he was defeated by Gerald L. Patterson and Pat O'Hara-Wood of Australia in the challenge round doubles. Previous to this, he had won eleven matches, and his twelfth victory was scored two days after his defeat in the doubles. Norman E. Brookes of Australia has the longest Davis Cup record, having taken part in thirty-nine matches, of which he won twenty-eight and lost eleven. Anthony F. Wilding, who paired with Brookes, played twenty-nine matches, of which he won twenty and lost nine.

BIG JOB CONFRONTS DOBIE AT CORNELL

DRILLS TO START SEPT. 11

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Notices have gone out to candidates for the Cornell football team that Gil Dobie had ordered Fall practice to begin on Schoellkopf Field at 10 o'clock Monday morning, Sept. 11. The veteran wise to Dobie's ways are all expected to turn out in football paraphernalia by 9:55. The machine moves rapidly under Dobie, and late comers will be out of luck.

Preliminary surveys of the material and probable outlook indicate that the pessimistic Gil has a tall contract on his hands this season, for graduation and other agencies practically have wiped out the varsity line, while the loss of such a brilliant and dependable ground gainer, kicker, passer and all-around star as Eddie Kaw is in itself sufficient to cause even an optimist to do a little worrying.

The centre trio of last year's fine eleven, Bartlett Richards, centre, and Walter Rollo and Furlong Flynn, guards, is gone. Likewise Leonard C. Hanson, football and wrestling star, and R. V. Goulnlock and E. S. Buckley, ends.

This summary suggests that Dobie's job is a hard one, but, on the other hand, Cornellians will take some comfort in recalling that at the beginning of last season Richards, who turned out to be a fine centre, was not rated highly, neither Rollo nor Flynn had ever played varsity guards, while neither Goulnlock nor Buckley had shown the stuff of which varsity ends are made.

The regulars of last year's eleven available this year are Captain George R. Pfann, quarterback; Floyd D. Rassey, right halfback, and Charles E. Cassidy, shifted from end last year to fullback. On the line but one regular, Frank Sundstrom, is available. He plays right tackle.

The second and third teams of last year and the freshman team will have to supply the material to fill the gaps. Among last year's substitutes due to return this Fall are J. E. Sullivan, a capable tackle; J. A. Bergan, guard; R. H. Mott-Smith, centre; Robert Morris, a guard; Dexter, Raymond and Kneen, ends, and Rooney, Wade and Whetstone, halfbacks.

From the freshman team Dobie hopes to pick up a find or two. The men eligible to play include Reed, centre and captain; Affeld and Kearney, guards; Fennell, an end, and Paul Smith and Knauss, halfbacks.

He sells Royal Cords—the industry's leading tire—and has subscribed to the Royal Cord way of doing business.

This means that he has agreed to carry a complete stock—maintain adequate service facilities and give an honest dollar's worth.

There is a greater reason than ever now for getting acquainted with him.

He is the only man who can give you the benefit of the three new U. S. Rubber Discoveries; i. e., Tires made of Sprayed Rubber and Web Cord by the Flat Band Method of building Cord Tires.

ANOTHER HARDING BEQUEST.

That President HARDING cherished the hope of calling a World Peace Congress in Washington was known to some of his friends. This is confirmed by the publication yesterday of a letter which he sent confidentially to the American press under date of June 15, 1923. In it he expressed hearty approval of a plan to devise a sort of newspaper referendum, by which American opinion might be brought out respecting the duty of the United States to take part in establishing an international tribunal of justice and a system of co-operation between the nations, designed "permanently to preserve peace." On this general subject Mr. HARDING wrote with much feeling, and, while he felt obliged to say that he did not see his way to urge the United States to join the League of Nations, he still expressed an ardent desire that "there may be found a way to world association."

It may be objected that this was only an amiable and vague sentiment. But it is at least in line with the policy which President HARDING carried out in the Washington Conference for Limitation of Armaments, and which he was pursuing up to the very hour of his death in connection with his plea that America enter the World Court. If he had lived and had been renominated, there can be little doubt that he would have pushed these issues to the front in next year's Presidential campaign. As it is, he has blazed a trail along which not even the most stiff-necked isolationists among Republicans can assert that it is party treason to walk. If President COOLIDGE, in his own time and way, takes up with the Senate the project of bringing the United States into the World Court, it cannot be denied that he will be acting strictly in accord with the last will and testament of President HARDING.

GOVERNOR PINCHOT'S PLAIN WORDS.

Nothing more refreshing has been heard for a long time than Governor PINCHOT'S straight talk to the operators and miners at Harrisburg yesterday. As a preliminary to his efforts to arrange a compromise by means of confidential interviews with both parties to the controversy, the blunt language which he used was admirably suited. He put the case with the utmost directness and vigor. Here was a private quarrel between two relatively small classes of men threatening the comfort and health of an immense public. It was, moreover, a suicidal quarrel. If persisted in it would mean heavy losses to both sides and the destruction of a great Pennsylvania industry. As Governor of the State, GIFFORD PINCHOT employed a plainness of speech reminiscent of his old chief, THEODORE ROOSEVELT, whom he quoted by name, in telling the assembled miners and owners that the American public was getting sick and tired of their perpetual wrangles, with a resultant threat of a fuel shortage, renewed year after year, and was ready to cry a plague o' both their houses. With official authority and with the utmost positiveness he notified them that a strike in the hard coal mines on Sept. 1 simply cannot be allowed.

The result of Governor PINCHOT'S private interviews with the mine workers and their employers will soon be known. He is moving with as much promptness as vigor. He emphasized his determination to see that "even-handed justice" was done between the two parties to the dispute. This is necessarily indefinite at present. Governor PINCHOT frankly intimated that there would have to be a certain amount of give and take between the men and the operators. Mutual concessions, if they are made, can hardly be called ideal justice. It may be the best that can be obtained under the circumstances, but it will not necessarily represent a decision on the absolute merits of the case. Yet nobody will quarrel with the Governor of Pennsylvania for setting about the business of securing a settlement which may be only roughly just, but which will be tolerable in view of the limitations under which he is compelled to act.

Ultimately, the whole matter will have to be dealt with on larger lines. Something will have to be done, some form of legislation will be required, to free the country from the repeated menace of a coal strike. We have here incontrovertibly a public utility about the regulation of which the public is entitled to a voice. In failing to provide for this, Legislatures have been short-sighted and Congress has been timid and negligent. But the issue cannot be forever staved off. We may flounder through again this year, as we did last, with more or less suffering and a great deal of inconvenience, but the threat of trouble will keep on staring us in the face until some measures are taken to relieve us from the need of taking it into all our business and family reckonings year after year. Even if we make a narrow escape from disaster this year, Congress will be in a more chastened and responsive mood next Winter, and the Administration should not fail to urge the enactment of laws that would free the country for years to come from this nightmare of recurring coal strikes.

BUSES AND CARS.

A decision of general interest has just been rendered by the Maine State Public Utilities Commission. Application had been made to it for certificates authorizing the operation of automobiles, stages and buses to carry passengers over regular routes between Portland and Old Orchard, in competition with a steam railroad and a street railroad between those points. Rejecting the application the commission says:

> Competition, which adds life and force and incentive to ordinary industries, cannot truthfully be said to be desirable in the conduct of public utilities, which, in their nature, although owned by private individuals, are dedicated to the use of all the citizens of the community. Public utilities must, of necessity, be limited in number in any given community in order to be at all remunerative and hence able to attract capital for maintenance and development.

This seems to be a sound principle. The commission doesn't lay it down as an absolute rule. There may be exceptions, "for industry must not "wither under the slothful manage-"ment of those controlling existing "utilities." On the other hand, who is going to put money into public utilities subject to the injurious or ruinous competition of bus lines? There is plenty of scope for these without such competition. The public interest is the criterion, and the public interest can't be served, in the long run, by breaking down the companies to which a right of way has been given for public use.

BIRKENHEAD THE BENTHAMITE.

Lord BIRKENHEAD'S speech at the Williamstown Institute of Politics was ingenious and able. Its substantial merits shouldn't be neglected in unnecessary pother about one minor but characteristic passage. Will Americans never understand that the woolsack hasn't diminished in the least the percentage of gamin o' Gavroche in this "highly susceptible Chancellor"; highly susceptible to every opportunity of saying something "neat and nasty"? It is permissible to speculate that Lord BIRKENHEAD, having studied Lord ROBERT CECIL'S idealist tour and formed his own notion of the ruling American trait, decided that it would be good policy to appeal "to a practical people" as "a practical man." So he invokes the solemn shade of JEREMY BENTHAM, propounds the utilitarian doctrine. If, free from general or generous motives, Americans, or many of them, shrink from taking any larger part or responsibility in the rest of the world, why not ask them, in effect, if it won't pay them to assume that larger part and responsibility; if they won't injure themselves by trying to stay out?

Without offense, without undue suggestion, interrogatively, Lord BIRKENHEAD put his finger on the actual situation, which the Western farmers began to understand some time ago. If some of them are still turning to insubstantial remedies, time will convince them of the true. They must have foreign buyers of their surplus products. The buying power of Europe is diminished. That hits them in a vital spot. While the conditions of the world remain unchanged, can theirs greatly be changed or alleviated? In view of what Secretary of Agriculture WALLACE has said, and because of the strong agricultural kick against the masterpiece of Mr. FORDNEY and Mr. MCCUMBER, what could be more pertinent than Lord BIRKENHEAD'S questions:

> Who has yet convincingly analysed in relation to the devasting problems of modern exchanges the effect of a high-tariff system? Who has accurately measured the effect upon the agricultural community of the United States of the existing and artificially produced economic conditions?
> To the manufacturers, too, there is a hint. We can't live by buying from and selling to one another. We shall come to a standstill. In a world without markets, where few can afford to buy, "sooner or later your experience will be the same as ours"—unemployment, demoralized business, and all that. It is a shrewd speech. Isolation is impossible. Our own interest requires us to join in a common effort to release and reanimate the "economic forces which, and which alone, "can bring prosperity to the body "politic and economic of the whole "world." To keep economic disaster from our own doors, let us take a hand in the settlement of the common problem. If Lord BIRKENHEAD seems to sneer at a nobler motive, he dwells upon a necessary and primal one. Nobody but fanatical isolationists, to whom isolation is a saving virtue in itself, has any reason to object to this utilitarian appeal.

SHELLING THE PEOPLE'S ORACLE.

While Senator LA FOLLETTE is abroad "the interests," acting through their tools, the "corporation lawyers," are working iniquity. A special committee of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws has been in session in Minneapolis. The members are appointed by the Governors. The bills it draws up are laid before the American Bar Association, whose annual convention begins in Minneapolis tomorrow. The special committee had been asked to inquire into the advisability of drafting a uniform primary law for the election of Federal officers. The committee, after considering the principle and studying the actual workings of primary election laws, has come to the conclusion that "they lead to other evils as great as "or greater than those they were in-"tended to correct."

The report dwells on the multiplicity of names on the primary ballot. It is impossible for voters to judge the qualifications of most of the candidates. They have to select in the dark, at random. "A delegate con-"vention will be better prepared to "choose." Primary campaign advertising costs a lot of money. The candidate with a fat pocketbook has a great advantage. Legal restrictions on expenditures don't check the evil. These are the old arguments. They rest merely on experience, on fact, things not recognized in the rarefied "reform," "progressive," "radical" atmosphere. The committee repeats, with characteristic impudence, the outworn view:

> Ours is a representative Government, but the direct primary tends toward pure democracy and is a departure from the American constitutional plan. We have long lived under the "two great parties plan," with the party in power representing the majority. This plan has functioned well. But the direct primary tends to disrupt political parties and give us blocs and factional groups instead. The effect often is to place administration under minority control and to intensify the evils of political logrolling.

Who but "corporation lawyers" and their dupes would not prefer pure to impure democracy? Who but a hopeless hunker doesn't joyfully accept government by blocs and groups, the happy modern substitute for the two-party system? Isn't minority control the prevailing as well as the millennial form of government? How can the wiser thinkers of today depart too far from the American constitutional plan, work of aristocrats who distrusted the people—so easy to manage through the primary? "No one," says the committee with irritating obtuseness, "can form a sound judg-"ment without a knowledge of the "necessary facts." On the contrary, no one can form a sound judgment on political or economic matters with a knowledge of the necessary facts. This Mr. LA FOLLETTE will again show to his admiring fellow-citizens when he comes home.

STRESEMANN'S GOOD SENSE.

The fuller text of Chancellor STRESEMANN'S speech of last week is encouraging when compared with the jingoish utterances of his predecessor, Dr. CUNO. There is little bluster in it. He talks as one who is ready to face Germany's problems as they are, rather than as he would like to believe them to be. Most important of all, he grasps the fundamental fact that Germany must look to herself for her own salvation. He realizes that the best way to re-establish Germany's credit abroad is to re-establish it at home, and that in order to do this he must take drastic steps to reform the currency and the budget. As he phrased it, "the prerequisite is putting our house in order." He advocated his emergency measure for requisitioning a fund of "real" money for the Government, but added that "the emer-"gency ordinance regarding foreign "exchange is not the sole means by "which we believe we can improve "matters. Besides the mark, we must "create a currency of real value, in-"stall gold accounts in the Reichs-"bank and create real-value credits." Summing up the matter, he declared that "we have no right to hope for "the world's help if we do not prove "to the world that we still believe in "ourselves and can master our own "difficulties."

It is true that his specific offers to France left much to be desired. But here again the spirit was one of conciliation rather than of arrogance, and he made it plain that he was willing to go far in making an adjustment. To expect him all at once to abandon entirely the position taken by Chancellor CUNO is to make no allowance for internal German politics. STRESEMANN'S Government, as he says, has the strongest Parliamentary basis that any has had. To maintain this, however, requires at least lip service to many of the fallacies which have previously been worshipped. Thus he repeats the statement that Germany has already paid 42 billion gold marks in reparations. This figure was popularized by CUNO, although some of his more optimistic supporters liked to claim a payment of 100 billion gold marks. STRESEMANN, to justify his claim, refers to the report of the "Washington Institute of Economics," which credits Germany with having paid from 25 to 26 billion gold marks. The obvious purpose is to make it appear that the "Washington Institute of Economics" is an official subsidiary of the Washington Government, and thus to imply that the United States Government sanctions the claim that Germany has paid so large a sum. Of the fact that the Institute has nothing to do with the Government he makes no mention. So also does he fail to point out that its figures are avowedly estimates, and that the very report to which he refers admits that the official figures of the Reparation Commission for the same period credit Germany with only about 8 billion marks in actual payments.

In the main, however, the new Chancellor speaks with a note of reasonableness that has long been lacking in the official utterances of German spokesmen. He has not yet gone far enough. He has done only a little to make a settlement more easy. There still remains to be seen how he will be able to carry out his internal reforms, on which everything depends. But there is hope in the fact that where CUNO seemed content to talk of Germany's resolution to defy France, while by his inaction he was hastening his country's ruin, STRESEMANN talks like a man of sense and bids fair to act with courage.

THE NAVAL WAR COLLEGE.

In 1896 Secretary of the Navy HERBERT, heeding his naval advisers, sailed on the Dolphin to "break up" the War College at Newport. But he was converted into "an enthusiastic advocate" of it by reading MAHAN in the course of the voyage. Yet the service thought so little of the institution that of our thirty-one Rear Admirals on the active list on Jan. 1, 1917, only two were graduates. Hence it is not astonishing that misconceptions about its usefulness still exist. To put the Naval War College in its true light as indispensable to the training of officers for high command, Admiral SIMS has written for the September number of the World's Work an article explaining "what the Naval War College at Newport really does." The idea that it provided a post-graduate course for officers Admiral MAHAN declared a "dangerously plausible contention." Admiral SIMS says that "not only is "it not at all in the nature of a post-"graduate school, but as a matter of "fact it is not a college at all." In reality, it is "a board of practical offi-"cers brought together to discuss and "decide the extremely important "questions of how we would best con-"duct naval war under the various "conditions that may arise." The work at Newport that counts most in the training of officers is the war game. Of this Admiral SIMS writes:

> Our entire fleet, with all its auxiliaries, cruisers, destroyers, submarines, airplanes, troop transports and supply vessels, can be manoeuvred on the game board week after week throughout the college year against a similar fleet representing a possible enemy—all operations and tactical battles being governed by rules, based upon the experience of practical fleet officers, and upon the immutable principles of strategy and tactics that the students are required to learn.
> The periodical manoeuvres at sea "are necessarily of trifling value com-"pared to the year's continuous train-"ing in using both fleets on the col-"lege game board." This is so because only a few days are given to the manoeuvres, and the problems set commanders are limited. But in the war games at Newport all emergencies that can be devised are covered. The student is prepared for the unexpected. What a commander may be called upon to do in any conceivable combination of events is made clear to him. "In no other way," contends Admiral SIMS, "can there be devel-"oped a doctrine of war, which the "great naval operations of modern "fleets require, because the Com-"mander-in-Chief would often not be "within sight of one-tenth of his ves-"sels covering an area of hundreds "of square miles."
> Fortunately, the service attitude toward the War College has changed. The classes are now larger and the board game is more generally understood to be "the mental training field for the fleet's future commanders." Admiral SIMS happily calls it the "fleet gridiron," a term borrowed from football. Officers used to shun the War College course, strangely believing that it had no practical value. The active list now includes 208 graduates, 24 of them Rear Admirals.
> At Annapolis the Naval Academy cannot specialize in war games. The curriculum must be diversified to give the students a general education as well as training in their profession. Moreover, the attention required to solve intricate problems of strategy and tactics on maps and diagrams could not be expected of the average boy at Annapolis. It is work for men who have already exercised command and realize their responsibilities. So the War College course, including the board game, is indispensable. Nothing learned in the routine of a highly technical profession can take its place. Admiral SIMS quotes WINSTON CHURCHILL as saying in "The World Crisis" that England at the outset of the war "had more captains of ships than captains of war," a condition that accounted for "many untoward events." The comment of Admiral SIMS is: "We had similar experience in the great war." If the Newport War College is taken seriously as an aid to the making of captains of war that experience will not be repeated.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Friends of Irish Factions.

However the election in Ireland may turn out, the Friends of Irish Freedom in this country are resolved that in no event shall they lose—that is, lose their right to agitate and make trouble. They begin by denouncing the Irish election in advance as a "contemptible fraud." Even if the Republicans in Ireland should elect many members of the Dail they would refuse to take the oath required by the Anglo-Irish Treaty, and thus do everything in their power to leave the Irish people in a worse mess than before. Their idea of Irish freedom seems to be freedom to promote rows and perpetuate factions.

In this city the Friends of Irish Freedom are ready to make themselves very free with the judiciary. They passed solemn resolutions demanding the impeachment of Judge DANIEL COHALAN. His particular high crime and misdemeanor is having gone to Ireland to speak for the Free State and to wish it well in the Irish election. Doubtless the Judge will be astonished to learn that this was "actively opposing the republican form of government in another country and supporting imperialism and militarism." Clearly an impeachable offense!

Judge COHALAN may be excused if he is unable to recognize himself in this astonishing guise of a friend and tool of England. When he returns to New York he will doubtless give the Friends of Irish Freedom as good as they sent. As for impeachment, he scarcely needs to fear a new process after what he has gone through.

Gloucester, celebrating her three hundredth anniversary, has appropriately chosen as one of the main features of the occasion a race between Gloucester fishermen. The event is one which would have appealed to those past generations of men of Gloucester who sailed forth from the rocky headland of Cape Ann to the hard work and adventure on the Banks that brought to Gloucester both fame and fortune. For generations Gloucester men have turned to the sea. It has been their especial pride to perfect their boats as few other fishing communities have ever done, and the result has been that they have developed a type of fishing schooner which combines the two essentials of carrying capacity and speed, so important for boats making a long voyage out and back from the fishing grounds.

Unhampered by the restrictions which governed the international fishermen's regatta off Halifax last year, each captain is permitted to cross the line in the trim that best suits his vessel. There is no handicap. It is plain sailing, and the best boat wins.

This is the type of racing that was dear to the hearts of the old skippers who admired above all that skill and daring which must be displayed by the winner of an open race on the high seas. To such men the rules of regattas have always been irksome. Yacht racing may need such restrictions, but the best race for a fishing schooner is one in which there are fewest artificial regulations.

This Should Be a National Anthem.

All patriotic Americans were satisfied by the decision that the national anthem must be played at concerts in Central Park, though there is some doubt as to whether this was done on the initiative of patriotic Americans or of irreconcilable Irish expatriates. Even in the latter case, however, there was room for satisfaction, since these persons were at last serving a purpose useful to some one. Previously they had been useful to nobody, least of all to Ireland.

However, the day's news brought reports of another anthem, apparently written under precisely the same conditions of revolt against injustice backed by superior force that inspired "The Star-Spangled Banner." Out in Somerset, Pa., the Parent-Teacher Association, representing apparently only a faction of the parents and perhaps the teachers as well, petitioned the School Board to forbid rolled stockings and sleeveless dresses in the public schools. Thereupon some girls of the minority faction got up this song:

> I can show my shoulders,
> I can show my knees;
> I'm a free-born American—
> I can show what I please.

Now, this is an accurate and complete poetic expression of what was once the American spirit. For the very large number of Americans who are disgusted with our present domination by an assortment of moral oligarchies it could very well serve as a national anthem. It expresses an ideal perhaps not perfect, but deserving of considerable praise.

But for the present it expresses nothing but an aspiration. The young women who are free-born Americans obviously can't show their shoulders or their knees in Somerset, Pa. If they think they can show what they please, let them go inland and try to show something displeasing to the Ku Klux; or come to New York, and show something displeasing to Irish patriots.

Bogies of Childhood.

The old game of "playing Indian" had a tragic ending over in New Jersey on Sunday, when two boys met real death in an imaginary burning at the stake. All the participants seem to have been somewhat defective in intelligence, yet they illustrated the persistence of the Indian as a dire figure in childish mythology. It is generations since anybody in this part of the United States saw a live Indian on the warpath, yet the dread traditions linger, and it is probable that careless mothers and foolish nurses still frighten children with tales of the Red Man.

Even if boys and girls do not have the Indian as the subject of their horrible imaginings, they will have somebody or something. Either by suggestion from others or by creation out of their own fancy, they are accustomed to the fear of some monster or other who will get them if they don't watch out.

This is one of the qualifications which adults ought to keep in mind when tempted to speak enviously of "happy childhood." Fortunately, it is predominantly happy as a rule, but there are drawbacks. GEORGE ELIOT remarked on the way in which a nervous organization and an active imagination make the lives of too many children miserable to their own consciousness, although their unobservant parents are unaware of the state of dejection, melancholy or fear into which their offspring so easily fall.

Everything possible should be done by fathers and mothers and teachers to take away from childhood the fear of the Red Indian, but it seems idle to hope that the childish mind will not get up some new terror of its own.

EAST RIVER'S NIGHTLY RIOT.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There is a section of this great city which, while topographically one of the most desirable, is spoiled by conditions which could be easily remedied. I am alluding to the Manhattan waterfront on the East River near Hell Gate. It is there that the wild barge and tug captains hold their nightly riots. Whereas in other countries canal steamers and tugs have been forbidden to use sirens or other such means of signaling, on this river hootings, screechings, wails and blasts make the night hideous and the day appalling.

Yet there is a hospital on the river front where patients are entitled to quiet and repose; there are peaceful burghers whose slumbers are worthy of consideration, but all through the night and all through the day the discordant bellowings keep on with ruthless intensity. Nor does there seem to be any purpose in these barbaric outbursts; two tugs well in sight of each other will roar like prehistoric monsters, they will shriek as they come, they will shriek as they go, they will signal in angry voices to far-distant rivals, and transform silence into pandemonium.

Is there no remedy for this horrible torture? Is the Commissioner, Mr. Enright, who prohibits the mild tootings of taxis and motor trucks, aware of this nuisance and can it be that a callous set of river hogs are at liberty to ruin the nerves, disturb the sleep and retard the convalescence of the sick or the delicate?

Noise is one of the curses of city life, and it should be the aim of civic authorities to diminish its prevalence and its intensity. This seems to be a case in point, for whereas Swedish and other foreign vessels, coming from overseas and accustomed to comply with stricter regulations, find no trouble in negotiating the perils of the East River navigation without impairing the ears of the bank dwellers, all the United States tug men, ship captains and power boat owners seem to take pride in making their passage as vociferously discordant and painfully nerve-racking as their strident machines will allow.

Is deafness to be the only hope of relief from this ridiculous and unwarranted state of things?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am a New Yorker traveling in Europe and a constant reader of your valuable paper when I am home.

I thought you might like some first-hand news about the services held this morning in St. Andrew's English Church in this city, timed to take place at the same hour as that of the service in Marion for our beloved President Harding.

The Royal Artillery Band of Britain has been playing in the exposition grounds all this week—British week. At 10:45 the band played some beautiful music suitable to the occasion. The church is not a large one, and it was filled to overflowing by Americans and English-speaking Swedes. The conductor of the services was the Rev. Charles Baldwin, British Vice Consul of this town. A hymn was sung, and after the chaplain had read some passages from the Bible he and the choir chanted a prayer responsively. He then delivered a short address, eulogizing the President, speaking of his high Christian ideals, of his charm and simplicity and winning personality.

The second hymn was "Abide With Me." Then followed a "Salute to the Dead" by the drums and Chopin's "Funeral March." The chaplain was so overcome that he could not pronounce the benediction. After an awkward pause because of this, the band played "Lord of Hope and Glory" and "The Star-Spangled Banner." A large American flag was in full view at the front of the church.

It was a most impressive service. I have just written to Mrs. Harding describing it. Many Americans who are attending the International Aviation Convention asked me to tell her when I wrote that this morning they stopped all transaction of business at their convention from 10:45 to 11 in honor of the memory of our President. There were eleven nations represented and fifty-eight delegates.

Treasurer of the League of Nations.

It is odd that in Mr. W. A. du Puy's article in your last Sunday's edition, in which he rather stresses the connection of Americans with the League, he fails to mention a personage who, though not of United States nationality, being a Canadian, is an honored graduate of Amherst College, whose reunions he often attends. This is Sir Herbert Ames, Treasurer of the League of Nations, a man a good deal like Sir Eric Drummond in his modesty, which is proved by the fact that he eluded all mention by your correspondent, in spite of his influential position.

WHITE-NIGHT COURT.

It was the White-Night Court.
And the prisoner at the bar
Drooped a la mort
Beneath their merciless far-darting sport:
Eyelids you have, but useless they are;
"We can pierce them through, as though they were not,

White-Night Court—
Robed Justice ascended the bench,
Implacable front and port
(Yet none but the guilty need blench);
Witnesses—these, of the Things That Were Done,
These of the Things That Were Left Undone;
Prosecution—the evidence eager to clench;
Faint-hearted counsel, striving to bring retort—
White-Night Court!—
Yet, all of it only one,
And I that one:
Prisoner at the bar,
But, also, accusers; and they that probed;
And they that defended; and Justice black-robed,
Weighing Things Done and Things Undone;
Till the searching moon and the prying star
Were sunken and gone—
White-Night Court lost in the white of the dawn.

Have you not some time been there, too?
Do you not find my report is true?

MURDER OF "DRY" AGENTS.

Haynes Report Is Taken to Show They Are Safe Only in 'Wet' States.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Commissioner Haynes, in publishing his honor roll of agents who have met death in enforcement of prohibition, exposes facts of remarkable significance as to the relative respect for law—and for life itself—in the "dry" States and the "wet" States.

Thirty Federal prohibition agents were slain, says the Commissioner, who continues:

> Some were shot in cold blood, others in the thick of pitched battle. Some were ambushed and slain like beasts for which the hunter had set a trap. One or two were found dead in lonely or deserted places. One was killed by a bootlegger's automobile.
> Twenty-four were slain in the South and Southwest. Four were killed in Texas, three in Kentucky, two in each of the States of Alabama, Georgia, Virginia, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Missouri and Oregon, and the others elsewhere.

The Commissioner thereupon gives his list, from which it appears that an error was made as to Missouri, as only one agent appears on the list to have been slain in that State.

Aside from the one prohibition agent killed in St. Louis and the one run over and killed (perhaps accidentally) by an automobile in San Francisco, all the prohibition agents were killed in the prohibition States—the States that adopted prohibition before the proclamation of the Eighteenth Amendment, the States which were foremost in demanding the amendment to reform other States.

"Twenty-four [out of thirty] were slain in the South and Southwest," Texas, dominated by the Ku Klux Klan, heads the list. Other States where the Ku Klux and prohibition reign together, including Oregon, furnish two murders of prohibition agents each.

Not one has been killed in "wet" New York. Not one has been slain in "wet" New Jersey, "wet" Illinois, "wet" Pennsylvania, "wet" Massachusetts or "wet" Maryland. Even "wet" Louisiana, surrounded by the "dry" South, furnishes the only exception to the murder of prohibition agents in States of that section.

Not one prohibition agent was slain along the Canadian border, which is blamed so much for evasion and violation of the Eighteenth Amendment.

It appears from the Commissioner's list of prohibition martyrs that the only place where an enforcement agent's life is safe is in a State where the majority of the people are opposed to prohibition. The "wet" North and East, while it may resent prohibition agents, does not murder them. They are "shot down in cold blood" and "slain like beasts," according to Commissioner Haynes, only in those States which are on another dry "honor roll" for enforcement of and affection for the prohibition amendment!

Something is wrong with the prohibition argument that the amendment is more easily enforced in the South and Southwest when nearly all the enforcement agents who are slain are killed trying to enforce it in that section. Else the Northern and Eastern bootleggers are really a gentle and docile folk, with contempt for prohibition but universal respect for human life. The Southern moonshiner, on the contrary—and his patron, who, says Commissioner Haynes, "makes possible the illegal liquor business" and "shares with the actual murderers responsibility for the death of these brave officers"—despite the inspiration of the "dry" South, and the notable example of the Ku Klux (or perhaps because of it), prefers to shoot down the prohibition agent in cold blood rather than give up his "corn licker."

Commissioner Haynes blames the "wet" East for many sins against the sacred amendment and the holy Volstead act, but he acquits it—no doubt unconsciously—of the murder of his agents. We are grateful. Some of us still believe that murder is a worse crime than taking or buying a drink.

HARDING POSTAGE STAMP.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I not, without seeming ungracious, say a word about the new postage stamp in honor of President Harding, proposed by Postmaster General New and approved by President Coolidge?

There can be no doubt of the sincere affection in which the memory of President Harding is held by all our people. Throughout the land throngs have gathered to give expression to their grief, while all Federal buildings are still appropriately draped in black. But it is with regret, even shock, that one now reads of the intention to drape a United States stamp in the habiliments of mourning and project it into our daily life, as it is proposed to do in issuing a two-cent stamp in black and white and bearing the portrait of President Harding.

General approval would surely be given to the issuance of such a stamp in the usual way and usual color. Why not go ahead with the stamp as proposed, but put it in the usual color?

There is another question as to the use of other than the regular color for this stamp. It is, I believe, agreed with other nations that the present color shall be used for our two-cent stamp and their equivalent stamps by all nations in the Postal Union. Do we want to give another proof that we are a law unto ourselves when it pleases us to be so?

Questions Mr. Gorlitz's History.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In THE TIMES for Aug. 10 is a letter from Hugo Gorlitz, late manager for Paderewski, in which he tells of presentiments of calamity, later on fulfilled. With this side of his story I have nothing to do; but there is another side which puzzles me. He says: "In the year 1889 the heir to the Austrian throne had committed an imperial left-handed faux pas. The Emperor banished him for a while from the country as a punishment, and under the name of Baron Overbeck the Prince traveled around the world. * * * Baron Overbeck later on became the King of Serbia."

Now, the heir to the Austrian throne in 1889 was the Crown Prince Rudolph, who most certainly never became King of Serbia nor of any other country. The next heir was Franz Ferdinand, of whom the same thing is true, that he never sat on a throne anywhere. When he was assassinated in 1914 the heirship of Austria passed to his nephew Charles, who became in 1916 Emperor of Austria and King of Hungary, but most assuredly not of Serbia. Moreover, the fact that Charles was born in 1887 would appear to let him out. However precious he may have been, he would scarcely be committing "left-handed imperial faux pas" at the early age of two years or traveling about in the company of any woman save his nurse or mother. There would appear to be some "faux pas" in Mr. Gorlitz's story which it seems to me it is up to him to explain.

SHIP LINES OPPOSE HUDSON BRIDGE PLAN

MAJESTIC PROBLEM CITED

Prospective Move Uptown of Docking Points for Transatlantic Craft Causes Objection.

The prospective move uptown of the docking points of the bigger transatlantic liners formed the ground for strong opposition to the erection of the proposed Hudson River bridge at Fifty-seventh Street, expressed yesterday at a hearing of the Board of Army Engineers on the navigation features of the plan.

The march of progress of the big steamship piers on the Hudson has been and will continue to be consistently northward, T. F. Keller, Chief Engineer of the Department of Docks, declared. Mr. Keller, while making it plain that the Dock Department was non-committal as to the location of the bridge, said that, with the International Mercantile Marine and the Cunard Line moving above Forty-second Street, the distance between the bridge and the piers would not be sufficient to insure safe navigation providing the bridge is constructed according to the plans submitted.

The plans, according to Gustav Lindenthal, President of the North River Bridge Company, which has presented them for approval to the Secretary of War, call for a height above the river of 150 feet at the minimum and 170 feet at the maximum in the centre of the structure. Captain Roger Williams, manager of the operating department of the International Mercantile Marine, said that the height of the mainmast of the Majestic was 218 feet above the water and that the height of the funnels was 145 feet, which would not allow a sufficient margin of safety for docking.

Safety Room for Large Ships.

"I would like to point out the practical difficulties in handling a ship like the Majestic," he said. "If she were being docked at flood time it is necessary to go up past the pier, stem the tide and warp her in alongside. The ship is 956 feet long. You can readily understand that if the Majestic were docking at Forty-sixth Street, there would not be sufficient room in which to manoeuvre.

"About a mile would be required above the pier for safety. We have been docking the ship frequently at flood tide. If we had to wait for ebb tide, it would mean a great loss of time.

"Under the present plan the bridge would be less than 150 feet above the river except in the centre. Lowering the main topmast by telescoping or hinging it would not solve our difficulties. The funnels would have to be lowered too. The question of the funnels is a very important one. The height of the funnels is based on the requirements for proper draught.

"The bridge, under the present plan, is too near the piers to make docking of a ship like the Majestic at flood tide practicable."

Colonel Henry C. Newcomber, head of the Board of Army Engineers, said that figures on the height of the largest ships docking here showed that there were thirty-six which would not pass under the bridge. He declared that the question of height, since there were to be no bridge piers between pierhead lines, and, because of the extraordinary span, possibly the question of safety were the only ones with which the board was concerned.

Mr. Lindenthal, who for nearly thirty years has been dreaming and planning for a bridge across the Hudson, outlined, at the outset of the hearing, the general plan of the bridge. Anticipating possible objections to the clearance of space which he has provided, Mr. Lindenthal, while admitting that there were many ships which could not pass under the bridge, declared that this difficulty could be obviated by simple mechanical methods for lowering the superstructure.

Interested in Safety of Span.

"Has the plan for the bridge been submitted to any disinterested consulting engineer?" Colonel Newcomber asked at one stage of the hearing. He added that the board was particularly interested as to the safety of the proposed I-beam construction for the long single span.

"There have been attacks on this same bridge ever since it was first proposed thirty-five years ago," replied Mr. Lindenthal. "The possibility of a single span has been considered time and time again by boards and commissions appointed by the Government, and they all decided that the bridge was practicable."

"The original plan called for a suspension bridge of the wire cable type," said Colonel Newcomber. "Has the I-beam type been approved?"

"No," replied Mr. Lindenthal. "We have not come to that yet. Whatever engineers you scrape up in the whole world I will either convince them or they will convince me. But to have anybody like the Board of Aldermen decide, I will not."

The hearing was held before Colonel Newcomber, Colonel F. C. Boggs and Lieut.-Col. J. R. Slattery. Colonel Newcomber announced that about thirty letters in favor of the bridge and three opposing it had been received. Among those present at the hearing, but who did not express either approval or disapproval of the bridge, were Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene, New York State Highways Commissioner; Major Elihu Church, engineer of the Port Authority, and Arthur Tuttle, engineer of the Board of Estimate.

RULER OF BARODA DIES ON JOURNEY

Maharaja Gaekwar, Said to Be Richest Prince in India, Succumbs in Holland.

HEAD OF 2,126,000 PEOPLE

His Reign Marked by Reforms and Prosperity—Was Lavishly Entertained in America.

FLUSHING, Holland, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—Maharaja Gaekwar of Baroda, said to be the richest Prince in India, died here tonight on a journey from Berlin. He was taken ill on the train and died just before reaching Flushing. The Maharaja visited the United States twice and was lavishly entertained in New York and Washington. His first visit in 1906 was a short one, but when he came by way of Japan in 1910 he made a tour of the country.

The Maharaja of Baroda was 60 years old. He was a descendant of the famous Mahratta leader, Gamaji Gaekwar, who obtained from the Shahu of Satara the title of Shamsher Bahadur for bravery at the Battle of Ballapur, fought against the imperial forces of Delhi at the close of the seventeenth century.

The reign of the dead Maharaja was one of progress and prosperity. His State in India covers 8,182 square miles and contains a population of 2,126,000 souls. He was a cultured man and had written extensively on India. Not alone was he popular in India, but also in England, this fact being due to his strong support of British rule in India.

During the World War he donated from his own purse and from subscriptions raised by him several million pounds sterling. From his private purse his donations went for airplanes, motor lorries and various war relief funds.

Although the Maharajah during his rule introduced throughout his State revisions of old laws which had proved onerous to his subjects, his greatest attention was given to education, including technical training, industrial arts and handicraft. Schools were opened for people of low caste and boarding schools for the lowest and previously neglected classes.

Some of the enthusiastic subjects of the Maharajah liked to call him "the Roosevelt of India," alluding to his fondness for direct action, his freedom from convention when that interfered with accomplishing worth-while things, and his liberal, democratic ways. He did not seem to care for the sacred elephants and other trappings of his rank, and though owner of the finest collections of jewels in the world he chose to dress as simply as an ordinary citizen except on state occasions.

The first of his many reforms was the abolition of infant marriages. He did away with a style of land and social taxation, with religious restrictions, and throughout his reign left untenanted the zenana adjoining his palace, remaining content with a single wife. He worked as hard at his duties of sovereignty as a corporation president at some improvement in every matter affecting the condition of his people. His journeys abroad were for the purpose of learning from the Western civilization that he might the better govern in India.

In 1911 his name appeared in scandalous connection when George Wellington Statham, an English lawyer of moderate means, named him as co-respondent in his divorce suit and asked damages of $100,000. The Prince denied the jurisdiction of the court on the ground that he was a foreign ruler. When George V. visited Delhi in the Fall of 1911, the Gaekwar caused a sensation by appearing at the Durbar in casual dress, merely bowing perfunctorily to the King, and then turning back. An apology followed, and King George evidently considered that the services of the Gaekwar during the war made up for the discourtesy, for in 1919 he awarded him the Grand Cross of the Order of the Indian Empire.

MRS. HANNA'S ESTATE SOLD.

Special to The New York Times.

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 27.—Bonny Brier Farm, the 1,000-acre estate of Mrs. Mollie Covington Hanna, of Neal Beach, N. J., her late husband, Dan R. Hanna's wedding present, was sold this afternoon at auction to Gilbert M. Brewer, of Pittsfield, an automobile dealer, for $48,000. He was the only bidder. The estate comprises a villa, twenty other buildings, a mile of Mahkeenac Lake shore and 770 acres of forest. The property at first was offered in ten parcels by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, and the bids totalled $47,925. As Brewer's bid for all of it was larger, it was given to him. The property was assessed this year for $215,356.

The sale, which must be approved by the Probate Court at Pittsfield, was made upon order of Mrs. Hanna's guardian, James D. Carten, of Asbury Park, N. J.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Aug. 27.—The Bulgarian ex-Minister to Prague, M. Daskaloff, who was shot in a street of the Czech capital yesterday while walking with a friend, who was only slightly injured, was an intimate friend of the late Bulgarian dictator, Stamboulaki.

He refused to recognize the present Bulgarian Government, refused to hand over the affairs of the legation to his successor and was apparently working at organizing a counter-revolution. His assassin, Nikoloff, a young man of 26, wished to thwart Daskaloff's plans by his revolver shots.

Moran, Accused of Schoellkopf Theft, Sought Reduction.

Judge Mancuso in General Sessions yesterday denied the motion of counsel for Eugene Moran for a decrease of his bail from $125,000 on indictments charging him and two others with the theft of $500,000 worth of gems from Mrs. C. F. Wing Schoellkopf of Buffalo, last New Year's morning at 94 West Fifty-seventh Street.

Assistant District Attorney Peters informed the court that counsel for Moran also had applied to the Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus in connection with the high bail and that argument on the motion would be made before Justice Black this morning.

OTTO M. SCHIFF HELPS STRANDED EMIGRANTS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Otto M. Schiff, a member of a well-known New York banking family resident in London, is stated by The Daily Chronicle to have been instrumental in sending over 250 emigrants to the United States, who sailed yesterday by the Tyrrhenia.

These emigrants reached Southampton six months ago from Russia and Poland. Friends in the United States had scraped together just sufficient to pay their passage, but it was found that their passports were inadequately filled in as to several important details. They had no money to return to their homes and the Cunard Company housed and fed them for weeks until Mr. Schiff formed a small committee which gave instructions that the emigrants were to be provided with clothes and other necessities and sent back to Poland and Russia in order that correct passports could be obtained.

Mr. Schiff was reticent about the part he himself played in the rescue of the stranded emigrants, but it is believed that he spent a very large sum of money in helping the forlorn people to get to America armed with correct papers. The last batch of the emigrants sailed happily from Southampton yesterday for America.

DESPAIRS OF RUSSIAN TRADE

British Mission Reported to Have Rejected Soviet Offer.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—A dispatch from Warsaw to The Daily Mail states that the British Commercial Mission which went recently to Russia and which was reported from Moscow to be hopeful of trading possibilities between Britain and Russia, has returned to Riga, despairing of re-establishing trading relations with the Soviet Government.

The mission included Sir Charles Wright, Director of Bems Traders, Ltd. The mission was informed that concession for the sale of machinery would be granted if seven years' credit was given and creditors would have the right to sue before Soviet tribunals if the peasants then refused to pay. One member of the mission said it would be fifty years before Russian trade would become profitable.

TO BURY MUD VICTIM HERE.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 27.—The body of Captain Frank E. Fitzsimmons, World War aviator, who, with his mechanician, Gunnar Lindahl, was suffocated in mud near Pleasantville late yesterday, was taken to New York for burial.

James M. Fitzsimmons of 661 West 180th Street, Manhattan, a brother of the dead aviator, announced that the funeral would be held Thursday and that interment would be in Calvary Cemetery.

The remains of Lindahl will be kept in a morgue in Pleasantville until word is received from relatives in Denmark.

County Physician Lewis R. Souder said there would be no inquest, as the case was purely one of accident. Officials believe the accident was due to the failure of Captain Fitzsimmons to maintain control over the plane, owing to his wooden leg. He had lost a leg while flying in Boston after he was mustered out of service.

FOGS OFF GLOUCESTER DELAY SCHOONER RACE

Special to The New York Times.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 27.—Three of Gloucester's fastest fishermen loafed around outside of Eastern Point for four hours today waiting for the fog to clear and the wind to blow. As neither took place, the race for the Lipton and Prentice Cups and several thousand dollars in cash prizes was postponed until Thursday, much to the disappointment of a harbor full of spectator craft and several thousand people clustered on the red granite ledges of Old Mother Ann. The committee, after officially postponing the races at noon, reconsidered and then after waiting an hour more, called it off for the day.

During the forenoon the Henry Ford, the Elizabeth Howard and the Shamrock, which was launched only a week ago and with riggers still on her decks, jogged about with fog horns blowing and indulged in a few brushes, the Howard passing the Shamrock in a short scrap.

From a water front standpoint, the event of the day was the visit of Sir Thomas Lipton, accompanied by former Mayor John F. Fitzgerold of Boston. A band and company of soldiers escorted the Irish yachtsmen through cheering crowds and after a lunch at the Summer cottage of Colonel John H. Prentice of New York, the party went down to the gas house wharf where Sir Thomas was photographed at the wheel of the Shamrock with Captain Marty Welch on one side and "Honey Fitz" on the other.

After the customary rendition of "Sweet Adeline," the party adjourned to Stage Fort Park, where Sir Thomas and Colonel Prentice presented the cups bearing their names to each of the three Captains, the movie and still cameramen being charged not to use the picture until after Thursday and then only the one of the winning skipper.

The race on Thursday will be over the same course as that planned for today, but the start will be an hour later. The Mayflower, whose owners were so desirous of a race last year, did not appear, as she was still out fishing. She may be back from the banks, however, in time for the race Thursday.

HEALTH WORK IN POLAND.

American Committee Transfers Affairs to Native Society.

Announcement is made that the public health work of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee in Poland, comprising the establishment of hospitals, dispensaries, public health stations, nurses' training schools, sanatoria for various diseases, sanitary wells and public bathhouses, is at present being turned over to the Society for Public Health in Poland, which has been formed by the American committee for the purpose of continuing its work.

The society is an organization composed of the most prominent medical men in Poland and of the most active public workers in every community. The society has recently been legalized by the Polish Government and will in future administer the institutions founded by the American committee and the funds appropriated for their upkeep.

The institutions founded by the committee comprise forty-three hospitals erected or rehabilitated and subventioned; twelve sanatoria for tuberculosis repaired and subsidized; forty-six dispensaries; three nurseed training schools; twenty-two orphanages and homes. One of the results of the war and excesses was the destruction of wells. To secure a sanitary water supply twenty-nine wells were dug or repaired at various points.

A source of disease and epidemics was the enforced uncleanliness through the destruction of public bathhouses; 213 of these were erected or repaired and subventioned. To this cause can also be ascribed the epidemic of favus, a disease of the scalp, that has been raging chiefly among children.

A special fund of $100,000 was set aside for combating this disease in nine X-ray stations; sixteen dental clinics were opened and seventy-five physicians were placed in rural communities.

Including the expenditures for medical supplies, the entire amount appropriated for this work by the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee amounted to $561,800.

DETECTIVE IN FIGHT WITH 2 POLICEMEN

McCUTCHEON IS SUSPENDED

Perjury Case Against Two Sergeants Made at Police Hearing Not Yet Taken Up.

A row between a detective of Inspector Bolan's staff and two uniformed patrolmen of the West Thirtieth Street Station, over an arrest for an alleged liquor violation in an Eighth Avenue restaurant, resulted yesterday in the arrest of the policemen by the detective, who charged that they had beaten him.

The detective—Thomas J. McCutcheon—who took not only the policemen but the restaurant proprietor and a waiter as well to the police station, was ordered suspended, following an investigation of the fracas, it was announced later from Police Headquarters. The charges against the policemen, and counter-charges against the detective were dismissed by Magistrate Sweetser, who referred the dispute to Police Commissioner Enright for settlement.

McCutcheon told Magistrate Sweetser, sitting in West Side Court, that he had entered the Landmark Restaurant, 668 Eighth Avenue, early yesterday morning and that, finding a violation of the prohibition law, he was making arrests when the two patrolmen entered. They were Joseph McKay and Cornelius White, both of the West Thirtieth Street Station.

Henry McGuire, proprietor of the restaurant, and John Nolan, a waiter, the persons McCutcheon was attempting to arrest, refused to recognize him as an officer, he said. The policemen, hearing their argument, broke in between them, according to McCutcheon, and started to beat him. A general mixup ensued, in which, the detective charged, Patrolman McKay struck him with a night stick. It was fifteen minutes later, McCutcheon declared, before he recovered sufficiently to exhibit his credentials as a detective and place the policemen under arrest.

The policemen told Magistrate Sweetser that they had not recognized the detective and that he had not shown any credentials to them. They said they had entered the restaurant when the noise of the row reached them on post below Forty-second Street. They had gone away from their post, they said, because there had been a murder in the district earlier in the evening and they were exercising extraordinary vigilance.

Detective Sergeants William Morrison and David Lambert, who admitted testifying falsely as to critical points before Judge Thomas C. T. Crain in his investigation of police bootlegging charges, have not been tried for their conduct at the hearing. At the time of their admission on June 28 that they had uttered false testimony, Judge Crain directed Chief Inspector William J. Lahey, who was in the courtroom, to take the two detectives back to headquarters for departmental action.

Several days after they had testified, the two detectives were suspended. It developed yesterday that no formal charges were made against them at the time, but following the return from Europe of First Deputy Commissioner John A. Leach such charges were prepared. The detectives appeared in answer to the charges and asked for an adjournment to engage counsel. The plans for the trial of the two men, whom Judge Crain branded as unfit to be on the police force, could not be learned at headquarters, although there was an intimation that it might not take place until the Crain inquiry is over.

Martin Delphin, Assistant Corporation Counsel assigned to Police Headquarters, said that it would have to be shown that the testimony was pertinent to the issue in order to prove perjury.

"Wouldn't the fact that these men gave false testimony be sufficient grounds for their removal?" he was asked.

"No," he replied.

John D. Lindsay, counsel for Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan in the criminal libel proceedings brought by Commissioner Enright, which are the basis of the Crain inquiry, has filed with Judge Crain a complaint charging the two detectives with perjury. Judge Crain, while accepting the complaint, declined to make it a part of the present proceeding. It is expected, however, that further steps will be taken against the two detectives if the Police Department does not act.

Ernest and Nicholas Petrucci, important witnesses in the Crain inquiry, visited the District Attorney's office yesterday, with their counsel, former Magistrate Frederick J. Groehl. Nicholas Petrucci has been ordered to show cause before Judge Crain today why he should not be punished for contempt in giving evasive testimony. The visit of the brothers to Acting District Attorney Pecora gave rise to reports that the brothers were prepared to give testimony on important points. Mr. Pecora told reporters that the purpose of the visit was to ask permission to read over their statements at an inquiry before Chief Inspector Lahey into charges involving several members of the Police Department, in connection with the stopping of a truck load of liquor in May, 1921. Mr. Pecora said that he had declined to grant the request.

Both of the Petruccis are expected to be called as witnesses when the police hearing is resumed before Judge Crain this morning.

Papers filed in the Supreme Court yesterday show that Robert J. Owens, a policeman, was arrested and released in $3,000 bail in a civil suit for $20,000 damages brought by Isidor Wolkin, a druggist, for damages, charging that Owens arrested him on March 23 in his store on a charge of selling a pint of alcohol without a Government permit. It is alleged that the arrest of Wolkin was made by Owens without a warrant and that the druggist was acquitted in July.

Wolkin alleges that in addition to the injury to his feelings and reputation by his arrest, he was about to sell his place for $18,000 when he was arrested but the sale fell through, and he had to sell later for $14,000.

CHILE TO ASK FOR DELAY.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Chile intends to ask for the extra two months allowed in the preparation of its arguments in the Tacna-Arica territorial dispute with Peru which is to be submitted to the arbitration of the President of the United States. But for this the arguments of both the Chilean and Peruvian Commissions would have been presented to President Coolidge on Sept. 15.

The Chileans, it is understood, have virtually completed the argument they will present to the arbiter, but desire that the American legal advisers whom they have engaged may have opportunity to study it as fully as possible in all its phases.

ASSAILS WORK'S AIM IN REMOVING DAVIS

DECLARES POLITICS RULED

Asks Secretary to Show How Country Is Benefited by the Change.

SAYS LAW WAS IGNORED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—William Dudley Foulke, President of the National Civil Service Reform League, has written to Secretary Work asking questions regarding the dismissal of Arthur Powell Davis as Director of the Reclamation Service and the appointment of D. W. Davis, which is said to be contrary to civil service law.

Mr. Foulke questions the authority of the Secretary of the Interior to abolish an office in the classified civil service and to appoint to the same office, with a mere change of title, a man without civil service status. The controversy over the dismissal of Arthur Powell Davis, which has agitated not only civil service advocates, but thousands of technical men, will be the subject of investigation by the next Congress.

After going into the qualifications of Mr. Davis, the politician, as contrasted with those of Mr. Davis, the engineer, Mr. Foulke asks:

"Can you wonder that to many it seems that your statement of Aug. 15 that the problems of water users could be 'best handled by a practical business man,' alludes rather to the business of politics than to any other business, and that there is a fear that the public interest will be sacrificed to the demand for men useful to the party, not only among the farmers and water users, but also in the next convention and campaign?

"You once stated to me that 'other things being equal, Republicans should be appointed to places under a Republican administration.' Are you not now extending that principle so as to make it provide that in serviceable Republican politician should be appointed whether other things are equal or not?

"Was Mr. Davis's resignation voluntary or requested?" Mr. Foulke asks in his letter. "Was he not informed before you on June 30th that he had decided to give his place to another man, and did you not then request him to send in his resignation to take effect June 30?

"Did he not, accordingly, write you that in pursuance of your suggestion he so tendered his resignation, and did you not thereupon object to his statement that the resignation had been requested, and say that you would prefer that it should appear that it had been initiated by himself and that surely he would not desire to advertise the fact that he had been fired? And did he not answer that he desired the world to know the facts, whatever they were? Did he not afterward write you that he had reconsidered his decision to eliminate those words, considering that that would be like making himself party to a public deception?

"If your reasons for his removal were wholly for the interest of the service and were not political, why did you wish him to deceive the public?

"You say that no diminished construction program is anticipated, but rather an increased and accelerated construction, and that the same chief engineer now is at the head of the work. But if these projects are still before you, ought they not still to be under the direction of the experienced man who had begun them—a man who has been offered and is now earning in private employment far greater compensation than he received from a Government which he was patriotically serving to his own pecuniary loss?

"You say you offered him an appointment as consulting engineer. Was not this offer made on condition that he would omit the statement that his resignation as director was requested? And did you not warn him of the consequence to himself if he refused to omit that statement? Why did you do this? Did he not request you for a written statement of the reasons for his removal, and did you not answer that he was not entitled to such a statement under the law?

"You say advice to the farmers was needed regarding the subdivision of large landholding, getting more settlers, securing industrial enterprises, more intensive farming and co-operation in handling and marketing products by men trained along these lines. Is not such service now being rendered by men trained along these lines in the employment of the Department of Agriculture?

"If you were looking for business qualifications, did you appoint a man who had been successful in business? Was the bank of which Governor Davis was the organizer and President markedly successful? Was it not rather to politics that his principal activities have been devoted? Had he not been a candidate for other Federal appointments?"

DEPRESSED, TRIES SUICIDE.

Acute mental depression producing fear of madness caused Fred A. Zachan, 35 years old, of 150 Haven Avenue, to attempt suicide in the washroom of the West 152d Street Police Station yesterday.

Zachan shot himself in the chest with a revolver. Patrolman Louis Kefsky was in the rest room and hurried to the man's aid. Zachan handed the patrolman a packet of letters, saying, "Leave me alone. I want to die." An ambulance was summoned, and Zachan was taken to the Knickerbocker Hospital in a critical condition. There is a chance he may recover, although the bullet passed through his body. A charge of violating the Sullivan law was lodged against him and he was put under technical arrest in the hospital.

The packet given the police contained letters to his wife; to his sister, Miss Viola Zachan, Hotel Breslin, and telegrams to Mrs. W. A. Needham, Syracuse, N. Y., and Mrs. Frank A. Reilly, care A. & J. Engel, Inc., 20 West Thirty-third Street, by which firm he had been employed for several years. The letter to his wife was dated "Sunday evening," and begged forgiveness for his act. In apparent terror of insanity he wrote: "Each day I live I commit a crime. But I did want to live and be happy like other people. It hasn't been that, but my own wrong thinking. But the mind is too weak to form or absorb good thoughts." To the police he said, "I have failed in everything."

Patrolman A. Reilly, of A. & J. Engel, said that he had known Zachan for three years and that he was a man of the highest character and of unquestioned business ability, for whom he had the deepest regard. He said that Zachan was subject to occasional attacks of melancholia. Zachan was to have gone to Syracuse yesterday to superintend the unloading of a piano for A. Milgrim & Bros., 2,181 Broadway, the store which was robbed early on Sunday by thieves who smashed the show window and escaped with $25,000 worth of furs.

"Following successive increases totaling 85 cents a hundred pounds (46.5 quarts) by the farmers in their price of milk to us, we have found it necessary to advance our prices to consumers. Our new schedules, effective Sept. 1, provide for an increase of 1 cent a quart on Grades B and A bottled milk, making these 15 and 18 cents, respectively, in Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx. Loose milk will also be increased 1 cent a quart, but there will be no change in the price of Grade B pints, bottled or in the grades of cream.

"During August the farmers added 40 cents a hundred pounds to their price to us, which we did not pass on to the consumers. They have now announced a further increase of 25 cents a hundred pounds, making a total increase of about 1 2-5 cents a quart. We will carry the additional two-fifths of a cent for the present."

AUTO KILLS CHILD ON STATEN ISLAND

NEWARK BUS TAKES ONE LIFE

One child was killed and another perhaps fatally injured last night on Staten Island when they were knocked down by an automobile at Clove Street and Mosel Avenue, Grassmere. The children, Norma Hemmes, 4, of 78 Sheridan Avenue and Beatrice Changnon, 5, of 2,088 Clove Avenue, both Grassmere, walked from the sidewalk into the path of a machine owned and operated by Thomas S. Delaney of 1,772 Hylan Boulevard, Great Kills, S. I.

Both were struck by the front right wheel of Delaney's car. The base of her skull fractured, Norma died within a few minutes. Beatrice, who received contusions of the brain and fractured right arm and leg, was taken to the Staten Island Hospital, where physicians said they entertained little hope for her recovery.

Delaney was arrested on a technical charge of manslaughter and released in $2,500 bail for appearance in court today.

Nicholas Jaffalos of 241 Bank Street, Newark, died in the City Hospital there yesterday, four hours after he had been struck by a jitney bus in Market Street.

Cornelius Nun, who lived in North First Street, Paterson, was killed when his automobile was struck by a New York, Susquehanna & Western Railroad train at the Eighty-second Street crossing, Paterson. Nun's machine was carried several hundred feet before the train stopped. Nun is survived by a wife and eight children.

Mrs. Louise Federeci of 210 Bank Street, Newark, is reported dying in the Somerset Hospital at Somerville, N. J., from injuries received Sunday when an automobile in which she was riding overturned, pinning her underneath. She sustained a fractured skull. Everett Frank and Miss Catherine Frank, who were in the car, escaped injury.

Four persons were injured in a head-on collision between two tourings cars at Eastchester Avenue and Pelham Parkway, the Bronx, early yesterday. Richard P. Blank, 31, of 1,643 Avenue A, who was coming east on Pelham Parkway in his car, swerved in a vain attempt to avoid hitting John O'Malley, a watchman. In doing so, he struck an automobile driven by Max Budd, 45, of 2,448 Eastchester Avenue.

Budd and his wife were thrown to the street, as were Blank and William H. Quinn, of 125 East Eighty-third Street, who were in the other machine. Budd fractured his left arm. His wife sustained lacerations of the hip. Quinn and O'Malley received lacerations. Blank was unhurt. The four injured were taken to Fordham Hospital.

Magistrate House in the Traffic Court fined Morton Ascher, 22, of 555 West 160th Street, $35 for failing to stop eight feet behind a street car which had halted.

Magistrate House imposed sentence of fifteen days in the workhouse on Ben Williams, a negro chauffeur, of 506 Lenox Avenue, who had disregarded two summonses for traffic violations and who was convicted of speeding.

KILLED BY FALL FROM CLIFF.

Bronx Resident, Found Unconscious, Succumbs in Hospital.

Charles Freeman, 60 years old, said to have been a wealthy resident of the Bronx, where he lived at 5,455 Sylvan Avenue, died yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital, Yonkers, from injuries received Sunday. He was found unconscious near the Mount Hope Station, suffering from concussion of the brain and a punctured left lung.

The police said that he probably had fallen from one of the cliffs near the station, but they are unable to find out how he came to be there.

Freeport Accepts It for Award in Firemen's Tournament.

FREEPORT, L. I., Aug. 27.—Considerable discussion was caused at the final meeting tonight of the committee in charge of arrangements for the home firemen's tournament to be held here on Labor Day by the announcement that the local branch of the Ku Klux Klan had offered a cup for competition by the seven local companies on that day. It was decided to accept the cup. The offer was made in a letter left on the porch of the home of Willis M. Sumpter, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements.

The tournament had been an annual affair of many years standing here up to two years ago. It is planned to revive it next month. Among others who have donated trophies are Congressman Robert L. Bacon and Supervisor Hiram Smith.

KLAN RIOT INQUIRY BALKED AT CARNEGIE

THREE STILL HELD IN JAIL

Undertaker May Be Accused of Klansman's Murder—Knights Guard Body.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 27.—Impenetrable secrecy has surrounded Carnegie's population of both Klan and anti-Klan persuasion since yesterday, and county officials investigating the trouble there declared tonight that their task of locating eye-witnesses of the fatal riot between the Klansmen and the townspeople Saturday night has become a most difficult one.

So far the investigation has disclosed little information that could be used as a basis for placing the blame and bringing before the bar of justice those responsible for inciting the riot which resulted in the death of one man, fatal injury to two others and more or less serious injuries to scores of others.

None of the injured has been located. So far as Carnegie information is concerned, no person was injured, despite the continued hail of bullets, bricks, stones, clubs and missiles of every sort. Detectives have scoured the town, questioning in vain every person they met for a name or list of names of the injured.

The high lights of the clash are:

The arrest of Patrick McDermott, aged 65, an undertaker of Carnegie, in connection with the death of Thomas R. Abbott, aged 27, of Atlasbury, Washington County, a Klansman.

A report that two men, one in the Homeopathic and the other in Mercy Hospital, are believed to be dying. The hospital authorities refuse to give their names.

Rewards of $2,500 each for the arrest and conviction of Abbott's slayer or slayers made by Dr. H. W. Evans, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, and Sam D. Rich, Pennsylvania King Kleagle.

An additional reward of $2,500 for the arrest and conviction of the inciter or inciters of the riot. Both rewards have been offered by the Pennsylvania Realm of the Klan.

The mysterious disappearance of almost a score of persons who are believed, according to the Carnegie police, to have been in close proximity of the riot.

McDermott is in the Allegheny County jail and will probably be charged with murder, Coroner McGregor said today.

Walter K. Flaherty and Joseph Joyce, arrested when a shot gun and a revolver were found in their automobile, together with Lawrence Kimel, alleged to have had his arms full of bricks, are lodged in the same jail for their alleged part in the riot.

An investigation will be conducted by Coroner McGregor and District Attorney Gardner into official Carnegie, it was announced today, to determine whether or not, in attempting to halt the parade, the officials were within their rights.

Officials have learned, they said, that considerable shooting was done by Klansmen.

In checking up the number of persons attending the meeting at the Forsythe farm Saturday, officials say there were nearly 25,000. More than 5,000 automobiles were parked on and near the fifty-acre farm.

The guard, it was said, would be maintained until tomorrow afternoon, when funeral services will be held with all of the Pennsylvania gentry of the order and an "army of Klansmen" in attendance. The full ritual of the hooded knights will be used.

Scores of men and women visited the house last night and today.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Aug. 27.—Threats of ambushing the big parade of the Ku Klux Klan scheduled for Sept. 1 here may lead to calling off both konklave and procession. The permit has been granted for the parade, but it will probably be revoked on the ground of public safety, as feeling between Klansmen and their antagonists is high in this area.

BINGHAMTON KLAN IN STREET BATTLE

Special to The New York Times.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 27.—One man was stabbed through the hand and numerous fist fights occurred among the crowd of 2,000 persons that assembled in Court House Square at 8 o'clock tonight in answer to a call of the Ku Klux Klan for an indignation meeting to protest against discriminating against Klan members.

Klan officials alleged that Mayor Thomas A. Wilson had refused a permit for 7,000 Knights from all parts of the State to parade here. Mayor Wilson denied the allegation, explaining the city law does not require a permit and said that he had informed the Klan officials their parade would be afforded adequate police protection if they would notify the police of the time and place of the proposed parade.

Major M. E. Smith, Grand Kleagle of the State, announced that under the rules of the order the Klan could not parade without a formal permit, and called the protest meeting. The call was in the form of circulars left on doorsteps last Sunday night and at 8 o'clock when the meeting opened with the singing of "America," a fiery cross burned brightly on a hillside overlooking the city.

President Hubert D. Ballard of the Common Council introduced the speaker who was from another city and whose Common Council introduced the speaker, declared the Klan was not opposed to any race, but stood for pure Americanism. His remarks were greeted by alternate cheers and jeers.

During the address several fist fights started, but they were promptly suppressed by police reserves. One man who slashed another's hand with a knife was arrested. Several hundred persons pursued the patrol wagon to the City Jail. Several other arrests were made.

MEXICO CITY EDITOR SEIZED

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 27.—The publication of articles denouncing the Ku Klux Klan and denying the existence of that organization in Mexico is believed to have been responsible for the kidnapping last Saturday night of Jose Campos, director of the newspaper Excelsior.

Señor Campos was overpowered upon leaving his home and was held captive for four hours by a group of masked men in a suburb of the capital.

He was not harmed, but was forced to promise to publish an article admitting the existence of the Klan in Mexico. He was told that the organization had been formed for the purpose of enforcing justice, since the Government permitted it was inactive.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—An extraordinary walking match between two Members of Parliament ended today in the complete collapse of Captain Charles Ainsworth, Conservative Member for Bury, and the utter exhaustion of the winner, Frederick Gray, Liberal Member for Oxford City. Each contestant carried the full kit of a private soldier, including the rifle. The course was about twenty-three miles along the high road from Banbury Cross to the Martyrs' Memorial in Oxford. The start was made at 7 A. M., Mrs. Gray following the walkers in an automobile. The first halt was called after fifteen and one-half miles had been traversed.

At that time Captain Ainsworth was 300 yards ahead, but Mr. Gray stopped to refresh himself with cold tea. Captain Ainsworth also took a rest and made the mistake of taking off his boots. Getting them on his swollen feet again lost him the lead, but he called to his rival as he swung past him: "Cheerio! Gray! Jolly well walked!"

Gray now was eighty yards ahead and received an ovation from a crowd of his friends and tenants as he passed his own home. They joined the competitors, marching with them and singing old army songs.

Twenty miles were covered in four and three-quarters hours and then Captain Ainsworth put on a spurt and drew level with Mr. Gray. A crowd of 5,000 was now trailing the contestants.

Suddenly Mr. Gray gave a twitch and fell. His wife and eight men ran to him and fanned and massaged him frantically. In ten minutes he was up again, but after staggering 300 yards he fell again. It seemed as if he was seriously ill, and Mrs. Gray sent one of the accompanying newspaper men to fetch a doctor from Oxford.

This had given Captain Ainsworth a mile lead, but, despite frequent douches of whisky and brandy on his neck and head, he was in a very bad way. He was already in the outskirts of Oxford, when suddenly his leg, wounded in the war, gave way. Three times he fell, and Mr. Gray, who had recovered marvelously, caught up with him.

Captain Ainsworth made a final effort and began to run, but he collapsed again. His wife, who had come from Oxford to meet him, helped to revive him, but she would do nothing to make him give up. It was the doctor who intervened; he felt Ainsworth's pulse and said:

"I refuse to allow this to go on. Give me that rifle and pack."

Meanwhile Gray had had difficulty in pushing his way through the crowd to the Martyrs' Memorial. The police helped him, and he made the next few yards at the double, touched the railings and fell in a faint. Mrs. Gray forced her way to his side and kissed him as he lay unconscious.

Mr. Gray is 42 years old and Captain Ainsworth 48. Gray's time was just under six hours.

ONE FREED IN $3,000 BAIL

Special to The New York Times.

BELMAR, N. J., Aug. 27.—Richard Forman and Caleb Hubbard, the two youths accused of tying two younger boys to a tree and "burning them at the stake" yesterday evening, were held here this afternoon for the Grand Jury. They were charged with manslaughter, to which they pleaded not guilty through counsel. They were sent to the county jail at Freehold. Later, at Freehold, County Judge Lawrence accepted $3,000 bail for Forman, who was released.

Four witnesses told in graphic detail how they found William Hubbard and Charles Spindler burned almost beyond recognition in the woods in the outskirts of the town. The hearing was before Justice of the Peace Nell Alger and Mayor William B. Bamford of Belmar. Neither Mr. and Mrs. Allen Spindler, the parents of Charles, nor the parents of Richard Forman were present. Mrs. Della Hubbard, with her remaining son charged with the death of his brother, sat throughout the entire proceeding beside the boys' stepfather.

Peter F. Gough, a contractor, of Belmar, one of the first to reach the two boys after they had been burned, told the Court of driving home just after 7 o'clock last evening and being told by his wife that there was a fire in the rear of their property.

"I started out to the fire with Henry Brockstead," said Mr. Gough. "Next we heard some one crying: 'Help, two boys are burning up!' When we got to the scene, one boy was about 12 feet from the tree and the other was about 25 feet, with all their clothes burned off them. We got some oil and blankets and took them to Ann May Hospital. I asked them who did the burning and they told me one was Hubbard and the other was Dick Forman. The boys did not tell me they were playing a game at all."

Saw a Boy Running Away.

Mr. Brockstead said that as he went toward the injured boys, he saw a boy running away through the woods. Horrified at the state of the burned boys, he said, he paid little attention to anything else and could not identify either prisoner as the youth he had seen on the run. Mr. Brockstead testified that he had seen no ropes and, in answer to a question from Bernard V. Poland of Bradley Beach, counsel for the prisoners, said he had not seen either victim tied to the tree. Only the Spindler boy was conscious, he said, and he told him that "Dicky Forman tied me."

Mrs. Anna Seigel, who lives near the woods, said she had heard the boys back of her home and thought they were playing until she heard a terrified plea for help.

"I was standing at my back door, which leads into the woods where the fire occurred," she said. "I was listening and I heard one boy say: 'Oh, my God. What did we do.' 'There's oil around here.'"

"What's the matter, boys?" Mrs. Seigel said she cried.

"Hurry up," was the answer. "Two boys are getting burned to death."

Then came a pleading cry of terror. Mrs. Seigel said:

"Oh, please hurry and save me."

Mrs. Seigel testified that she rushed into the woods, but saw no one near the two boys, who were lying on the ground. She thought, however, that she could hear some one splashing through a near-by brook.

Cook Holland, borough manager of Belmar, told of being called from his home by a report of a fire back of the plant of the Atlantic Coast Gas Company. After getting the Mayor, he said, they went there but found that the boys had been taken away.

Quoted the Dying Boys.

"Then we went up to the hospital," said Mr. Holland, "where the boys told me on the operating table that Dick Forman and Caleb Hubbard had tied them to a tree and burned them."

When Mr. Poland asked the borough manager if the boys said anything about playing, he replied that they had not, as they "had already told the attendants that before we got there."

While a report that the boys had been playing Indians and that the "burning at the stake" had nothing more back of it than that had been accepted by some, there are many others which the authorities are investigating.

In February, 1922, all four boys were arrested with others and charged with a series of twenty-three robberies. Caleb was sent to Annandale Reformatory and William Hubbard to Jamesburg Reformatory. Richard Forman was sentenced to Jamesburg, but at the special request of Mayor Bamford sentence was suspended.

The spot where the boys were burned is in a hollow, surrounded by trees, about 100 yards from a road. Any one moving about there would be almost invisible to passersby, especially at dusk when the tragedy occurred. The presence of excelsior there was explained by Charles Major, a special policeman of the gas company. He said there had been an overflow of water from the plant which had been carried off from the plant's yard into a ravine and thence to the Shark River. The excelsior, he said, had been used to dam this flow and was therefore thoroughly saturated with oil.

The Bodies of the two boys, which had been sent to a local undertaker, were taken home today by the parents. It was announced that they would be buried in Atlantic View Cemetery on Wednesday.

STONEHAM LAWYER DEMANDS IMMUNITY

Fuller and McGee Brought From Governors Island for Conference With Colonel Hayward.

The August Federal Grand Jury yesterday completed its investigation of the confessions of Edward M. Fuller and William F. McGee, bankrupt members of the former brokerage firm of E. M. Fuller & Co. It was said in the Federal Building that indictments were being drawn up and would be presented tomorrow. No intimation was given as to who were expected to be indicted on perjury and other charges, but it was said that they would include men who figured prominently in the hearings before Referee Harold P. Coffin.

Fuller and McGee were taken from Governors Island, where they are being held under Judge Henry W. Goddard's commitment for contempt of court, and escorted yesterday by Deputy United States Marsnals to United States District Attorney William Hayward's office where they were in conference for more than an hour with Colonel Hayward, Assistant Federal Attorneys John E. Joyce and William J. Millard and the brokers' attorney, Carl E. Whitney.

Leo J. Bondy, attorney for Charles A. Stoneham, who loaned $147,500 to E. M. Fuller & Co. refused yesterday to waive immunity when called before the Grand Jury. His testimony, therefore, was not taken. Later Bondy and his attorney, Millard H. Ellison, conferred with Colonel Hayward. Bondy was formerly counsel for E. M. Fuller & Co. and withdrew, he testified at a hearing before Referee Coffin, a few days before the failure, which occured on June 26, 1922.

Attorneys for Trustee George C. Sprague and for the creditors were awaiting yesterday a decision by Judge William Bondy as to whether William J. Fallon and Eugene F. McGee, former counsel for the bankrupts, would be accorded a jury trial on charges of contempt of court. The contempt proceedings grew out of charges that the lawyers concealed and destroyed papers of the firm that they were ordered by the court to produce.

POLICE TRACE BAND OF LIQUOR PIRATES

Men Who Shot British Captain Off Rockport Had Robbed Another Schooner.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 27.—Members of a band of seven who, after a successful raid on one Canadian rum runner a month ago, which netted them $18,000, attacked the British schooner J. Scott Hankenson, off Rockport, a week ago, wounded Captain Arthur Moore and Cook Harry Harms, and got nothing for their pains, are being traced by Gloucester and Federal authorities.

Carl Voss of Gloucester, who was arrested last week in Beverly, charged with attempted murder, in connection with the pirate raid on the Hankenson, was held in $10,000 bail in District Court here today. Captain Moore was shot through the stomach when armed men invaded his cabin to demand the profits of his rum voyage from Nova Scotia. The cook's wounds were minor.

While no charge is made that Voss was concerned in the previous raid, names of the men who took part in the two piratical attacks are known to the authorities, it is asserted, and arrests are promised soon. Several of the men whose homes are in this city have been missing since the Hankenson incident. One is said to be in New York. All, according to the police, have been engaged in transporting liquor from "mother ships" lying off Cape Ann to North Shore points.

The story of the first pirate raid off Gloucester was known to the authorities, but was not made public. A rum-running schooner hailing from Yarmouth, N. S., was anchored out at sea, with part of her cargo disposed of. A motor boat approached and the crew of the schooner, believing that customers had arrived, allowed armed men from the launch to come aboard. No sooner had these reached the deck than they drew revolvers and covered captain and crew. There was no resistance. The pirates emptied unscathed with $18,000 and the schooner sailed back to its home port.

It was the easy success of this venture, the police say, that encouraged the attack on the J. Scott Hankenson last week. In this instance the pirates were dealing with a cautious customer. The day before the attack Captain Moore had gone ashore and placed $15,000 in a bank. When the guns flashed the Captain made a stout resistance and at least one of the assailants was wounded. The pirates retreated with only $35 as booty.

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in New York City for week ending Saturday, August 25, on shipments sold out, ranged from 9.00 cents to 21.00 cents per pound and averaged 14.36 cents per pound.—Advt.

HOPE IN NEW CLUE TO KIDNAPPED BABY

5,000 BOY SCOUTS HELP

Salvation Army and Catholic Big Sisters Also Join Hunt for Missing Child.

Captain William H. Funston, head of the detectives searching for three-months-old Lillian McKenzie, who was kidnapped from a perambulator in front of McCrory's West Eighteenth Street store twelve days ago, admitted at the West Thirtieth Street Station, last night, that the police had run across another hopeful clue, but he refused to discuss it.

"We are not in a position to speak about the matter just now," he said. "It is possible that this lead, like hundreds of others that we have worked on since the child was stolen, will fall down. I feel that publicity in this particular phase of the case would hamper rather than help. We must be very careful lest we spoil whatever chance there is of our finding the child through this latest information."

It was learned that earlier in the day Peter McKenzie, father of the kidnapped child, took to Captain Funston a batch of letters which he had received earlier in the day at his home, 248 West Twelfth Street. McKenzie said that some of the letters were from women condoling with him and his wife, and others urging the McKenzies not to lose heart, because the writers felt that the child eventually would be returned in good health.

Hopeful Clue In a Letter.

McKenzie would not explain, however, why he had taken the letters to Captain Funston. He also refused to say whether any of the letters had contained any information on which the detectives might start on a new hunt for the child. It was rumored that at least one of the letters turned over to Captain Funston had been received by special delivery on Sunday afternoon, and that the new clue was contained in this missive.

It also was learned that Captain Funston had arranged to receive reports from the detectives he had assigned on the new lead at a place other than in his office at the West Thirtieth Street Station. He did not appear at the station until a late hour in the evening, and after remaining for a few hours, drove away in his automobile.

Earlier in the day a report was received from Brooklyn that a child of Lillian's description was being secreted in a tenement in the Bay Ridge section. Detectives were hurried to the address, which was furnished by a woman over the telephone, but it developed that the child was only two months old, and more than two weeks ago had been placed in the care of a woman by an institution.

The police admitted that, aside from the clue obtained on Sunday, no information had been obtained by them that would aid them in running down the kidnaper or kidnappers and recovering the child. The "tip" that had been received by Mrs. Mary A. Hamilton, a police woman, on Sunday, that a child of Lillian's description was being hidden on a farm in East Hampton, L. I., proved valueless. Mrs. Hamilton said that it had been definitely established that the child was not Lillian McKenzie.

Salvation Army Helping.

Colonel Stephen Marshall, head of the Salvation Army field activities in the metropolitan district, announced that all the officers of the organization had been instructed to join in the hunt for the missing child. He explained that the order meant that the Missing Friends Bureau of the Salvation Army, through which in the past thousands of missing adults and children had been returned to their relatives, would be enlisted in the search for the kidnapped child.

He said that about two hundred officers of the Salvation Army in cities and communities in Southern New York and Northern New Jersey will be added to the force of police and civilian organizations hunting for the child.

James H. Beard, head of the Executive Committee of the Manhattan Council of Boy Scouts, called on 5,000 Boy Scouts in the council to aid the police in their quest for the little girl. Justice Edgar J. Lauer of the Municipal Court, who is a member of the Board of Governors of the Boy Scout organization, said that instructions had been issued to the boys to make a thorough search of every section in the city in the hope of finding a trace of the child.

It was learned last night that Mrs. Hamilton, who is the head of the Women's Precinct in West Thirty-seventh Street, had been relieved from further duty in connection with the hunt for the child. Mrs. Hamilton had been at work night and day in the search since the early part of last week.

The Catholic Big Sisters sent out an order last night to all baby nurseries and hospitals with which they are affiliated to immediately notify the police in the event anybody brings to them an infant less than one year old, whose parentage has not been satisfactorily established. It was understood that at the request of the police a similar order had been sent out to all denominational and private and public hospitals within 100 miles of this city.

It was reported last night that Mrs. Ella McKenzie, mother of the kidnapped child, would visit a "baby farm" in Smithtown, L. I., today to view a child which was left there several days ago. Miss Sadie Hennessy, aunt of the missing child, was said to have visited the farm yesterday, but was unable to say whether it was the missing Lillian.

The child was said to bear a strong resemblance to Lillian. Miss Hennessy is said to have told those in charge of the farm that while she felt certain the child was not Lillian, she wanted her sister to see the little one. The child was reported to have been placed on the "farm" by a physician in this city.

A false report that the missing child had been recovered in Guttenberg, N. J., yesterday afternoon resulted in 500 persons storming the town hall there for a view of the child. It developed that Policeman Lawlor had seen a woman with a child in her arms near the town hall and had ordered her to accompany him to be questioned regarding the child's identity. The woman said she was Mrs. Mary Beckman of 200 Clinton Street, Hoboken, and that the child was her 2-month-old son. After her statement had been verified she told the police that her husband was out of work and that they had four small children.

Officials in the town hall subscribed $5 for the woman, and George W. Klein, Town Clerk, in assuring the gathering that the child was not Lillian McKenzie, took Mrs. Beckman and her infant to their home in his automobile.

BABY BOY ABANDONED.

An abandoned baby boy, apparently about five or six weeks old, was found last night on the stoop of a house at 124 West 127th Street. Grant Kelliher, who is in the bond and mortgage business next door, heard cries as he came out of his home at 121 West 127th Street at 10 o'clock. He finally traced them to the stoop, where he found the infant crying.

He summoned Patrolman William Finnegan of the West 152d Street Station, who took the child to the station house. It was neatly dressed and wrapped in a small blanket, but bore no means of identification. It will be taken to Bellevue Hospital.

Leo Wagner, 20 years old, of 3,819 Neptune Avenue, was fined $5 yesterday by Magistrate James T. O'Neill in the Coney Island Police Court for wearing the shirt of his bathing suit inside the trunks. After he had paid his fine to Chief Clerk Henry Hasenplug, Wagner pulled a picture from his pocket showing Mayor John F. Hylan attired in a bathing suit. The Mayor had the shirt of his suit tucked inside the trunks which were held up by a white belt.

"Mayor Hylan is supposed to be the chief representative of the laws and morals of the city," said Wagner. "If he can wear his bathing shirt tucked inside his trunks and even have a picture of himself so attired printed in millions of newspapers which are read by women and children, I do not see why I should be arrested for following the style set by him."

The picture was shown to Magistrate O'Neill, who had been with the Mayor at Palm Beach when the picture was taken, but he made no comment.

KIDNAP TWO, STEAL TRUCK WITH LIQUOR

WHISKY VALUED AT $5,000

Armed with revolvers, and wearing caps pulled down over their faces, four men in an automobile stopped a motor truck late yesterday afternoon, loaded with eighty cases of Government-bonded whisky, at Eighth Avenue and Twenty-second Street, kidnapped the chauffeur and helper and escaped with the liquor. The holdup was carried out with a daring that the police said had not been equalled in many months. So thoroughly and quickly did the four work that apparently none of the hundreds of passersby on the street saw the holdup.

James Dunne, the chauffeur, and a helper named McCarthy were transferred to the machine used by the four, and one of the number assumed the job of driver, taking the truck through Twenty-fourth Street to Ninth Avenue, thence northward, in and out streets, to a vacant lot at Twelfth Avenue and Forty-eighth Street. According to stories told to the police, Dunne and McCarthy were ordered to leave the bandit car and climb through a hole in a board fence which encloses the field. Here they were guarded by one of the men until a confederate called out, "All right, Joe, go ahead."

Dunne said they heard the auto and the truck drive away, the bandit who had guarded him and McCarthy leaving the scene saying: "If you yell, you're done for."

Dunne did not obey but ran for the nearest telephone to notify the Thomas E. Garvey Trucking Company, 164 Eleventh Avenue, his employers. An alarm was sent out for the missing truck, which was found last night, empty, at Eleventh Avenue and Fifty-fourth Street. The Garvey company said the wholesale value of the liquor was $5,000.

Forty-two men, all charged with intoxication, arrested single-handed by Patrolman John Kissane of the Clinton Street Station in a series of raids last night on the east side, were arraigned in the Night Court before Magistrate J. M. Barrett. The prisoners, according to attaches the largest number brought to the court either before or since the passage of the Volstead act, were all found guilty. Eleven went to jail for varying terms, one was fined $5 and the others received suspended sentences.

Kissane, telling the Court that he was "all wore out from helping them into the patrol wagons," said he had received instructions from Captain McKenzie of the Clinton Street Station to locate and raid speakeasies in which the police heard patrons were being robbed after losing their senses from drinking "Bowery smoke." Kissane found two places on Rivington Street, two on Chrystie Street and one on Stanton Street. He told Magistrate Barratt that he adopted the method of locking his prisoners in the rooms and then telephoning for patrol wagons.

For the first time in the history of the Federal Eastern District of New York, which comprises all of Long Island and Staten Island, a "padlock" injunction under the Volstead act was issued yesterday by Judge Marcus B. Campbell in the United States District Court in Brooklyn. The order is directed against the ground floor of the Ardencraig Inn at Port Jefferson, L. I. The property is owned by Mrs. Mary Thompson, whose husband, William H. Thompson, conducts the inn.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Howard Osterhout, who applied for the order, told the Court that because of whisky sold by Thomson to disabled soldiers attending a vocational school at Port Jefferson the Govern ment removed the institution to Goshen, N. Y. Mr. Osterhout produced evidence of five different sales of liquor at the inn.

Judge Campbell directed the attorneys on both sides to submit briefs on Friday as to how long the order is to be in effect after reading them announce the term for which the inn is to remain closed. Judge Campbell stated that as this was the first case of its kind in his district he was not inclined to close the inn for a whole year and added that if he has the power he will order the place closed until Jan. 1, 1924.

R. C. Merrick, Divisional Chief of the Federal Prohibition Enforcement Bureau, yesterday commended the activities of the police department since the issuance of Commissioner Enright's order to search vehicles suspected of transporting liquor. He said that an average of five seizures a day had been made by the police.

CITY DROPS WALLIS SUIT.

Action Had Been Brought to Recover a Tax of $580.

A suit brought by the City of New York against Frederick A. Wallis, Commissioner of Correction, who was Treasurer of Mayor Hylan's Campaign Committee two years ago, and who formerly was Commissioner of Immigration, was discontinued yesterday. The suit was brought to recover a tax of $580 on a personal property assessment of $25,000 in 1919 when Mr. Wallis was Deputy Police Commissioner.

The suit was discontinued on testimony by Commissioner Wallis that he had no personal property to be taxed at that time. He stated that he did not attend to the matter then because he was not notified. Commissioner Wallis testified that he had only $2,000 in cash and personal effects worth $7,000, while his household furniture belonged to his wife. When asked if he had any stock, he testified that he owned some live stock in Bourbon County, Ky., but owed $6,000 on it.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

In a week which, for financial business, is traditionally the dullest of the year, an inactive stock market was to be anticipated. Yesterday's market was of the desultory character usual at this period; but while the business done was of small volume, the trend of prices was upward. Some industrial shares scored gains for the day of 1 to 3 points; most of the changes, however, being only fractional.

Financial markets have little at the moment to direct their action. The unpleasant possibilities of the situation—such as the diplomatic deadlock over the Ruhr, the unrest in the grain community, the threatened coal strike and the political controversies impending later in the season—have been reflected in advance by the fall of 12 or 13 per cent. in Stock Exchange values since the Spring. The strong points in the situation, such as the banking position and the unprecedented volume of railway traffic, have had little or no reflection in the midsummer markets, and there is always the probability that in at least some of the matters which have been food for apprehension a change for the better may occur, perhaps with unexpected suddenness. But all this makes for suspension of financial judgment and for purposeless movement on the Stock Exchange.

In the day's foreign exchange market the weakness of the mark and the pound sterling and the recovery in Belgian rates were the only noteworthy incidents. Sterling went to the lowest figure of the year. Its downward movement is not at all unusual for this season, when the large payments for American agricultural products are being arranged, but naturally attracts more interest from the fact that the decline from the year's best rate has been so persistent. That the mark's response to the promises of the Stresemann Government should have been so short-lived reflects the market's skepticism over any German program that has yet been unfolded.

The Reichsbank's statement of yesterday, covering the second week of August, is an instructive sidelight on the incidents of that period on the German exchange market. In the first half of August the price of the dollar at Berlin rose from 1,000,000 marks to 5,000,000; it had been 500,000 only a month before. German prices were rising at such a pace that shopkeepers closed their doors to avoid selling goods which they knew would bring vastly more next day; the Frankfurter Zeitung's calculation works out an average advance, in the first ten days of August, amounting to 215 per cent. The Reichsbank's report of its achievement in printing money during the second week of the present month illustrates both cause and effect of the extravagant currency depreciation. The bank issued fifty-four trillion marks of paper in six business days, thereby increasing the currency 87 per cent. In a week, 169 per cent. in a fortnight, and ten times over as compared with a month before.

It will be recalled that Berlin dispatches told in the same week of a "shortage of money," in the face of this huge inflation, greater than had been experienced at any previous time. People are slowly beginning to understand this singular paradox of "scarcity" on the heels of reckless overproduction. The mark's price on exchange fell even more rapidly than the output of irredeemable paper money increased. Wages, prices and living costs rushed upward as the mark collapsed; with all the huge increase in production of paper money, the percentage rise in prices was still more rapid. This is precisely what had hapened in Russia and what happened in the assignat days of France; but in Germany the phenomenon is taken as conclusive proof that the currency inflation is only the consequence of the mark's fall on exchange, and that the fall in the mark has no relation to previous excesses in inflation. Even the new Finance Minister seems from the dispatches to be primarily interested, not in controlling the paper-money evil at its source, but in collecting foreign exchange bills, through the sale of which the mark can once more be "supported" and the symptoms disguised while the disease goes on. Nothing will come of such experiments; the only serious question left is, how soon the Government will state plainly the truth of the situation and deal with it courageously.

MONEY.

MONDAY, AUG. 27, 1923.

Preparations for end-of-month requirements brought firmer tendency to market for Stock Exchange purposes, demand loans advancing to 5¼ per cent. just after midday, following opening and renewal at 5. Time money market was quiet and unchanged, for between reluctance of borrowers to bid more than 5¼ per cent., and lending banks to consider this figure for any sizable amount, the market is deadlocked so far as lending of new money is concerned; renewals are arranged at 5¼ per cent., bid rate. Commercial paper and acceptances moved quietly and without change in discount.

NEW YORK STANDARD TO EXTEND FIELD

Changes Proposed in Charter Regarding Territory in Which It May Operate.

Directors of the Standard Oil Company of New York have called a special meeting of stockholders to be held on Sept. 12 for the purpose of authorising changes in the certificate of incorporation relating to territory in which the company may carry on its business. The stockholders also will be asked to approve an increase in the capital stock from $225,000,000 to $325,000,000, the additional stock to be offered to employes at a price and upon terms to be agreed upon by the stockholders. It is also proposed to increase the number of Directors from 9 to 11.

Keen interest was displayed in the financial district in the proposed changes in the certificate of incorporation covering the places in which the company may carry on its business. Details of the changes were not obtainable at the offices of the company, and there was much conjecture in the financial district as to the purpose of the Directors. One report was that the company was paving the way to merge the Magnolia Petroleum Company with the Standard Oil Company of New York; another was that the larger organization was preparing to invade the territory of other Standard Oil organizations in the same manner that the Atlantic Refining Company invaded the territory of other Standard companies.

The Standard Oil Company of New York is credited with owning about 70 per cent. of the capital stock of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, an important producer of crude petroleum in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. According to Wall Street information, the New York company for some time has been endeavoring to acquire the remaining outstanding capital stock of the Magnolia Company.

Last May a meeting of stockholders was called to approve a proposal of the Directors to increase the capital stock of the New York company from $325,000,000 to $300,000,000. The meeting was not held, and it was announced that there were not a sufficient number of proxies in hand to carry out the plan. At the time the report was circulated that the proposed increase in capital was for the purpose of acquiring the outstanding capital stock of Magnolia on the basis of four shares of stock of the New York company for one share of Magnolia. It has since been reported that the proposed increase in capital was postponed because the provisions of the certificate of incorporation prevented the merger of the property with the larger company.

As a result it is now expected that if the stockholders approve the proposed amendments to the certificate of incorporation it will be possible for the Board of Directors again to propose an increase in the capital stock for the purpose of acquiring all of the stock of Magnolia.

Jersey Standard Gets Pacific Oil.

The California Petroleum Company has started the shipment of crude petroleum from the California fields to the Eastern refiners of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. The California Company some time ago entered into contract with the New Jersey Company calling for delivery of 36,000,000 barrels of crude oil, shipments to begin on Oct. 1, at the rate of 30,000 barrels. Shipments started last Friday, five weeks before the original date. The first delivery approximated 76,000 barrels. The contract is based upon the market price of crude oil.

EXCHANGE MEMBERS ASK FOR TRIPLE HOLIDAY

Petition Requesting Suspension of Business Saturday Has Many Signatures.

The petition being circulated on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange requesting the Board of Governors to close the Exchange on Saturday, Sept. 1, prior to Labor Day, has been signed by 837 of the 900 or more active members and by twenty-seven of forty-two wire houses.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—The Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today decided to close Saturday, Sept. 1, and Monday, Sept. 3, on account of Labor Day. This is the first time in the history of the Exchange when an extra holiday has been declared before similar action was taken by the New York Stock Exchange.

UNITED CIGAR CO. DIVIDEND.

Quarterly Disbursement Increased From $2 to $3 Per Share.

Directors of the United Cigar Stores Company of America yesterday increased the quarterly dividend to $3, which will be paid Nov. 1 to stockholders of record Oct. 16. For the last three successive quarters the dividend disbursement has been at the rate of $2 per share.

The increased distribution was made in consideration of heavier sales and larger profits for 1923. The stock is very closely held and the floating supply small. On sales of 200 shares yesterday the stock advanced 24 points to $200 per share. The highest price at which the stock ever sold was $222, in February, 1923.

NORTH AMERICAN CO. GAINS.

The North American Company and its subsidiaries, for the twelve months ended July 31, reports gross earnings of $68,561,292, against $45,055,970 in the corresponding period of the last fiscal year. After payment of all operating expenses, and allowances for taxes, there was reported net income from operations of $24,822,534, against $15,864,310, while other income made total income of $25,203,380, against $15,787,841.

Interest charges, preferred dividends of subsidiary companies and minority interest aggregated $10,482,539, leaving a balance of $14,726,340 for depreciation, dividends and surplus, against $6,542,514 and $8,945,327, respectively, last year. After allowing for dividends on the preferred stock there was reported a balance available for the common stock amounting to $13,561,393, against $7,812,797.

Directors of the company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividends on the 6 per cent. cumulative preferred stock and the regular quarterly dividend on the common stock. Both are payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record Sept. 6.

Yesterday in Chicago Cattle Market.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Hogs advanced to $9.35 for best lights, top so far. Receipts were 62,000 cattle and prices were 25 to 40 cents lower, with best steers $12.80, the bulk of the sales at $9 to $12.35. The receipts were 30,000, or 10,000 more than a week ago. Kansas City with 50,000 equaled the largest run on record, due to recently advanced prices. Sheep receipts were 25,000, the largest since last January, with prices off 25 cents on lambs and the top $13.70.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Advance in Prices Resumed.

The stock market yesterday resumed its upward movement. The averages established a new high record for the month to date. At the start of business prices were steady, but trading continued on a small scale. In the early afternoon, however, trading became more active and under leadership of specialties the general market hardened. There was a slight reaction just before the close, but substantial gains were reported compared with the final prices of Saturday. Many professionals are understood to be still opposed to the upward movement of prices and in view of this the general opinion in conservative quarters is that the real test of the market is still ahead. If the pressure of the professionals is freely absorbed, hope is expressed for a favorable market in many quarters. The opposition of the professionals, according to report, is due to the fact that the market is without substantial leadership, the current rise being based almost entirely on the strength in such stocks as Industrial Alcohol, Stromberg, Davison Chemical, Gulf States Steel and similar issues. With the exception of a small gain in Studebaker and an advance in Baldwin, the recent leaders did little in yesterday's market.

July Railroad Reports.

Reports of railroads from various parts of the country, as made public yesterday, are considered by officials as typical of what may be expected in the way of July earnings statements. Although the reports are "spotted," being much more favorable in some instances than in others, this, in the opinion of railroad executives, reflects the traffic condition of the month of July as already made public. For example, the coal-carrying roads, such as the Baltimore & Ohio, the Lackawanna and Erie, show remarkable gains when compared to the same period of last year on account of the coal miners' strike a year ago. Northwestern roads, though, are showing the declines that the traffic records foreshadowed. For instance, Northern Pacific is about $1,000,000 under the net earnings of July, 1922, and the St. Paul is down $700,000. The improved conditions expected for the Eastern roads are reflected in such reports as that of the New Haven, which is up $500,000.

Brokers Want Saturday Holiday.

Judging from the number of signatures which have been affixed to the petition circulated on the Stock Exchange requesting the Governors to close the Exchange on Saturday, the members of that institution are keenly in favor of a three-day holiday. Up to the close yesterday a total of 447 active members of the Exchange had signed the petition. The Governors will act on the petition at their meeting tomorrow, after the close of the Exchange.

The Weakness in Sterling.

Yesterday's decline in sterling, which carried it one-eighth of 1 cent. below the year's previous low of $4.54 7-16, was a reflection of commercial transactions rather than of political developments. London was a heavy seller of sterling bills all day, and in this connection reports were current that British Government balances were being rebuilt in this market. At any rate, the forward buying of wheat and cotton contracts has been moderately heavy in the last few days, and doubtless some of these sterling offers were in payment of these purchases. Taken as a whole, the foreign exchange market was irregular. Both francs and lire were lower. Marks, in the face of the tremendous increase in circulation announced by the Reichsbank, declined to 16 cents to the million, as compared with 10 cents to the million on Saturday and fluctuated irregularly around the low point.

Shifting Export Trade.

Official cognizance has been made of the trend in export business from Europe to South America, and in this connection the advice to exporters given by the United States Department of Commerce was read yesterday with considerable interest in the financial district. According to information reaching the Commerce Department and substantiated by reports of export balances, American houses are developing the South American field at the expense of a large, potential European business. That this is possibly short-sighted is the interference contained in the Commerce Department's recent report, and it might be also expressed as a fairly general expression of opinion in banking circles. Some houses, according to one banker who is an authority on export trade, have greatly curtailed their sales operations in Europe. Eventually, this banker suggested, Europe will again become a large customer, and it was suggested that these houses would be operating at a disadvantage, through neglect in lean times of the sales possibilities in Europe, when again that Continent will have resumed larger buying. On the other hand, there is much to be said in favor of the possibilities in South America. Some firms believe that this territory will in time become one of the world's biggest customers of the United States.

Moving in a Circle.

That a stalemate in the time money market has apparently developed as the result of conflicting viewpoints on the part of lenders and borrowers was the indication yesterday when business of this kind approached the low ebb of the year. Lenders are still holding out for 5¼ per cent. Borrowers, on the other hand, are shunning long term contracts, owing to their belief that the money market will ease before another three months will have elapsed. As a consequence, most of the curren dealings are for short periods, and most of these yesterday were in the nature of renewals. According to the explanation of one man who closely follows the national shifting of money supply, brokers here are continuing to pay off loans to bankers. This influx, however, is continually being offset through the movement of money to the interior; and in the interior, bills are being settled and money is again being shifted back to New York to take advantage of the relatively firm call loan rates—thus completing a circle of, possibly it might better be described as a triangle.

The Shipping Conference.

The shipping world will await with much interest the outcome of the steamship owners and operators' conference with the Shipping Board in Washington today, at which detailed discussion is expected to be had relative to the whole problem of what is to be done about the Government's merchant fleet. There is an undercurrent of feeling in shipping circles that the Shipping Board, both by reason of the many objections made against its direct operation plan and because of reported disagreement among its own members as to the advisability of effecting the plan, is now prepared to give the fullest consideration to the substitute proposals advanced by the operators and steamship owners. It is pointed out that this was not the disposition of the board when it rejected the owners' charter-sale plan and the announced willingness to hear these interests further is therefore regarded as a forward step.

Beginning March 22, the Stock Exchange officially quotes Liberty bonds in units and fractions, the fractions being 32ds of a unit, and the quotations after the decimal point representing one or more 32ds. In the above table, therefore, the figures of highest and lowest prices during 1923 and since date of issue are reduced to the form now used in the Stock Exchange quotations.

$24,000,000 ISSUE FOR ASSOCIATED OIL

Corporation Also Arranges to Increase Stock $10,000,000 in New Financing.

HOLIDAY DELAYS LOANS

Underwriting Firms Hold Offerings in Abeyance Over Labor Day.

The Associated Oil Company, which is controlled by the Pacific Oil Company through 58 per cent. stock ownership, has arranged for $34,000,000 of new financing, the proceeds of which will be used for the purchase of crude oil for storage and for other needs of the corporation. The financing will be in the form of $24,000,000 of twelve-year 6 per cent. gold notes, due Sept. 1, 1935, and $10,000,000 of additional capital stock.

The note issue has been purchased by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and a public offering of the securities is expected to be made immediately. It is understood that they will be offered at 100 and interest, to yield 6 per cent. The new stock issue will be underwritten by the Pacific Oil Company without cost to the Associated Oil Company. The new stock, according to Paul Shoup, President of the Associated Oil Company, will be offered to stockholders at par on a pro rata basis.

In addition to providing funds for the purchase of crude oil, the proceeds from the sale of the securities will be used in part for the acquisition of facilities to store oil, of paying off short-term loans, which were largely incurred for these purposes, of reducing the $5,064,000 first refunding mortgage bonds at present outstanding and for other corporate purposes.

On Sept. 1, 1925, and semi-annually thereafter on March 1 and Sept. 1 of each year until all of the notes shall have been retired, the company will provide a sinking fund of $1,230,000, or such greater amount as the company shall determine, to be used for the retirement of the notes by purchase in the market if obtainable at not exceeding 102½ and interest, or to the extent not so obtainable by redemption at that price upon the next interest date, all in the manner to be provided in the trust indenture. The notes, according to a statement issued by the bankers, are a direct obligation of the Associated Oil Company, and will constitute the sole funded debt upon the retirement of the bonds mentioned above.

Houses which deal in the underwriting of loans reported yesterday that many were holding back new bond offerings until after the Labor Day holiday. An exception, however, may be made in the case of the pending Argentine Government loan, said to be comprised of a short-term issue to be offered shortly and a long-term issue to be offered later. According to report, the short-term issue might be offered before the holiday period.

A piece of public utility financing is scheduled for today through the public offering of $2,700,000 of Indiana Electric Corporation first mortgage 6% per cent. gold bonds, series B. These bonds are due on Aug. 1, 1953, and are being offered by Halsey, Stuart & Co., A. B. Leach & Co., Paine, Webber & Co., Stone & Webster, Spencer Trask & Co. and Tucker, Anthony & Co. The offering price is 99 to yield 6.87 per cent.

The corporation is building a central station generating plant in the heart of the Indiana coal region, according to the statement of the syndicate, which will be in operation about Jan. 1 next. The site is on the Wabash River and distribution of power will be made through the subsidiaries of the Central Indiana Power Company. The bonds will be a direct obligation of the company secured by a first mortgage on permanent property now owned or hereafter acquired. The Indiana Electric Corporation is controlled through stock ownership by the Central Indiana Power Company.

Offer Knoxville Notes.

A. C. Allyn & Co., Inc., are offering an issue of $1,250,000 of Knoxville, Tenn., 6 per cent. revenue notes. These notes are offered at prices to yield 5 per cent., and are exempt from all Federal income taxes. They mature on the instalment basis of $250,000 on Jan. 1, next; on April 1, 1924, and July 1, 1924, and the remaining $500,000 on Sept. 30, 1924. According to the statement of the offering company, Knoxville has an assessed valuation of $102,155,102 and a net bonded debt of $6,434,854.

Part of an issue of $4,664,000 Chicago South Park Commissioners 4 per cent. serial bonds is being offered by Rollins, Kalbfleisch & Co. at prices to yield from 4.50 to 4.70 per cent. The bonds are exempt from all Federal income taxes.

Offerings of $144,000 Lorain, Ohio, street improvement 5½ per cent. bonds, dated Aug. 15, last, and due Sept. 15 from 1924 to 1932, inclusive, is being made by Stephens & Co. at prices to yield 4.80 per cent. The bonds are exempt from Federal income taxes.

Boston Loan of $2,000,000.

Boston yesterday completed financing in connection with immediate Treasury requirements of that city when the City Treasurer awarded a loan of $2,000,000 to the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, to be dated Aug. 27 and to mature Nov. 6. The interest rate was 4.23 per cent. Another short-term loan of equal amount had been provided several weeks ago.

The loan was interesting to Wall Street in view of the advertisement some time ago for bids on a proposed Boston loan, to bear a 4¼ per cent. coupon, which received no bids from underwriting institutions owing to the fact that the rate was considered too low to attract investors in view of the existing money rates.

The State of Arizona has awarded to the Bankers Trust Company as highest bidder an issue of $750,000 of three month 5 per cent. notes in anticipation of tax payments, it was learned yesterday. Offering will be made next week.

A. B. Leach & Co., are offering $400,000 City of Kenosha, Wis., 4¼ and 4½ per cent. school bonds maturing serially 1929 to 1943 at prices to yield 4.40 to 4.60 per cent.

Two new bond issues are being offered by Prudden & Co., one of $50,000 Monroe County, Mich., 5½ per cent. road bonds due 1924 to 1931, and an issue of $75,000 Sanilac County, Mich., 5½ per cent. road bonds due 1925 to 1933, both priced to yield 5 per cent.

URGES LOAN TO GREECE.

Relief Secretary Cables Many Will Die Unless Money Is Raised.

A loan to Greece is essential to remedy the present refugee situation, according to cabled advices received yesterday by the Near East Relief from Charles V. Vickery, its General Secretary, who has arrived in Athens on a three months' economic survey of areas in which the relief organization is operating.

Mr. Vickrey predicted a tremendous loss of life among the Greek refugee population unless the nation receives outside aid and adequate feeding and housing programs are inaugurated before November.

Praising what the Greek Government has accomplished in caring for the refugees, he said that approximately of them are now self-supporting, but that the remaining half, which includes the more helpless and incapacitated, are in a hopeless condition.

The cable also outlined plans for Near East Relief activities in Greece, which included the care of 15,000 child fugitives from Turkey now in relief orphanages and as many additional orphans from the refugee camps as resources will permit.

18 RAILROADS SHOW GAIN IN NET INCOME

Gross Revenues for July Total $209,586,194, Against $172,049,905 Last Year.

INCREASE BY NEW HAVEN

Great Northern Reports Improvement, but Northern Pacific a Decrease for the Month.

Net operating incomes of eighteen railroads from all sections of the country for July totaled $36,148,955, compared with $28,075,261 for the same month last year. This, though, was a decrease for the same railroads compared with June of this year, when the total was $38,131,867.

The reports made public yesterday were of special significance because almost every section of the country was represented. As predicted some time ago, the Eastern railroads, as represented by the New York Central, showed increases over last year. Especially was this true in the case of the coal-carrying roads which reported yesterday.

The gross revenues reported by the eighteen railroads were $209,586,194, against $172,049,905 in July last year. Compared with June, however, the receipts showed a decrease.

Outstanding in the eastern district is the net income of the New York Central of $7,668,985, compared with $3,922,261 in the same month last year. For June the total was $8,963,584. The total operating revenues for July were $35,605,196, against $26,940,905 in July, 1922. This increased the gross business of the railroad to $249,281,450 for the first seven months of this year, compared with $198,439,244 in the same period last year, while the net income for the seven months' period was $47,348,178, against $29,501,746 in 1922.

The Eastern coal-carrying roads, which suffered heavily at this time last year on account of the coal strike, continued to show improvement, which began during the last few months. Among these was the Baltimore & Ohio, with an increase in net operating income of more than 200 per cent. The July net was $3,876,611, compared with $1,225,067 last year. The increase was largely accounted for by the increase in traffic, the total handled in July this year being 821,488,806, compared with $13,944,023 in the same month last year. The net income of the road for the first seven months of this year was $28,702,519, against $15,805,362 in the same months last year, while the total operating revenues for the seven months were $151,286,196, against $112,623,182.

The Erie, which has shown a deficit in July for the last three years, returned a net operating income of $1,497,423, thus making the net for the first seven months $9,477,142, against $2,664,478 in the same period last year. The Lackawanna also showed an increase of more than $1,250,000 in its net operating income for July as compared with the same month of last year.

Among the reports that attracted attention in railroad and financial districts was that of the New Haven, which showed a net income of $1,693,149, compared with $1,094,321 in July last year. The July gross income was $11,401,547, compared with $10,476,218 in the same month last year. The net operating income for the first seven months of this year, however, is $5,624,176, compared with $7,989,877 in the same period last year, although the gross revenue this year has been practically 10 per cent. higher.

Those in the financial district who have been following the Northwestern railroads found very little in the way of encouragement in the reports. While the Great Northern showed an increase of $60,000 in its net operating revenue in comparison with the same month last year, the Northern Pacific showed a decrease of $1,295,000, and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul declined approximately $700,000.

Conditions in the Southwest are reflected in the report of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, with a net income of $3,332,599, a sharp decline from $4,996,136 reported in the same month last year. The St. Louis Southwestern, however, shows an increase in net of approximately $60,000.

Explanations of some of the decreases are found in a statement issued by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, which says: "On account of the shopmen's strike last year the maintenance of equipment expenses were much below normal, while this year large expenditures have been made to put equipment in condition for heavy Fall traffic; consequently the maintenance of equipment expenses for July are considerably above normal, being an increase of $1,687,000 over July, 1922."

Slight Decrease in Grain Exports.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Grain exports from the United States last week totaled 4,430,000 bushels as compared with 4,764,000 bushels for the week previous. The falling total was due principally to a decline in the amount of wheat sent abroad.

The totals for the past week as compared with those for the week previous as made public by the Commerce Department follow: Wheat, 3,271,000 bushels against 3,901,000; corn, 126,000 against 220,000; flour, 276,200 barrels against 233,400; barley, 332,000 bushels against 383,000; oats, 22,000 against 12,000.

Canadian grain in transit amounted to 418,000 bushels compared with 219,000 last week.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

New Low for Sterling on Selling Orders Emanating Abroad—Continentals Irregular.

Solely at the direction of London, whence came heavy selling orders, sterling exchange broke to $4.54 5-16 yesterday, a new low point for the year and almost a full cent under Saturday's final. Business was not at an exceptionally brisk pace, brokers claimed, but the offerings of commercial bills, unusually heavy for a Monday, coupled with the speculative display, accounted for the weakness.

There was less pressure against the Continentals, although the trend was slightly reactionary. Paris checks for a time sold around aSturday's final of 5.71 cents, but later eased off 4 points on a break in the demand, but later rallied from the day's low to a close at 5.69 cents. There was a sharp quest for Belgian bills, the rate on Brussels advancing more than 10 points to 4.73 cents, but it yielded a fraction of this gain later. Italian, Holland, Spanish and the Scandinavians were all heavy, with the German mark down to 15 cents per million marks from a previous price of 19 cents.

Far Easterns turned up slightly on a better demand, but the South Americans were irregular. Canadian was firm and without change at 97.65 cents.

FAIL TO CONCLUDE TERMS WITH TARAFA

Sugar Companies and Cuban Legislator to Continue Conferences.

DENIES REPORT OF ROW

Martin W. Littleton Says Understanding Has Been Reached on Chief Points.

Although the conference between American sugar and Cuban railroad interests will be continued, the meeting at 112 Wall Street yesterday developed conflicting reports as to the progress that had been made at the session attended by Colonel J. M. Tarafa, author of the Tarafa Cuban Railway Consolidation bill, and representatives of fourteen sugar-producing companies. By agreement, attorneys for the opposing interests were not present, but Martin W. Littleton, counsel for Colonel Tarafa, said after the meeting that a "practical understanding" had been reached "on all of the important points."

Officials of the sugar companies who attended the conference declined to state what differences, if any, had brought the conference to an end without a decision having been reached, for it was admitted that the conference had been without results. At first it was said that the conference had adjourned sine die, then later in the day, in answer to inquiries, it was stated that a further conference probably would be held this morning. What therefore resembled a deadlock immediately following the session took on a more conciliatory aspect during the afternoon.

Denies There Was a "Row."

Mr. Littleton said there had been no foundation for the report that a "row" had developed at the meeting. The practical agreement which he said had been reached includes the elimination of the proposed tax on sugar shipped from the private ports built and owned by the sugar companies. It is this tax feature of the Tarafa bill which primarily gave rise to the opposition of the sugar producers to the legislation. Just what other points remain to be settled could not be learned yesterday from either side, but, according to Mr. Littleton, subsequent conferences will be concerned with details of administering the new law when it is enacted.

However, there was sufficient variation in the viewpoints expressed to indicate that if the tax dispute had been settled, other equally controversial matters concerned with the pending legislation had not. It is on these that the conference is believed to have split.

U. S. Interests Opposed.

The Tarafa bill sets up regulations which, while defended by its author and supported by a large section of the Cuban Legislature, are known to be fundamentally objectionable to the American interests because of the alleged restrictive effect of these regulations upon the private railways, as well as upon the private ports. Heavy penalties are set up for failure to conform with these regulations.

In so far as the bill specifies that "customs houses shall be supressed or closed to import and export commerce when the Executive considers it opportune," some of the sugar companies are understood to have taken the attitude that this is a further invasion of their rights under existing law. The companies believe they are not adequately safeguarded in the event that the Tarafa bill or the Cuban Government could act at will to restrict their commerce and abolish private ports either by withdrawing the customs official at each of these shipping stations, or by regulatory methods applicable to the private lines in use for the transportation of sugar to the point of shipment by water.

Further modifications of the measure may have to be made, it is believed, before the sugar and railroad interests can be brought into general agreement.

BANK MERGER APPROVED.

Canadian Finance Minister Issues Statement on Consolidation.

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Aug. 27.—W. S. Fielding, Finance Minister, announced tonight that he had approved the merging of the Bank of Hamilton with the Bank of Commerce. In his statement he said that the Bank of Hamilton is solvent, but, like other banks, has impaired its reserves through unexpected industrial deflation.

The Bank of Hamilton is one of the oldest Canadian banking institutions. It has a capital of $5,000,000, with reserves of $4,850,000. The stock value at which the Commerce absorbed the Bank of Hamilton is not announced, but it was quoted at 150 on the Exchange today and that will be the approximate price paid.

Philipsborn, Inc., Sells Common Stock.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—It was reported in La Salle Street today that Philipsborn, Inc., the Chicago mail order house, has undertaken some new financing. It is understood the company has disposed of around $1,000,000 of additional common stock to its bankers, which will provide additional working capital. This stock may be marketed later in the year. SEES PAPER MARKET IN LATIN AMERICA

Manufacturers in United States Overlooking an Opportunity, Bank Journal Asserts.

Manufacturers of paper in the United States are overlooking a good market when they fail to take into account the Latin-American countries, according to the current issue of the National Bank of Commerce Monthly. With the exception of Cuba the market has been but little developed, although these countries are the most logical customers for paper products turned out in the United States.

Glassine and greaseproof papers are said to be used extensively in the Latin-American countries. In getting this business the United States is said to have an advantage on account of the quality of paper it can furnish and the service it would be able to give. "A considerable portion of this business is now going to the Scandinavian countries and Germany and the manufacturers of the United States would have to compete with these countries in the matter of price, but it is believed that this might be successfully handled.

"European countries have an advantage over the United States in so far as the price of wrapping paper is concerned," says the article, which continues, "The cheap labor which is predominant in most of the manufacturing countries of Europe enables the manufacturers to deliver paper into international markets at low prices in comparison with cost of production and distribution in this country. On the other hand, the United States offers wrapping paper of a quality unsurpassed by any other producing country, at a price commensurate with quality.

"In comparison with the volume of exports of the Scandinavian countries and Germany, the world's leading exporters of wrapping paper, the United States exports are negligible."

OPPOSE NEW RAIL PROJECT.

Experts' Report Unfavorable to Staley Electric Line in Southwest.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Interstate Commerce Commission examiners who investigated the subject recommended today that the application of the Staley System of Electrified Railways for authority to construct a line of railroad in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and California be denied.

The application proposed to construct a line which with branches would total 1,240 miles in the United States and 66 miles in Mexico. The whole territory to be traversed by the proposed line, the commission's examiners declared, appeared to be well served by existing railroads. The report made the further statement that the applicant had "grossly overestimated traffic possibilities."

Construction costs had been estimated by the Staley interests at about $76,000,000, with an additional $27,000,000 for power supply and about $20,000,000 for the purchase of equipment. The examiners declared, however, that no actual surveys had been made, and that there was no method of ascertaining except by estimate what the actual construction costs would be.

The question of granting the authority asked for is yet to be passed on by the commission itself.

BEDFORD CONFIDENT OF SOLUTION ON OIL

Chairman of New Jersey Standard Says Problem Will React on Future Users.

HONOR INDUSTRY'S FOUNDER

Exercises Are Held at Titusville in Commemoration of Edward L. Drake.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—"The present crisis in the petroleum industry presents an economic problem which as vitally affects the gasoline consumer of the future as the gasoline user of today," said A. C. Bedford, Chairman of the Board of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, in an address tonight at exercises to celebrate the memory of Edward Laurentine Drake, the "Founder of the Petroleum Industry."

"Whatever the outcome," he said, "and it cannot be more than approximately foretold, the extent of the problem of enormous storage for either crude or gasoline must rest upon the results of such expedients as already have been resorted to, such as the reduction in the price of certain grades of crude, the prorating of runs and other steps designed to curtail production.

"If the task of financing and carrying over a huge surplus of either crude or gasoline is forced on the industry, it will undertake and accomplish this, as it has before undertaken and accomplished tasks beyond its apparent capacity.

"In a highly competitive business such as the oil industry, ultimate solution of the problem will rest with the law of supply and demand.

"We are now in the midst of a crisis in the industry, and I have no desire to minimize the extremely serious aspects of the situation, but I must confess that if the petroleum industry ever ceased to be abnormal I think I should find it very dull indeed."

After detailing figures on the production of crude oil and gasoline during the past year, Mr. Bedford said that his company, in view of the difficult situation, had revised the prices it was paying for crude oil in Louisiana.

"I would like to say here," he said, "that there is no business policy of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey which has anything in common, either in connection or execution, with the policies of any other unit of the petroleum industry, irrespective of any similarity of name or classification.

"In the present crisis of the industry there are varying viewpoints and varying policies, and whether the viewpoint and policy of the company I represent is right or whether it is wrong, I can claim at least for it that it is an individual policy, conceived and created in its own Board of Directors for its own guidance and that it does not govern the actions of any other unit of the industry."

Mr. Bedford traced the history of the petroleum industry from that momentous day, Aug. 26, 1859, when Drake obtained free petroleum from a hole he had drilled in a rock, up to the present time. He said that during his connection of forty years with the industry he could recall no time when conditions could be described as normal in the sense that an absolute balance existed between production and consumption.

Although Drake died little conscious of the stupendous consequences of his achievement, the discovery of petroleum is now acclaimed Mr. Bedford declared, as having brought about the most momentous revolution in the history of industry.

That first well was not a great one, as wells go nowadays, he said, producing about twenty barrels a day, but there was no serious question locally as to whether such a quantity could ever be used. Events, however, quickly proved the country's ability to absorb the new found supply.

In 1906 the petroleum industry had combined assets not exceeding three-quarters of a billion dollars, and existed primarily to supply the world with kerosene, while in 1922 the industry, with combined assets ten times those of 1906, existed primarily to supply the world with gasoline, largerly for use in motor vehicles, Mr. Bedford said.

STATE WAGE SCALE ENDS UPWARD MOVE

FEWER EMPLOYES LISTED

ALBANY, Aug. 27.—Increases in wage rates for factory workers have practically ceased for the present in New York State.

Wage increases reached their peak in May, when over 13 per cent. of the employes in the representative firms reporting to the State Department of Labor received advances. There was a marked drop in June, and in July the number receiving increases was only half as great as the small number reported in June. About 1 per cent. of the factory workers were advanced in July. This statement was issued today by Industrial Commissioner Bernard L. Shientag.

The average earnings of all factory workers in July were $27.54, a drop of 33 cents since June. Only six of the industry divisions of the State reported increases in July, and twenty-one reported decreases. In half of the industry divisions there was practically no change. This does not indicate any downward tendency in earnings, for vacations and the Saturday half-holiday usually cause a slight reduction in the Summer months. For three months now the earnings of factory workers have been practically stationary.

Average earnings are $2.77 higher than they were a year ago and $3.72 higher than they were at the lowest point of the last depression in April, 1922. Factory workers' earnings started up in 1922, slightly later than the rise in wholesale prices. The gain at first was due to increased working time, but after September the widespread increase in wage rates began, and continued with increasing momentum through May, 1923.

Wage Increases Halted.

The turn in wholesale prices, as reported by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, had already come in May, and further small reductions were reported in June and July. That fact and the sudden curtailment of wage increases in June and July indicate that, for the present at least, wage rate increases have come to a halt. Adjustments may be necessary in particular industries or localities, because increases are never uniform, but general increases are not probable in the near future.

Wages at the recent high point in June, 1923, were $1.06 lower than those at the peak of 1920. Wholesale prices, retail prices, employment and wages have all expanded less during the present active phase of industry than in 1920. The comparison, on the whole, is favorable to wages. Average earnings are 4 per cent. below the maximum, wholesale prices $9 per cent. below, and retail prices 83 per cent. below.

The decrease in the earnings in July were in those industries in which employment was somewhat reduced. The lower paid workers are likely to go first and the higher salaried employes are allowed vacation. Employment went down while average earnings increased in the cement mills, the abrasives factories, the men's neckwear and the women's clothing factories. In the brick yards both the number of employes and earnings increased. The rise in the fur industry was due to wage rate increases and seasonal overtime.

The metal industries showed slight decreases in earnings as well as employment from June. Most of them, as in the service industry, were due to vacations and the shorter working week in the Summer. The decrease of almost $3 in the railway shops was due largely to the inclusion of July 4 in the period covered by the reports. The reduction in the automobile industry was quite large. A decrease is usual at this season, however, and employment and wages are both much higher than at this time last year. The metal industries still lead in the number of workers receiving wage rate increases.

Textile Industries Less Active.

The textile industries continued the tendency toward lessened activity, as represented by both employment and earnings. Earnings went lower among all the textile industries, with the largest decrease in the silk mills.

The food products industries alone showed a definite increase in activity. This is the busy season for many of these industries. Earnings generally went down. The canneries, for instance, where the largest increase in employment took place, also showed the largest decrease in average earnings, almost $2. The new employes are mostly unskilled women workers who are irregularly employed. Increased rates went into effect in the candy factories, but shorter working time prevented any increase in actual earnings. There were substantial decreases in the flour mills and in the bakeries.

Earnings went down generally in the wood products factories, but employment rose, except in the furniture establishments. The chemicals, paper, paper products and printing industries all showed the same slight curtailment in activity.

READING DECISION STANDS.

Attorney General Will Not Appeal From Adjustment Decree.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The Government will not appeal from the decree of the District Court at Philadelphia, providing for a readjustment of the Reading Company and the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company by separate mortgages, instead of a segregation of burden and liability under a holding company, as ordered in 1921, and later reaffirmed by the United States Supreme Court. Attorney General Daugherty made this announcement today, as the new plan is satisfactory to the Government.

This suit was instituted in 1913 to bring about the segregation of the Reading Company, the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company, the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Company, the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey and the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Company, all of which were combined through the Reading Company.

Final dissolution of this combination was ordered by a decree of the District Court dated June 6, 1921. Certain common stockholders of the Reading Company appealed from the decree, on the ground that it gave the preferred stockholders a distinct preference in the distribution of assets. The United States Supreme Court on June 1, 1922, affirmed the decree in all respects except that it ordered a separation and division of the Reading Company general mortgage. The District Court of the District Court in Philadelphia, June 28, 1923, from which no appeal will be taken, provided that, instead of a segregation of burden and liability under the general mortgage as between the Reading Company and the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company those companies will execute new separate mortgages and issue 5 per cent. bonds thereunder in exchange for outstanding general mortgage bonds.

The District Court divided the general mortgage into two separate mortgages, one to be assumed by the coal company and one by the railroad company.

The decision of the Attorney General to let the case stand brings to a close one of the most celebrated lawsuits under the anti-trust law. It was argued three times on the first appeal to the Supreme Court before a decision was reached, and was twice argued on the second appeal. In addition, several independent lawsuits have grown out of the proceedings between different interests affected by the segregation of these companies.

To Open New Railway Division.

The Middle States Oil Corporation yesterday announced that its new North & South Railroad, in Wyoming, on Sept. 15 would begin operation of the division from Casper to Salt Creek, Wyo. This service will include deliveries to the Poison Spider, North Casper Creek, Teapot Dome and Salt Creek oil fields, the announcement states, and will relieve freight congestion on the present shipping routes.

WHEAT STILL RISING DESPITE BEAR NEWS

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Although the wheat news was largely bearish, with the trade inclined to work on that side, sufficient support developed on the breaks to absorb the offerings and to close prices slightly higher. There are nearly $3,000,000 bushels in the visible supply—25,000,000 bushels more than last year, and in Chicago alone nearly 18,000,000, an increase of 2,531,000 bushels since this day last week. The trade is unable to understand why prices do not decline with this steady accumulation of wheat. An outstanding feature in the grain trade that is equally hard to explain is that prices on all grains are higher than last year, in the face of the bearish propaganda put out in the last few months and the light speculative trade. Cash handlers say that the movement of wheat from Chicago to Montreal is largely on account of the lower rates of freight, 6½ cents, which has induced exporters to switch their trade from the Gulf, where ocean room is scarce. A cash handler says that a good part of the shipments of wheat from Chicago to Montreal have not been sold, and may not be for some time. A rate of 4½ cents per bushel is being made from Duluth and Fort William to Montreal, as from Chicago, the lowest known in years. Cash premiums in all markets are anywhere from 1 cent to 3 lower, with Winnipeg leading. Export business at the seaboard was 300,000 bushels, and sales to mills in Chicago, 25,000 bushels.

There was wheat for sale on all the hard spots, and good supporting orders for December at $1.07. The spread between September and May wheat is about double last year's—4 cents. Chicago traders were covering wheat here and in Winnipeg, and elevator interests bought September wheat and sold May. There are 4,500 cars of grain on track here, the greater portion being wheat.

Crop reports on corn from most sections east of the Missouri River are most favorable. The crop in Central Illinois will require from Sept. 1 to 25 to get out of the way of frost. Traders who were bullish on corn when prices were 10 to 15 cents lower are now bearish, which is the average speculator who was bearish at that time is now bullish.

Country sales of corn were light, but dropped 1½ to 2 cents, with yellow at eighty-eight cents at the close, showing a loss of four cents within a few days. Chicago stocks are only 405,000 bushels, a decrease of 54,000 bushels last week, and the visible supply is down to 2,030,600 compared with 6,949,000 bushels last year, a decrease of 75,000 bushels for the week. The present supplies are the smallest in 78 years.

Primary receipts of wheat were 3,144,000 bushels, a week ago 3,208,000, last year 2,650,000. Shipments were 823,000 bushels, last year 980,000.

Corn receipts today were 1,122,000 bushels, week ago 813,000, last year 1,358,000, and shipments 824,000 bushels, last year 424,000.

BEAT OFF 30 RAIDERS ON BIG WHISKY STOCK

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 27.—One of thirty armed and masked men was wounded early today when an unsuccessful attempt was made to loot a warehouse of the distillery of the Philadelphia Pure Rye Whisky Distilling Company at Eddington, Pa., between this city and Philadelphia. Whisky valued at more than $2,000,000 is stored in the warehouse. It is a shipment returned from France just before the advent of prohibition.

Michael Mundy, of Philadelphia, a guard on duty outside of the plant, was the first to be seized by the bandits. He was overpowered by three masked men, who handcuffed him and took him to a field where the rest of the band was gathered. He was left in custody there while the would-be thieves rushed the distillery. They broke down the door leading to the office and found Clarence Ridge and William McLaughlin, watchmen. Mundy was then brought to the place and all three were chained together.

Fall Orders for Underwear.

Knit goods selling agents are reporting a renewed interest in Fall underwear. Reorders are coming in, though not in large volume as yet, and more insistence is shown in early delivery of initial orders. Calls are made also for specific goods for filling-in purposes, indicating that resales have been made. A little larger volume of business is expected between now and Sept. 15 Spring trade is mostly conspicuous by its absence as yet.

Good Sales of Caps.

Good sales throughout the Summer and indications of a big Fall business are reported by a large manufacturer of men's caps. The cap is being worn to a greater extent than ever, except in the large cities, and even there it is gaining slowly in popularity. The preferred colors are uniformly in the lighter shades of gray, fawn, taupe, &c., and practically all are made with the one-piece top. Shapes are generous in size, and in the better grades satin linings in brilliant hues are used.

Hot Water Bottle and Lunch Box.

A solid, white metal hot water bottle has just been put on the market by a novelty house, the first one, it is claimed, ever offered at a popular price. It is guaranteed rust-proof and warranted not to leak. It has a capacity of one quart, and is covered with a flannelette bag. The price is $2.75 a dozen, and it is designed to retail at around $1. The same manufacturer is showing a school lunch box at $12 a dozen, of enameled tin to imitate grain leather, with a pint vacuum bottle and removable tin containers for sandwiches, &c.

Foulards and Other Tie Silks.

English foulards are said to show every indication of continuing their popularity abroad throughout the Winter, at least with the better and higher-priced haberdashers. In other silks the popular patterns are Prince of Wales checks, Rep and Margadore stripes and Persian effects. The Jacquard weaves, in floral and scroll effects, are, says a manufacturer who recently returned from Europe, dead issues so far as the United States and England are concerned, though they are popular in France. Plain-color crêpes will be in demand. A novelty silk recently shown for the first time is a moiré Renaissance Rayé, a soft, lustrous fabric in sombre colors, with a tinsel thread.

Shifts in Shirt Styles.

A manufacturer of high-grade shirts for men reports that business is fully up to normal, although Fall bookings in May and June were in his case so liberal that sales during July and August have been quiet. There is a distinct trend, he says, toward fancy materials, particularly stripes. The soft-collared white shirt, while still popular with the younger element, will be found too informal for Winter wear by the conservatively dressed man. The ultra-negligee styles in general, according to this manufacturer, are giving way to the smarter, dressier modes. A novelty with this concern is a negligee shirt with two pleats, giving the effect of a full-pleated bosom, but having the advantage of being easier to launder.

The Brogue Is Still In.

Despite the prediction that the brogue type of footwear for men would pass out in favor of lighter shoes, analysis of the sales made for the present season by one of the best known fine shoe houses in the country shows that they are just as strongly in favor with both buyers and consumers as they ever were. Leaving out styles designed primarily for evening wear, it was found that at least 80 per cent. of the business had been taken either on brogues or on some variation of the brogue idea. Another feature was the large proportion of tan shoes sold in this style. While it is a little early yet to say just what they will do for Spring, the indications are that brogues will continue to show up strongly in the business placed.

Brushed Coats Going Well.

If the last week in the knitted outerwear field has done anything, it has been to emphasize the demand for women's brushed sweater coats for Fall delivery. Just as the sleeveless golf jacket swept all before it during the Spring and Summer, the brushed coat, also with plain back and fancy front, but with sleeves, is dominating Fall business. Manufacturers are already having difficulty in meeting the demands made on them for these garments, especially for those of a camel's hair color, and in several instances they cannot make deliveries under several weeks. The most-popular coats are those made of worsted yarns, although the higher-priced ones, in which worsted and fibre silk yarns are combined, are also doing well.

Alfred Fanti a Luncheon Guest.

Alfred Fanti and a party of his friends were guests of the Cunard Line at a luncheon given in his honor here yesterday aboard the Mauretania. About twenty-four prominent business men were included in the party, among them being Isadore Saks of Saks & Co., Morris May of the A. B. Kirschbaum Company, J. J. Goldman, E. M. Statler of the Statler chain of hotels, R. Sadowsky, E. C. Sams of the J. C. Penney Company, Inc.; Morton Stein of the National Department Stores and J. Seder of the Frank & Seder stores. J. W. Cook welcomed the guests for the Cunard Line, and spoke briefly on the possibilities of expanding import business between this country and Europe. Mr. Fanti also spoke, as did J. W. Thorne, managing director of the Alfred Fanti Company, Inc., the foreign branch of the Fanti business, and M. H. Blow of the Blow Company.

Gray Goods Have Active Day.

Busines in gray goods was active here yesterday, one of the several features being the selling of 39-inch 68-72 print-cloths at 11 cents for deliveries ranging to the end of the year. August-October shipments of 38½-inch 64-60s were sold at 9½ cents early in the day, but later this construction was withdrawn because of the upturn in cotton. For October-December shipment 9¼ cents was asked before the withdrawal. August-September lots of 38½-inch 80-48s brought 8 cents. In the sheetings, which were less active than printcloths, business was done on the basis of 10½ cents for September deliveries of 37-inch 48-square, four-yard goods. Another of the day's features was the close approach of 37½-inch 4.87-yard sateens to the level at which 39-inch 4.20s were sold, the respective figures being 14¾ and 15 cents. In the heavier cloths 37-inch 3.25-yard drills were sold at 10½ cents.

For Fall Gingham Week.

While it was said yesterday in the local dry goods market that the extent to which the annual Fall gingham week would be observed by retailers this year could not be told at the moment, it was asserted that the indications pointed to a quite general observance of it by stores in various parts of the country. Quite a little of the increased demand for this merchandise during the last two or three weeks was attributed to buying on the part of the trade in anticipation of the event, which begins on Sept. 5 and which is expected to stimulate considerably the consumer demand. With a view to showing what can be done with fine dress ginghams by clever style artists, Amory, Browne & Co. will put on display in its local showrooms today a second exhibition of dress models made from goods sold through them. These models, which are the creations of Paris style authorities, will be on display during the remainder of the week.

FUGITIVE BANKER CAUGHT IN MEXICO

WARREN BANK LAST VICTIM

One of His Employes There Is Now Serving Three Years in Jail.

LAREDO, Texas, Aug. 27.—Joseph Baita, alias Joseph Marcino, wanted in Chicago and Warren, Mass., on charges of absconding with bonds valued at $250,000 from national banks, was arrested at the International Bridge here today. He is held in the county jail in default of $100,000 bond.

Wanted for Warren Bank Looting.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 27.—Joseph B. Marcino, wanted in Warren for the robbery of $213,000 in securities from the First National Bank last February, was arrested early last week in Mexico City, according to information received here from Assistant United States Attorney John V. Sullivan, and held on some local charge there. He was released, and later rearrested on charges preferred by the Foreign Relations Committee. He was then ordered surrendered at the border, where he was taken under armed guard, and turned over to American authorities at Laredo, Texas, by the Mexican officials.

Nearly two weeks ago Springfield police received a telegram, sent in Spanish, from a Mexican private detective agency announcing that Marcino had been located. The agency asked for specific information on the charges against him and what reward was offered for his arrest. The police turned the wire over to the Department of Justice agents here.

Marcino obtained control of the Warren bank last February. It is alleged, with Abraham Goldman of Chicago, his father-in-law, and Frank L. Taylor, who was appointed President of the bank. After the robbery of $213,000 in securities from the Warren bank Taylor was arrested, confessed to a share in it and is now serving a three years' sentence.

Marcino, according to Taylor's confession, took the bonds by manipulating keys and opening the safe deposit box. He left Warren for Buffalo, N. Y., where he disposed of $140,000 worth of bonds, Taylor said. Later it was alleged that Marcino had obtained control of the Niagara Life Insurance Company of Buffalo, which went into receivership, and that he was responsible for the failure of the Merchants and Mechanics Bank of Philadelphia on Feb. 12. Other bank failures in the Middle West and California are attributed to Marcino also.

From Barber to Financier.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Joseph B. Marcino, arrested today at Laredo, Texas, in connection with the disappearance of $213,000 worth of bonds from the First National Bank of Warren, Mass., had a meteoric rise here from barber to banker and financial heights.

Nine years ago he was a barber. Then he got a job with an insurance company and a short time afterward organized the Public Life Insurance Company, which went out of business. Later he organized the Roma Investment Company and Commonwealth Insurance Company, then, with others, secured control of numerous small banks in Iowa and Illinois. He was indicted in connection with the failure of some of these institutions, but jumped his bail.

He married a daughter of Abraham Goldman, wealthy Chicagoan, and then with the aid of capital said to have been furnished by his father-in-law, transferred his operations to the East, where he secured an interest in the banks which failed.

BALLOTS TO COST $71,835.

Printing Contract for Coming Elections Awarded.

The Board of Elections yesterday awarded the contract for printing the ballots for the coming elections to Martin B. Brown & Co., the low bidders, for $71,853, or $5,000 less than the price last year. There will be printed 1,151,831 official ballots and 125,695 sample ballots.

The board appointed 16,536 inspectors and clerks for the primary election, registration and the general election. Two clerks in each of the 2,761 election districts are to receive $6 each for work on election night. Four inspectors in each election district will work six days on registration, receiving $4 a day each for five of these days and $10 each for the last day. The inspectors will also receive $8 each for work at the primary election and $15 each for the general election.

Peter Wynn, of 124 Featherbed Lane, the Bronx, Secretary of the Bronx County Republican Committee, was appointed Chief Clerk of the Board's Bronx office at $3,700 a year to succeed the late John J. Burgoyne. His appointment was made at the request of Charles E. Heydt, a Republican member of the board.

The board received notice from City Clerk Michael J. Cruise of the resignation of Frank J. Coleman Jr., as Municipal Court Justice in the Ninth Manhattan District. John R. Voorhis, President of the board, said that Mayor Hylan would appoint a successor to serve until Jan. 1 and that there would be a place on the ballot for the election at the general election. Nominations will be made by the County Committees of the respective parties.

NEW LINER STANDS TESTS.

According to dispatches received yesterday from London by the Atlantic Transport Line, at 1 Broadway, the new 21,400-ton liner Minnewaska has arrived in London from Belfast after going through her trials successfully in charge of Captain Thomas Gates, senior commander of the fleet.

The new liner is the first of four steamships planned to replace the popular four "Minne" ships of the Atlantic Transport that were torpedoed during the war. Like her predecessors, the Minnewaska will carry first-class passengers only. A sister ship, the Minnetonka, is nearing completion in the Harland & Wolff shipyards, Belfast, and will be ready to enter the New York-London service in the Spring of 1924.

The new Minnewaska will leave the King George docks at Tilbury next Saturday, and is due here Sept. 9. She will sail for London on Sept. 15.

Carpenters' Unions in Jersey Are Restrained by Court Order.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 27.—Two local labor unions of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America at Elisabeth and Plainfield will not be permitted to conduct what is considered by the Court of Chancery to be a boycott of the J. D. Loiseaux Lumber Company of Plainfield.

Vice Chancellor Buchanan, in an opinion filed today, enjoined the defendant organizations from enforcing resolutions advising union men from handling the products of the company.

In attempting to enforce the "closed shop," Vice Chancellor Buchanan declared that the purpose of the defendants was unlawful, since it seeks to establish a monopoly of union labor in the millwork industry of Union County, and that it is against public policy. On their showing, said the Court, the defendants formally agreed that the union members should erect only union-made millwork.

HOTEL MEN TO MEET HERE.

Gehring Returns From Europe After Inviting 75 Directors.

Charles E. Gehring, publisher of The National Hotel Review, returned from Europe yesterday on the French liner Lafayette. He went abroad to invite hotel directors to attend a conference of the American Hotel Association at the Commodore in November.

As a result of his trip, he said, thirty hotel men from France, thirty from Great Britain and fifteen each from Belgium, Italy and Germany would attend the conference. He was accompanied by his father, Conrad Gehring, 72, who visited Zurich, Switzerland, his birthplace.

Passengers said Paris was full of Americans.

Another passenger on the Lafayette was Colonel Roland W. Boyden, until recently unofficial observer with the Reparation Commission. Mrs. Boyden accompanied him. They will visit Maine and New Hampshire.

Colonel Boyden's resignation as unofficial observer became effective Aug. 1. He resigned following criticism in Washington of his suggestions to a member of the commission, to the effect that although Germany had defaulted in her payment to the Allies, the conditions imposed on her were impossible of fulfilment. Although this was declared to be the personal opinion of the American observer, it was misconstrued in Europe as an expression of the viewpoint of the Administration.

"I cannot talk about conditions on the Continent," said Colonel Boyden. "I doubt whether I shall ever publicly express myself on that subject."

REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION. REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION. REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION.

You don't need the gift of prophecy to see the future of Flatbush-Brooklyn

You do not need a real estate expert to tell you what is bound to happen in the future growth and development of the great Flatbush residential section when the wonderful Sheepshead Bay-Harkness Estate is sold at absolute auction—at your own prices.

You don't need a Fortune Teller to demonstrate what will happen to the values when these 1107 lots in this fine accessible section of Brooklyn-New York City pass into the hands of the people who are going to buy them for homesites.

The great iron fence with which the millionaire owners shut off the forward march of the homeseekers has been torn down at last. The final barrier to the growth of Brooklyn down to the sea has been swept away. The demands of the people that this great property be made to serve its natural purpose are at last being realized. The desirability of the may be judged when you look around and see the thousands of homes that surround it. The pressure of population was too great to be longer withstood. Brooklyn has been growing with giant strides for many years and this growth has been always in the direction of this property. It was the natural direction for Brooklyn's expansion which must eventually be solidly built up right down to the sea.

All you need is your own common sense and good judgment to tell you why you will be wise to be among those present and buy a few lots at your own prices at the

THIS new building was located, planned and erected to appeal to those families who desire Brooklyn apartment residences of Park Avenue, Manhattan, standards

The six story structure, surrounding a beautiful, sunny garden, and in turn surrounded by splendid residences and clubs, places Brooklyn apartment homes on a higher and better plane

7 and 8 rooms—3 baths are being sold on a conservative co-operative basis

2 and 5 rooms—1 and 2 baths are being offered for rental to approved tenants

MALE HELP WANTED.
Salesmen.

SALESMEN.

How can you be expected to judge my sincerity or the value of an opening with my company by the wording of an ad? I have seen clever advertising men with the most alluring copy for poor propositions. And so have you.

I don't pretend to be able to write "copy," but I know what I have to offer a real salesman in comparison with any other proposition in New York, bar none, and all I want is the opportunity for a face to face talk with a real salesman. I don't care what he has been selling so long as he has met with success and has been long enough in the game to have had the burrs knocked off. If he can show me personality, sales ability and a willingness for hard work, will defy any other concern to take him away from me. I am prepared to guarantee the everlasting future of the man who will deliver the goods for me in the security and of this business. Put yourself in my shoes. You know the kind of man I am looking for. If you fit, then by all means give me the chance to talk with you. I will introduce you to one of the soundest and most interesting financing situations in your experience. It is clean, dignified and your commissions will assure you a big income right now. It was born with success and is the livest proposition today in New York City or its vicinity.

If you have that quality in you which makes for business success, you won't pass this up, but will invest one hour of your time for a heart to heart talk. W 91 Times.

THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The weather chart of Monday night showed an extensive area of high barometer off the North Atlantic Coast, relatively high and rising pressure in the far Northwest and an area of low pressure over the great Central valleys, the region of the Great Lakes and the far Southwest. The centre of minimum pressure Monday night was over Wisconsin. This pressure distribution has been attended by showers in the Middle Atlantic and South Atlantic States, the Ohio and Upper Mississippi Valley, the region of the Great Lakes and the Plains States as far south as Texas.

Heavy local rain fell in Northeastern Florida, Indiana, Illinois and Central and Southern Texas. Moderately warm weather prevailed during Monday in the Middle Gulf States and the Far Southwest. Cooler weather overspread the West Gulf States, the Southern Plains States and the Central Mississippi Valley and the Far Northwest.

The outlook is for unsettled, showery weather during Tuesday and Wednesday in the Atlantic States, the Ohio Valley and the lower lake region. In Tennessee, Kentucky and the East Gulf States thunderstorms Tuesday will be followed by generally fair weather on Wednesday, with somewhat lower temperature. No important temperature changes are indicated for the Eastern States within the next forty-eight hours.

NAVY NOW SCRAPPING SEVEN BATTLESHIPS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—The destruction by hammer and torch of what many nations in the world might consider a fair-sized navy has begun in two Pacific Coast shipyards, in compliance with orders based on the armament conference in Washington.

Seven "ships of the line," six of them outworn in service and the seventh the greatest of all, still less than half completed on the launching ways, are being fairly overrun today by "stripping crews," removing small ordnance and other works that "may come in handy" later. When the stripping is completed, the hulls will be disposed of to private owners for destruction or will be cut up and junked by the Government.

Foremost comes the great Montana, 27.6 per cent. completed at Mare Island, but she is foremost in size only. In point of historic and tragic interest the Georgia, also at Mare Island, claims the greatest attention. In 1906, while this battleship was engaged in target practice off Provincetown, Mass., an explosion in one of her superimposed turrets killed the entire turret crew of twenty and nearly wrecked the ship.

That disaster led to a change in turret construction in the United States Navy and the introduction of the gas ejector, which sends a swirl of air through the bore of the gun after a discharge, clearing out all gases, so that they cannot back out through the breech opening.

The keel of the Montana was laid Sept. 1, 1920, and the hammers were stilled after $8,807,000 had been spent on her fabrication.

The other ships are the Nebraska, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Vermont, all at Mare Island, where they were decommissioned several months ago. With the exception of the Vermont, which was built in 1906, all of the older vessels were laid down in 1904 and saw service in the World War.

There usefulness as ships of the line passed, however, when sixteen-inch rifles supplanted the twelve-inch guns with which they were supplied. Their gun range is only half that of the modern dreadnoughts. The larger guns will be left on the ships, but their bores will be plugged, so that they cannot be used. The smaller rifles will be removed, and possibly turned over to the army.

None of the decommissioned boats on this coast will be used for target practice by the navy.

An Invitation:—
You are cordially invited to visit the new Cruising Cunarder
FRANCONIA
Friday, August 31st
From 10 to 4 o'clock

The FRANCONIA has been selected by the Travel Department of the American Express for its next Cruise Around the World—sailing from New York November 15th, returning March 27th. Built especially for long distance cruising, safe and speedy, the FRANCONIA is the last word in modern ship construction—in appointments for ease and comfort a luxurious club, a floating palace of recreation. For 133 days she will be the home of the party now booking, for her 30,000 mile Cruise.

Our first reception on the Franconia—July 6th, was such a delightful success, that we are urged to give others, considering a World Cruise, an opportunity to visit this wonderful new Cunarder.

For card of admission—write or call Cunard office, 25 Broadway, or any office of the American Express Company

PRAISES ELLIS ISLAND.

Father Grogan Says Many Complaints From Aliens Are Unfair.

The Rev. Anthony J. Grogan, Director of the Home for Irish Girls at 7 State Street, who has been visiting Ellis Island daily for the last twenty-three years, believes that much of the recent criticism of the big immigration depot is unfair and ill-founded. He said the chief grievance comes from the minority of the immigrants who are detained there for a few days. The thousands who pass through its barriers every week go on their journey from New York and say nothing by way of thanks for the courtesies they have received at the hands of the Immigration Commissioner and his staff, he said.

"It is a pleasure to record that the rank and file of the immigration officials—inspectors, interpreters, matrons and attendants—as well as the hospital staffs and the railroad employes, are in sympathy with the immigrant and often put themselves out a good deal to help him," Father Grogan said. "This may be observed day after day in the various departments. I have been in daily contact with the doctors and nurses and can testify to the kindness and care which the patients receive at their hands. Hospital treatment, whether surgical or other, is free of charge. It is not generally known, perhaps, that the hospital physicians and surgeons often call in specialists from the city in doubtful and obstinate cases."

The quality of the food and the lodging provided for aliens, he declared, was in most cases far superior to the food they had been accustomed to in their own country. In his opinion the prospect of their being deported made them harshly criticise the place which was sheltering them.

BOY DROWNS IN RIVER.

Falls In Leap From Wrecked Tugboat to Pier When Told to Leave.

Edward Conlon, 12, of 310 Fourteenth Street, Brooklyn, was drowned yesterday, at the foot of Seventy-first Street, Brooklyn, when he attempted to leap from a submerged tugboat to the pier. Ropes were thrown to him by men on shore, but he was drowned before they could reach him.

The boy with several companions had been fishing from the wrecked boat. A man told them to go away and all the boys walked along the wreck to the pier. The Conlon boy, however, jumped and fell into the water.

BROOKLYN BARBERS STRIKE

Men Demand $30 a Week and Better Working Conditions.

Officials of the Independent Journeymen Barbers' Union of Brooklyn issued an order yesterday to the members of the organization to go on strike for more wages and better working conditions. Within a few hours, according to Vincent Contessa, Secretary of the Union, more than 750 men left shops in the downtown section of the borough.

The union claims a membership of more than 1,700 and the officials said yesterday that if the employers do not meet the demands of the men the entire membership will be on strike within a few days. The men demand $30 a week, a working day from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M. on weekdays, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. on Saturdays, from 8 A. M. to 1 P. M. on Sundays, and one day off in the middle of the week. In addition they ask 50 per cent. of all over $40 a week taken in from each chair.

SHOT AS HE JOKES WITH HOLD-UP MAN

SIX FLEE IN BANDIT CAR

Youth Arrested Later as the Driver —Victim of Shooting in Critical Condition.

An employe was shot late yesterday afternoon in the hold-up of the garage of Charles D. Strang at 100 South Portland Avenue, Brooklyn. The assailant and five confederates escaped in an automobile. Detectives later arrested a man they believe was the driver of the car.

Shortly before 6 o'clock an old touring car in which were six men drove into the Strang garage. A sallow-faced young man stepped out and asked the manager, Philip Findholdt, 1,488 Bryant Avenue, the Bronx, to put five gallons of gasoline in the tank of the automobile. Findholdt did so. As he turned to receive payment, he found a revolver leveled at him. The young man ordered him to to put up his hands and walk to the back of the garage.

Solomon Price, 60 years old, a negro helper, who entered the garage at this moment, did not realize that a real hold-up was in progress. When ordered by the bandit to put up his hands, he jokingly reached for the threatening revolver. A shot rang out. Price dropped to the floor, shot above the heart. The bandit fled to the waiting automobile, which backed out of the garage without waiting for a search of the cash register, raced south in South Portland Avenue and lost itself in the traffic in Atlantic Avenue. Price was rushed to the Jewish Hospital in a serious condition.

A short time later Detectives David McClunn, William Kenna, Alfred Glynn and Jeremiah English of the Bergen Street Station, searching for the hold-up men, came on a car which answered the description of the one wanted and which bore the same license number. When its two occupants were questioned at the police station, one was freed of suspicion, but the other was held on a charge of felonious assault. He is Joseph Sullivan, 20 years old, 138 Vanderbilt Avenue, Brooklyn.

The police are attempting to learn whether any of the men involved in this case participated in the hold-up last Friday morning of the gasoline station of the Kannesohn Holding Company at 134 Willoughby Street, Brooklyn, when $250 was stolen.

Poor Children Sent to Country.

The Bowling Green Neighborhood Association, organized by business and professional men of the Wall Street District, yesterday reported that it had sent more than 350 children to the country for vacations of two weeks or more, and 1,400 children had been given day outings, while many sick and undernourished children have been placed with private families for three weeks or more. More than 15,000 vacation days have been arranged for mothers and their children in the seven years of the association's existence. For the first time all the children's clubs and classes were continued this year throughout the Summer season.

BOY TURNS BANDIT TO GET FEE FOR JOB

SHOPKEEPER IS WOUNDED

Third Avenue Jeweler Grapples With Young Bandit, Whose Revolver Is Discharged.

Desperate need of work and lack of $5 with which to register at an employment agency led John Murray, 17-year-old orphan without a home, to hold up the jewelry store of Samuel Meyerson at 43 Third Avenue, according to the story he told detectives of the Fifth Street Station last night.

"I needed $5 and I thought about the quickest way to get it was to hold somebody up," the undersized boy explained to the police. This seemed to him the easiest method, he said.

About 8 o'clock last night the boy set out to test the success of the method himself. Walking up Third Avenue, he passed the Meyerson store, saw the father and 22-year-old son behind a counter, and determined that they should be his victims. He walked into the shop, drew his revolver, and ordered the men to hand over their money.

The startled proprietor gave the boy what change he had. The son George handed the young bandit a wallet stuffed with paper and a few greenbacks. Then the men were ordered to the back of the shop. The proprietor suddenly turned as he came to the end of the counter and lunged at the leveled gun. It went off, inflicting a wound in the jeweler's left arm. The boy fled, dropping a .32-calibre revolver at the door.

The wounded man ran shouting after the boy, who was stopped a hundred feet from the store by Patrolman Michael Grimes of the Fifth Street Station. Taken to the station house, the boy is said to have confessed the holdup.

A small book found in Murray's pocket contained articles on "Old Secrets and New Discoveries," "Mesmerism," "How to Charm Those You Meet and Love," "How to Make Persons at a Distance Think of You," "Electrical Psychology" and "Study of Writing on the Arm."

There were also eleven small photographs of young girls in Murray's pockets. On two of them were the names and addresses of girls living in Auburn, Me.

The boy said that he was born in Canada and had been an orphan since he was 5 years old. He was placed in a Canadian institution, from which he was removed at the age of 14 to work on a farm. He was badly treated and ran away. Then followed wanderings across the border into the United States, with jobs in restaurants and woolen mills in Massachusetts. Finally he came to New York ten days ago, worked in a restaurant, spent his money on a trip to Bridgeport, Conn., and finally returned to New York penniless. The resolve to commit robbery followed.

Out of Work, Ends Life With Gas.

In ill health and out of work, Stephen Blanchard, 40 years old, of 129 West Ninetieth Street, committed suicide yesterday afternoon, according to the police, by inhaling gas through a tube in the kitchen of his home. His wife, Lillian, who had been out, found her husband with the tube in his mouth when she returned.
